THE address of Mr. J. H. Murtland the newly elected County Superintendent of our county schools, will hereafter be at Butler, he having removed to this place.

Mr. SENATOR John M Greer received an emphatic censure at his home here last Saturday, at the Republican primary elections. In the election of return judges, or delegates, from this borough and Butler township to the County Convention, the issue was made on his conduct in the Senate on the Judiciary bill and its unjust treatment of this county and Judge McJunkin, and the result was that the whole three delegates chosen at the Court House here were chosen over his candidates, and that by decided majorities. And this notwithstanding he came home, and it is said took the streets, begging not to be censured.

THE Judiciary bill is still hanging in the Legislature. Up to this writing, Tuesday noon, it is in the hands of Conference committees of the two & Recorder, indicate that the voters at Houses, who have not agreed upon all the primary duly considered his claims its provisions. It is believed and hoped and physical condition. Mr. Christie that it may yet fail entirely. If passed, is a cripple, and is a worthy young man. it is predicted by some that it will be He was raised in Worth township, but vetoed. It creates nine new judicial has been residing in this borough for districts and fifteen more judges, at an some years past with his aged, much annual cost to the State of about seventy thousand dollars, The feeling vote he received in the upper end of against it in some other parts of the the county, where he was best known, State is as strong as here and it will attests his strength as a strong candibe better if no such bill passes. The date. Legislature adjourns on Thursday, of For Treasurer-James Harvey Miller, this week, and, from appearances, in the successful candidate for this ofmuch confusion and disorder as to its fice, is a worthy man and his nomina-

the virtue of the Hessian soldier-fights for the side that employs him. He holds an office in the Senate at Harrishim, and hence he feels obligated to write to his Journal, praising Mr. Greer and abusing Mr. Braham, because Mr. Braham spoke and voted against the unjust Judiciary bill. His abuse of Mr. Braham is copied into the Eagle here last week, per arrangement probably. But if it benefits them to pay their debts in this way we are sure Mr. Braham will not be displeased or make objection. If it does them good, it does no other body any harm. The milk in the little cocoanut is too easily accounted for. Only it looks bad.

PRIMARY ELECTION. Result of the Vote on Saturday.

THE NOMINEES.

In another place will be seen a tabl of the votes cast at the late primary election as well as a summary of the same, and by which it will be seen the following ticket has been nominated: For Associate Judge, Alfred D. Wier, of Buffalo township, is the successful candidate. Mr. Wier is well known to the people of this county and is an intelligent and public spirited citizen. He is well qualified for the position, and, if the office is not abolished by the bill yet pending in the Legislature, and he should be elected, he will serve the people faithfully and well. For Sheriff, Mr. Fergus M. Shira, of Parker township, carries off the palm. He comes of one of the oldest and best stock of people in the county, being a son of Mr. Peter Shira of Washington township, where he was born and raised. He is the first of the name who have ever asked for and received a nomination for a county office The whole Shira families of the county have been long known as good citizens and active, ardent Republicans. It is worthy nomination and a strong one.

For Prothonotary, Matthew N. Greer, Esq., of Buffalo township, reeives the nomination. Mr. Greer is well known to the citizens of the county, having been Register & Recorder of the county for a term, and otherwise prominently before the public, He is a clever and agreeable gentleman, a working Republican and, so far as we know, has obtained his nomination tairly and honorably.

CLERK OF COURT-This nomination has fallen to a very worthy young man, Mr. W. B. Dodds, of Muddycreek township. No better or stronger nomnation could have been made for Clerk of our Courts. "Brouse," as Mr. Dodds is generally called, was a good soldier in the late rebellion, serving through the same with credit. He is popular, well qualified, energetic in business, and will make an efficient, agreeable and obliging officer.

