Alexander II-, was born April 29, 1818. He was carefully educated by his father, Nicholas, who professed himself delighted with manifestations of 'true Russian spirit' in his son. At 16 he was declared of age, made commandant of the lancers of the guard, hetman of the Cossacks, first aide-decamp of the Emperor, and subjected daily to a life of manœuvering reviewing, and military parade, which at last seriously injured his health. He then traveled through Germany to recruit his energies, and while there, concluded a marriage with the Princess Maria, daughter of the Grand Duke of Darmstadt, in 1841. He now vigorously applied himself to his duties as Chancellor of the University of Finland. By his dexterous and subtle manners, he insinuated himself into the affections of the Finns, and weakened their love of independence. He founded a chair of the Finnish language and literature, and defrayed the expenses o remote explorations undertaken by their savans, such as Cygnœus, Wallin their savans, such as Cygneds, Wallin and Castren. In 1859 he visited southern Russia, Nicolaieff, Sebastopol, Tiflis, Erivan, etc. It is said that he witnessed with regret the attitude which his father assumed. toward Europe, and that he altogether disapproved of the Crimean war. On ession to the throne, March 2, 1855, he found himself in a very crit-ical position. He had two parties to conciliate at home—the old Muscovite party blindly zealous for war, and the more peaceable and intelligent portion of the nation, who possessed his per of the nation, who possessed his personal sympathies. He pursued a course calculated to encourage both; spoke of adhering to the policy of his 'illustrious ancestors,' and at the same time concluded peace. Since then he has shown a strong desire to purge the internal administration of its impurities; he has sharply rebuked the corruption of functionaries, and severely punished some as a warning to the rest. An honorable recognition has been given to public instruction, which he has placed under his own superintendence. By a ukase of May 25, 1856, he granted to all Polish exiles, who were willing to express repentance for the past, permission to return home; but though desirious of preserving the nationality of Poland, he will not have it separated from the 'great Russian family.' The grand achievement of his reign, however is the emancipation of the serfs—23,000,000 souls—by a ukase of March 3, 1861. This marks an epoch in the national history. In 1865 he established elective representative assemblies in the provinces. He carried on wars against Bokhara in 1867; Khiva, in 1873; and Khokan, in 1875-76. The Czar took the field with the army during the momentous wars between Russia and Turkey, in 1877-

How many farmers and farmerines have good teeth? Prof. Hartshorn, of Germantown, Pa., recently stated in a lecture that the reason why the teeth of Americans decay sooner than do those of the people of other nations, is due to their habit of rapid eating. It is no new doctrine, but one that requires frequent repetition. Hasty eating induces dyspepsia, and nobody with an unsound stomach can long have sound teeth. The stomach is the body's best friend in the long run, and whoever obliges it to do the work of the teeth commits suicide in just that proportion. In the hurry of farm work, bear in mind that 'less haste and more speed' applies directly to the mastication of your food. If you can't eat slowly, and chew your food thoroughly, at least train the youngsters about table to do so, under the penalty of being toothless, middle-aged men and

THE BEST REMEDY

In diseases of the pulmonary organs a safe and reliable remedy is invaluable. Ayre's Cherry Pectoral is such a remedy, and no other soeminently merits the confidence of the public. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, of such power asto insure the greatest possible efficiency and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt relief and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palarable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures, or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to deceive and disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use Ayre's Cherry Pectoral, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is a standard medical preparation, of known and acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it in their acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it in their practice. The test of half a century has proven its absolute certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, &c.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
