A Chicago Broker's Happy Investment.

Lewis H. O'Conor, Esq., whose office is located at 93 Washington street, this city, lately related the following in the hearing of one of our reporters as an evidence of special good fortune. I have been suffering said Mr. O'Conor, for a number of weeks with a very severe pain in my back, believed to be from the effects of a cold contracted while on the lakes. I had been prescribed for by several of our physicians and used various remedies. Three days ago, I abandoned them all, and bought a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, applied it at night before retiring and to-day feel like a new man. I experienced almost instant relief and now feel no pain whatever.

The will of Gerhart Bechtel, who died some time ago in Berks County, Pennsylvania, contains this provision: And I further disinherit and prohibit from participation in the distribution of my estate such of my male descendants as persist in wearing mustaches.'

Episcopal Methodist.
Warranted not to contain a single particle of mercury or any injurious or mineral substance, but to consist entirely of medical roots and herbs, which is the reason Simmons Liver Regulator is so effectual yet so harmless.

This medicine is acknowledged to have no equal as a liver medicine, containing those Southern roots and herbs which an alwise Providence has placed in countries where liver diseases prevail. BALTIMORE EPISCOPAL METHODIST.

An extract from a recent Negro sermon: Beware, my hearers, when you fall asleep, like that young woman in the third gallery while Paul was preaching and was smashed all to smithereens. And they took her up twelve basket fulls! And, brethren, whose wife shall she be in the resurrection?

For Catarrh and Phthisis, I took Peruna. You need no other. Mrs. M. Russell, Pittsburgh, Pa.

A man entered the dining-room of a hotel in Deming, New Mexico, rapped a guest over the head with the butt of his revolver to secure attention, and announced that he was looking for somebody on the shoot. He found a person who answered to that description, and the ruffian was carried out with a bullet in his head.

Peruna is the greatest and best remedy I ever used. Am well. Jim Fitzgerald, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The French soldiers in Tunis were presented with little plates of metal on which their names were engraved, to be fastened to strings worn around their necks. The soldiers were told that: these tags would enable the survivors to identify the bodies of those who should fall in battle. It is not difficult to think of an occasion more cheerful than these presentations must have been.

To enumerate the miraculous cures wrought by Dr. Sellers' Cough Syrup would fill a volume. Its cures are marvelous. Price 25 cents

Americans are a unique people. The men of Washington who three months ago were heart broken because Garfield had been shot are now splitting their sides with laughter at the daily jokes of his assassin. Guiteau is really so awfully funny, you know, that after all it isn't so strange that he should kill somebody, and a good natured community ought not to lay it up against him.

When the fast trains now operated between New York and Chicago arrive at the end of their run each engineer steps around to the front of his locomotive and brushes the dead birds from the plate over the cow-catcher. Birds miscalculate the speed of these trains, and attempt to fly across the track immediately in front of the engine, and are struck by the smokestack or the headlight and fall dead upon the plate at the boiler-head.

A colored galant who eloped from Richmond, Virginia, with the daughter of William Brown, will be surprised, perhaps, when he reads the description of his bride by one who should know. In an advertisement offering five dollars for her arrest her father describes the young woman as being of a dark gingerbread-color, with a bushy head of hair and full eyebrows. Love may be blind but the injured parent has no doubtless to the accuracy of his vision.

In making up his forms, the foreman of a Montreal paper mixed an article on Roman Catholic Missions in Africa with a recipe for making tomato catsup. As published, the article reads: The Roman Catholics claim to be making material advances in Africa. During the past three years they have obtained a firm footing in the interior of the continent, and have sent forth several missionaries into the equatorial regions. They are accustomed to begin their work by buying heathen children and educating them. The easiest and best way to prepare them is to first wipe them with a clean towel, then place them in dripping-pans, and bake them till they are tender. Then you will have no difficulty in rubbing them through a sieve, and will save time by not being obliged to cut them in slices and cook for several hours.

Rev. Dr. John Hall, of New York, has done a wise and suggestive thing, a thing that younger ministers of more denominations than one might study with profit. Having been elected Chancellor of the University of the City of New York, he felt it to be his duty to consult the leading men of his church, and they were unanimous in the opinion that he could not undertake the additional labor without damage to the great church of which he is the pastor. Dr. Hall was considerate enough to decline the new appointment, in view of the demands made upon the pastor by the congregation under his charge.

The principle involved in this decision is one of preeminent importance. It is that when a man becomes the pastor of a church, he is not at liberty to take upon himself such additional care as shall impair his ability to serve his church with all the effectiveness he can command. Many young ministers have acted on other principles than this, and the interests of their churches as well as their own reputation have been made to suffer by it.