REGISTER & RECORDER .- The vote for and nominatian of Mr. Henderson W. Christie, the nominee for Register respected and widowed mother The tion is a strong one. He was born and THE Freeport Journal man has all raised in this place and is well and favorable known to our people. The vote he received throughout the county, having about a thousand of a plurality over any other candidate, all show that claims and merits. The office of County Treasurer is one of individual responsibility and Mr. Miller has the experience and ability to be a safe custodian of the funds of the county. COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.—The nominations for County Commissioners have fallen upon two well known citizens of the county. Charles Cochran, Esq., of Concord township, is the son of an old citizen of this place. For many years past he has resided in Concord township, as a farmer, which occupation he has followed with success all his life, except while serving his fellow citizens in the capacity of a Justice of the Peace. When Greece city was flourishing in its prosperity and its suddenly made, large population, Mr. Cochran was chosen as a justice of the peace for that place, and was useful to the people in the transaction of their business. He has the ability to make lee's that place, and was useful to people in the transaction of their siness. He has the ability to make intelligent and good County Comsisioner.

2apt. Geo. W. Hays, of Middlesax vnship, the other successful caudities of the County Committee of the State of the County Committee of this State, invited Mr. Conking's. To show you how egotistical he is, just the translation of the Republican Executive Committee of this State, invited Mr. Conking to come to Ohio,' said Conkling, puffing the considers of the Republican Executive Committee of this State, invited Mr. Conking to come to Ohio,' said Conkling, puffing the considerable of the people. And subrezos, there are principles of the liquor interest in the control of going there.' Insulted you? How, not indozed this wretched hypocrite in the White house? That was intended as a direct drive at me, sir.'

General Robinson rotosted that was not the case, but Mr. Conking was not the case, but Mr. Conking to the power of securing legislation against the White house? That was intended as a direct drive at me, sir.'

General Robinson protested that was not the case, but Mr. Conking would not listen and refused to come.'

The conversation was then interputed by some one calling attention to many men of procure on which those evils flow the ment of the late war he asset was not the case, but Mr. Conking the constant of the purpose of counteracting the flow of the power of the purpose of counteracting the flow of the power of the purpose of counteracting the following motion was made without any at the William of the purpose of securities of the liquor desired as a direct drive at me, sir.'

General Robinson protested that the William of the people of the late was not the case, but Mr. Conking the c an intelligent and good County Comcounty just the kind of a County Comnissioner they should have. They are both intelligent men and we have no doubt will make careful and aithful County Auditors.

CORONER.-The selection of Wm. Kennedy, Esq., of Penn township, for County Coroner, is as good a one as could be made for that office. He is a very worthy man, in all respects, fice with care and strict fidelity.

THE Vice Presidency was given Mr. Conkling to placate him, and the Inde-pendents of New York, to whom Mr. Arthur was deeply distasteful, were so anxious for party harmony that they overcame that dislike, and gave the tickday et a hearty support. Recent events show Conking made was in forming the that the man elected is so pliant and Potter Investigating Committee. There ready a tool that he is merely an extension of Mr. Conkling Still the latter was not satisfied. Then five excellent appointments were given as re-wards to his most devoted friends in much as saying 'Thank you;' but the nstant there was an attempt to recognize others who did more to secure the State than he did, who labored cheerfully for the party from the first, while e was yet sulking in retirement, he flies off in a petulant rage, and hence

THE FREEZE OF 1859.

It was 22 years last Saturday, June 5th, since the memorable freeze occured in this part of the country, by which all kinds of vegetation and fruit were almost destroyed. The wheat and rye fields, then just about as far on as now, were ruined to such an extent that the alarm as to flour became very great, that article of food going up suddenly to sixteen dollars a barrel, but dropping soon again to about eight dollars. Corn and potatoes were frozen and wilted to the ground and had to be replanted. The apple, peach, pear, cherry, the field fruits and all garden vegetables, fared the same fate. The destruction was so general that all the necessaries of life ran up to double their former value. To make the matter still more gloomy that frost or one, on June 11th, though not so severe as the first. The area of country swept by the destruction extended from the lakes on the north west to south-east. through portions of the States of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania. of some such frost this year, but the escaped such a calamity. A fire passing over could not well have done more damage. It was indeed in appearance more like the effects of a fire, the sun of ard clear, and thus completing the effects of the frost.

