[Attleboro Chronicle.]

Carry the News. Mr. John Etzenperger, manufactur-ing Jeweler of North Attleboro', Mass., lately communicated to us the following:
I suffered so much with pains in my arm, that at times I was completely helpless. I used that incomparable remedy St. Jacobs Oil and was completely cured as if by magic.

A Beggar in the streets of Pargue claims that he was born in 1767, and is therefore, the oldest man in the Bodies of people drowned in Lake Taboe never rise to the surface, the water being so cold as to prevent the formation of gases.

At the change of every season slugishness of the blood should be prevented by taking Peruna. While the British crops are being spoiled by rain, many of those in this country are ruined by drought. The opposite shores of the Atlantic can exchange commiserations: it is a pity that they cannot exchange weather.

Marvin, the polygamist, is proving to be more profusely married than even his dearest foe dare hope. Mrs. Marvin number fifteen has just turned up. How many more wives this eer man has scattered through the country, only time can tell.

When a six-dollar-a-week clerk traddles his nose with a pair of eye-lasses, spends a week's salary for a diamond pin and goes into the country to astonish the natives, he is doubtles surprised to find that he is not so much of a curiosity as a hand-organ monkey in a calico overcoat.

'Any letter for me?' asked a young lady of a postmistress in a country town. 'No,' was the reply. 'Strange,' sain the young lady aloud to herself, as she turned away. Nothing strange about it,' cried the postmistress through the delivery window. 'You ain't answered the last letter he writ ve'.

RAILWAY ON STUMPS .- In the upper part of Sonoma county, Cal., a railroad track crosses a deep ravine upon the upright trunks of tall trees, which have been sawed off upon a horizontal line. In the center of the ravine a firm support is furnished by two huge redwood trees which have been lor ped off seventy-five feet above the ground.

Acting on a theory that human beings were made to stand upright, and therefore ought never to lie down, a Californian sleeps in an apparatus which sustains him comfortably in a perpendicular positiou. A Nebraska physician is equally certain that the vital organs are injuriously affected by being jolted downward in walking and to counteract this he gravely stands on his head five minutes every

Some unexpected dangers of picnic are illustrated by the experience of young Patrick Stanton, who went to a picnic there met Miss Lambert, with whom he danced, after which pleasure he got drunk and went home. A few days later he was informed that during his intoxication he had married Miss Lambert; and now she produces the the clergyman's cetificate and flaunts it in his face. Patrick's history should be a warning even to occasional as well a habitual picnickers.

Every decent American will blush to read the following from the Quincy (Ill.) Herald: 'We believe Guiteau to be just as honorable as the man he shot, and a mighty sight less dangerous to the country at large than the plausible, smooth-tongued, unprincipled man who, with a sniffle and a pious groan, will turn from a prayer to take a bribe, commit a perjury or steal a presidency. Where is Cook, the man who slapped the face of a scoundrel who wished the President would die?

That alleged negro "crank" who was arrested before the White House the other day with a tin pail on his arm, in which he avowed his intertion of placing the heads of all of Garfield's enemics, is only less selfish, not more insane than the average political boss of the day—Mr. Conkling, for example; though he carries no tin pail on his arm, he is more persistent and more systematic in his hunt for the heads of his enemies than was this unfortunate lored man .- Cleveland Herald.

Thirty miles of seals were traversed by a vessel lately arrived at Victoria, in British Columbia. It is the year in which the big inhabitants of the main—whales, walruses, seals, sharks—are showing themselves with unwonted familiarity and in great abundance within catching distance of inhabited regions. As Dame Nature is famous for her compensations, presently we may hear of some Western locomotive driving its wheels with difficulty through thirty miles of moths, getting ready to destroy the furs that shall be made out of the thirty miles

It is becoming very fashionable, with certain newspapers, to speak of the Secretary of State as the "Premier" of the Administration. The term, we need hardly say, can be found neither in the Constitution nor in the Revised States of the United States. Statutes of the United States, and it has a meaning quite foreign to the spirit of our institutions. The various Secretaries who form the President's so-called "Cabinet" are mere heads of Executive Departments, and the State Department has no precedence over any of the others, except in the fact that it has come to be considered the highest post in point of honor in the President's gift.

Lemon Juice in Diphtheria.—Dr.

I. R. Page of Baltimore, calls the attention of physicians, in the Medical Record, to the topical use of fresh lemon juice as most efficient means for the removal of membrane from the throat, tonsils, etc., in diphtheria. He states that in his hands it has proved the best agent that he has as yet tried for the purpose. He applies the juice of the lemon to the affected parts every two or three hours by means of a two or three hours by means of a camel's hair probang. In eighteen cases in which he has used the remedy the effect has been all that he could have wished. He finds that several of his professional brethren are prepared to give the same favorable account
