Best and cheapest line of millinery goods at Mrs. S. E. Sloan's.

Since 1850 the Old Fellows of Pennsylvania have paid out $30,000,000 for the relief of members.

The latest Ensemble Scarf at Charles R. Grieb's.

Ladies will do well by examining millinery goods at Mrs. S. E. Sloan's.

Dr. Talmage thinks that smoking tends to drunkenness. Drunkenness in this world tends to smoking in the next.

It matters not the crop of sufferers from colds coughs or sneezes. Dr. Selzer's Cough Syrup is good for all. Price 25 cents.

By his new advertisement in another place, it will be seen, that Mr. D. L. Cleeland has received his holiday stock of jewelry, silverware, etc.

Ladies, please compare Pittsburgh prices with New York prices, at Mrs. S. E. Sloan's.

Cotton, Scotch, Gingham, Alpaca and Silk Umbrellas, at Charles R. Grieb's.

A wild-eyed stranger suddenly appeared on Change in Peoria, the other day, and tossing his coat on the floor, spat on his hands, and fiercely exclaimed: 'Gents, I'm after the duck that was out to Central Park with my wife last Sunday.' And twenty-three married men and eight or nine of the boys in our daily columns, the tables and shouters: 'Don't shoot!'

Dr. Risley, of Philadelphia, speaking of the condition of the eyes of school children, says: 'Hypermetropic eyes are more numerous than both myopic and emmetropic; that next to myopic astigmatism, distinct lesions are more prevalent in eyes with hypermetropic astigmatism.' From this it appears that 'the eyes have it'—but what is there is a conundrum to us, and we regret that they have it.

The Rural New Yorker offers $3,000 worth of presents for the best yields from the seeds of their next Free Seed Distribution among their subscribers. In this way, as with its Experiment Farm, the Rural is doing good work, and is entitled to the support of all progressive farmers and gardeners. A list of their new distribution will be found in our advertising columns. We will receive subscriptions for this paper, including the seed distribution, at this office.

The United Pipe Line Company finished their line from the Bald Ridge territory to Herman station last Thursday. At Herman the line connects with the line from that place to Carbon Centre, where there are some large tanks and a siding for filling oil cars. The distance from Bald Ridge to Herman is about eight miles. The gentlemen comprising the Bald Ridge Oil Co. have done the town and county a great service in developing this territory.

A New Castle paper, of last week, slanders a citizen of this county as follows: 'A shoemaker from Butler county was in this city on Wednesday, who certainly ought to be well qualified to sit as a juror on the Gulteau trial. He did not know who Gulteau was. He did not know that President Garfield was dead. Had never heard of his having been shot. Indeed we are not sure that he had ever heard that Garfield had been elected President.'

Messrs. White and Holden, the latest aspirants for feather-weight list honors, are now probably in considerable doubt whether prize fighting pays. With the prospect of from one to ten years in an Ohio penitentiary starting them in the fact they have little hope of getting away from punishment by punching the lion in the bread basket, or by the most dexterous fibbing. Nevertheless, it does not yet appear that the fate of the feather weights has induced Messrs. Ryan and Sullivan to desist from trying their luck at the same kind of sport.

The business men of Meadville held a meeting lately to decide upon a plan of action in reference to the circulation of clipped and mutilated coin. The banks of the city declining to receive the coin at its face value, it was resolved as the sense of the meeting to 'decline further to receive clipped coin in quarters, halves and dollars at its face value, and we would recommend as the standard of values for such coin that which is approximately its value in bullion, and we would further recommend that the premium list be deposited with the banks to be sold as bullion and retired from circulation.'

A citizen of Washington, Pa., who a few years ago was obliged to go into bankruptcy and settle with his creditors to so much on the dollar, has given notice that he is prepared to pay off the unpaid balance of his debts, dollar for dollar. He is legally exempt from these additional payments, having surrendered his means for payment when he failed, but inasmuch as he has since that time he has refused to regard himself as morally exempt from the discharge of his debts, and so gives notice that he will now pay in full. This is a citizen to be proud of, and we do not wonder the Washington papers speak in terms of high praise of this man. As has been said, the man whose creed teaches him to pay 100 cents on the dollar has got true religion.—'Wheeling Intelligencer.'

Does advertising pay? W. H. Marshall, president of the Beaver county agricultural society for the year 1881, was firmly persuaded in his own mind that advertising did not pay. He succeeded in getting his fellow officers and the managers of the society to believe the same thing. To carry out their views they concluded that to advertise their five bargains entered the house, blew open the safe and carried off between $30,000 and $40,000 in gold. They also stole Baldwin's two horses and carriage and fled. Baldwin's son-in-law pursued them and a running fire resulted. Nobody was wounded, and the robbers escaped with the plunder. The circumstances attending this robbery call to mind the celebrated Benninghoff robbery, near Petroleum Center, some sixteen years ago. The amount taken was larger, some $300,000, but the means employed were the same. Five professionals from Philadelphia went to the house in the night, overcame the family, affixed the robbery and rode away with the old man's horses. The whole job was engineered by Jim Saeger and some
