NOTES FROM THE SCHOOLC.

Venango township has six schools and we hundred and sixty-five pupils enroll-d. The teachers are J. C. Stoops, Wm. J. Welsh, Thos. J. Campbell, Pessic Mur-din, Liquie C-e and E. J. Miller. The estion, she being called away by the eath of an uncle. New out-building ave been provided for all the house es-around two stoles of this forest to find an opening we at last tried what seemed to be a bridle path, but were scon compelled to the up the horse and proceed on foot. The snow was unbroken and by the time we had traversed a quarter of a mile, it seemed long enough for two. No sign of a habitation in any direction, and Mr.

F. thinking we were lost, started off on an ther course agreeing to should when he found the school house. Another quar-er of a mile in the direction first startost man was seen coming over the hill, e having struck a path and was just cog-ating which end of it to follow when the houts of the boys determined him. Talk bout planting groves around the school ouses! If the grove around this one was ivided it would more than supply all the nouses in the county. The adventure re-nured considerable exertion, but was en-oyable. Very respectfully, D. F. McKEE, Co. Sup't.

DOLLY, THE FLOWER GIRL.

'She has got a face like one of her own rosebuds,' said Mr. Filzalan. 'I've heard of her more than once,' returned Frank Calverly. 'The pretty

And the best of all,'added Fitzalan, with a laugh, 'is that she is quite un-conscious of her own attraction-a little

Dolly, 'why don't they put it in the green house ?' 'Eccause, Dolty,' said the young man reddening, 'it reminds us of you. And the meadow lark in the cage sings beau-tifully, and old Brindle has a little spot-ted calf.'

'Has she ?' questioned Dolly, indiferently

John Deadwood looked hard at her. 'Dolly,' said he, 'you don't care about the home any longer l'

art and Miss Bella McMahon; and five hundred and seven pupils enrolled. The northern end of this township is the scene of the latest oil developments in this county as numerous derricks and the vil-lages of Byrom Centre and Huggansville attest. The district formerly accommo-duct with one school now requires two, one having one hundred and five and the other ninety-three pupils. In the school taught by Mr. Trainor, an organ, the property of the teacher, manip-ulated by one of the pupils discoursed some excellent music. The voices of the whole school led by the teacher assisted in this exercise. I also noticed the "Li-brary of Universal Knowledge" piled up on the desk. 'Is what ?' petulantly retorted Dolly. 'I am sure I don't know what we are anding here withing for, and I with fwinity_eight bouquets to make up by two o'clock. That's all, John, I think, Don't forget the filles_of-the-valler.⁷ "But you haven't auswered me Dol-companied me to three of the schools and John McKain to two. The lecation of the school houses in both these townships is fair, with perhaps one exception.— Some of the locations are very fine. No. 3 in Venango township, is situated in the heart of a dense forest and at least half a mile from any public road. Driving around two sides of this forest to find an "You promised me, years ago-" "Nonsense I' said Dolly, flinging the izaleas and pinks about in fragrant con-usion. 'I wat only a child then."

But you have no right to go back of your word, Dolly, child or no child.' 'I never promised, John.' 'But you let me believe that one day you would be my wife. And I've lived on the thought of it, Dolly, ever since. And if this city situation of yours should break up my life's hope--' 'Don't hope anything about me, John !' brusquely internued the girl. 'Here comes a customer. Please, John, n't staud there any longer, looking like a ghost !'

And honest heart-broken John turned and went with heavy steps out to where the wagon stood and old Roan was waiting with down-drooping and half-closed eyes.

'It doesn't seem to me,' he muttered etween his teeth, 'that there is any.

thing left to live for any longer.' Dolly looked half-remorsefully after 'I've almost a mind to call him back,' she said to herself. as she picked out a bunch of white violets for the newcomer.

'I do like John Deadwood; but I think he has no business to consider himself engaged to me just because of that boy-and girl nousense. One's ideas change as one gets on in life.' And Dolly's cheek was like the reflection of the pink az leas as she thought of Mr. Fitzalan and the tur-quoise ring that he had given her as a trothplight.

And Mr. Frixham came in presently. 'I've a note from the Sedgwick's on 5th Avenue,' said he hurriedly. 'They always order their flowers from Ser-voss's, but Servoss has disappointed