Hayes on Conkling.

CINCINNATI, June I .- A correspon dent of the Commercial had a talk with ex-President Hayes at Bellefontaine, Ohio, on Decoration Day, whilst they were riding in a barouche togeth-

Conversation soon turned from the scenes around us to the affairs of the State and Nation, and Conkling's recent feat of haru-kari was, of course, tle Mr. Martin, who was present, as somewhat surprising, and Mr. Hayes noticing this, said: 'This is by no means an uncommon phase of insanity. The malady often takes that form. Insane persons very frequently imagine that they are some distinguished character, or superior being. There are over fifty persons in the insane asylums who imagine themselves Presidents of the United States. Some believe themselves to be Napoleon, others the King, the Czar. He gave oughs. the Democrats to understand that he preferred Mr. Tilden's election to my own, and had a speech fully prepared to overthrow the action of the mission relative to the returns from Alabama. Senator Morton discovered his trick just in time to prevent his treachery. The third attempt that Conking made was in forming the and loth to have anything to do with it. I do not know that Mr. Conkling the State. He took these without so falsified in this instance People were coming to him with stories of all kinds being assured that they would find him ready to support them in overturning the result of the election, and he grew to believe them. I think he was convinced, probably, in his own mind that Mr. Garfield, Mr. Matthews and other statesmen had made an open bargain and sale for the votes of certain States, and he declared openly that Hayes would be compelled from very shame to quit the White House within thirty days after the investigation began. He did all he dared do in each case to overthrow his party, and the party will be all the stronger without him. had no possible excuse for his action, though I think Mr. Platt probably had. I can see how Platt may have felt that he could not consent to Mr. Robertson's nomination.'

The carriage was now rolling past a country home, and an immense turkey cock, with scarlet wattles and considerable gobble, strutted out into the roadway as if to obstruct the carriage. The horses shied a little, and by the merest accident the gobbler escaped being run over. Somebody laughed. The incident, of course, recalled Mr. Blaine's remarks about Mr. Conkling's turkey gobbler strut, and Mr. Hayes said: 'I was in Congress at the time that occurrence took place. I was a freeze was soon followed by another young member, and Mr. Conkling came to my seat before Mr. Blaine had finished to inquire how the thing appeared to me. Mr. Conkling had said something which Mr. Blaine took to imply that Mr. Conkling meant a personal encounter. Mr. Conkling wanted to know if I thought such a construction maryland and Virginia, being bounded on the east by the Allegheny Mountains and extending south as far as from Maine, said be, has undertaken Wheeling. Some people were in dread to school me in etiquette. When the time comes for me to seek instruction of some such frost this year, but the in that art, I assure the gentleman general feeling now is that we have from Maine that he will be the last person to whom I shall apply.'

ENDORSING GARFIELD. Speaking of the probable action of the Republican State Convention in inthat morning having come out bright dorsing President Garfield's course, Mr. Hayes said he thought that the people of Ohio were unanimous in that, and this fight will strengthen Garfield everywhere. It is the best thing in the world for him. The natural tendency of the people has always been with the President and against politicians when they believe the President means right. Then a man in public life cannot win friends unless he is engaged in some struggle which compels the people to take sides. The people all admire pluck, and they will admire it in President Garfield, If the President dent were to go through New York State to-morrow the ovation he receivthink, than when he left the White ed six months ago would be nothing to House. His face is tanned with exposure in the sun, and his hands show Mr. Garfield because they saw in him marks of freckles, which have come a man who was fighting Conkling and since he disearded affairs of State for his methods. They are with the President to-day, ten times stronger than
