TRYING THE ASSASSIN.

WASHINGTON, November 18.—Long before the hour of opening the Court several hundred ladies and gentlemen assembled in the eastern corridors and patiently awaited admission to the court room.

WANTS FIRST-CLASS TALENT. During Scoville's remarks the prisoner's face had been suffused with anger, and at their conclusion, without rising from his chair, he said, excitedly: "Mr. Scoville talks one thing to me in private and another in public. Last night he spent an hour in jail with me and showed a different spirit from now."

THE ASSASSIN STARTLED. During the examination of these witnesses Guitau was apparently absorbed in his papers. When the allusion was made to his looking like a man about to visit the grave of his dead friends, he glanced quickly at the witness and allowed a faint smile to linger about his lips.

THE WITNESS QUESTIONED. The witness was questioned at some length by Scoville, particularly as to how Guitau wore his hat on that occasion. Guitau put his hat on, remarking: "They're all mistaken on the hat business; this is the way I wear my hat."

THE "BULL-DOG" PRODUCED. Witness then detailed the incidents attending the searching of the prisoner at the station and the finding of the pistol on his person. District Attorney Corkhill handed the pistol to witness, who identified it as the one taken from the prisoner.

THE WITNESS INSISTED. The witness insisted that that was his impression from the prisoner's general appearance. Mr. Scoville, quite sharply—I don't want any opinions from you. Have you ever expressed an opinion on this case?
