HON. S. H. MILLER has our thanks for a copy of the Congressional Directory of the 47th Congress, compiled by Ben. Perley Poore, Esq., and corrected up to December 21st last.

MR. W. S. FULKMAN, formerly publisher of the Centreville Casket, this county, has purchased an interest in the Beaver Falls, Pa., Tribune. His a town or village. But at present the many old friends in this county are pleased to learn of his success in the news paper business. We place the Tribune upon our exchange list and wish it all possible prosperity.

On operations have revived at Greece City. One new well is down about 800 feet and two more are contemplated. Large tracts of territory are leased. There has existed an in the office. Just now there are at THE BASIS OF THE ASSASSIN'S opinion, ever since active operations least two such cases in this county, in ceased at Greece, that there was oil there never found. Or, in other words, should be made in that office. But taken with evidence that has been that the territory there had not been fully tested. The present idea is to make a more full test around Greece, department, are so conflicting that Guiteau in the face of almost cerand we hope successfully.

THE County Auditors are busy auditing the financial doings of the county for the past year. Detailed or itemized reports of the rece'p saud expenditures are what the fax pavers desire. Last year's 'report was full and generally satisfactory. The itemizing the amount each particular juryman received, might, however, been aggregated, as there is not much danger of jurymen being overpaid. Otherwise the itemized report of last year was generally well spoken of, and we have no doubt the report this year will be equally satisfactory to the public.

COMING TO A CLOSE. The country is glad to know that the trial of the late President Garfield's assassin is nearing its end. The testimony closed last week and the addresses of counsel, to the Court on the law points and the jury on the facts, are being made this week. Look out for the speech of Porter, one of the Government attorneys, as it is expected he will show the assassin up in his real colors. The charge of Judge Cox to the jury may be given the latter part of this week, but more probably not until next week, when we may also expect the verdict of the jury. We believe it will be guilty, and that without much delay.

TARIFF REVISION.

We are not versed in the details of the present tariff law and therefore unable to give any opinion as to its need of a revision. Any change however that will better promote American industry and interest will be, or ought to be, favored by all. We have always been in favor of what is known in favor of what was called a "high protective tariff," by which was understood so high as to exclude all foreign importation of certain articles. For doubtless a tariff can be put on too high, and, like the Chinese wall, have the effect of excluding all importation.

soon before Congress, as we understand it, is, that the taxes now collected by the Internal Revenue department of the Government, on spirits, tobacco, etc, should be taken off, or lowered, in order to make way for an increase of duties on foreign importation. We are unable to see the necessity for that. While we have yet an immense National debt it is difficult to understand why taxes, that all think are now on articles that should be taxed and placed there, not only for revenue, but for the bost interest of society, should be taken off. No revision of the tariff, made in order to better protect other industries from foreign competition, would seem to require, or have any just connection with the home taxes now placed on spirits and tobacco. There can certainly be no danger of having too much revenue while we have a National debt to pay. We therefore have thought unfavorably of what is said to be Judge Kelley's project, who, as chairman of the Ways and Means committee in Congress, proposes to repeal or lower, the Internal Revenue taxes in order to raise those on customs duties. It seems to us the former should still exist even if there are Cæsar's. Garibaldi was the first charged knew the difference between be a necessity for the latter being of the earth's great beroes who forced right and wrong in respect of such act, raised. These are our views, and we think the views of the people generally from the limited examination we have been able to make on the avert such a complication the Govern-

POLITICAL SERFDOM. The Price of Place in the State

AN ABLE CONTINENTAL DEFINES THE INDEPENDENT MOVEMENT AND GIVES REASONS FOR

Special Telegram to Dispatch of 5th inst.] PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4 — Senator John Stewart, who belongs to the Continental Independents, has been talking to a newspaper correspondant possible for a man to enter public life here with pure motives, or if he entered with a pure motive to act accord-ous Republicans, and its opening state ing to them. royal road to political influence or position. Senator Stewart then spoke of the slow growth of the Independent ele-ment in the party. With all the offipers in the Stalwants' power the opposing voice of the people could not make itself heard in high places. But here and there throughout the State a man had been elected to office who really represented the people, and, holding the balance of power, the Independents had been able to make their first decided stand in the Senatorial

A CAMERON TRICK. The significance of the rumor from Washington, that there had been a conference of the Cameron chiefs, and it had been resolved to support General James A. Beaver for Governor, was then discussed. "That is a Cameron trick," said Senator Stewart. "They really do not want Beaver for Governor. He is not the kind of a man for a Cameron tool. They think that we will repudiate him because they have endorsed him. Then they can go to the convention and say that we would not accept an irreproachable condidate, and have not acted in accordance with our principles. This would clear the way for the nomination of a Stalwart of the Stalwarts, and at the same time clear them of the charge of not making an effort for peace within the party." A Sheriff's Mistake.

The Address shaken in their party allegiance, and the fact that forty thousand Republindependent candidate, proves that there is a deep feeling of discontent. The abuses which produce this widespread dissatisfaction are calmly ble to every intelligent man thro out the Commonwealth The conventions which have reflected an arbitrary personal rule instead of the popular will; the prostitution of the party or ganization to the behests of individuals; the nomination of personal favorites rather than the popular choice; in short, boss rule, with its notorious train of evils - all this has aroused popular resentment, and weakened and mperiled the party. The Independent Republicans seek to remove this com plaint and danger by the simply reme dy of making the party action reflect the public will. They stand upon the broad principle of Popular Rule and Free Representation. They have no other end to serve than to promote Republican success by securing a free and fair expression of the people in political action, and thus commanding their approval and support.

The Address urges that the delegates to the next Convention shall come unmistakably from the people, and it insists that the Convention shall be held at a sufficiently late day to permit free action on their part. has been said that the Convention would be called at an early date in order to forestall this popular expression. Such a proceeding would justly exgite general indignation, and the address gives a fair warning against it which we trust will be heeded. The Committee during its session this week did not confine itself to the preparation of this Address, but laid out the work of organization. The people are right, and they only need to be organized to make themselves omnipotent .- Phila. Press Dec. 24.

EDITORS CITIZEN :- Having a spare moment I take my pencil to scribble a road, to effect the consolidation of the ed threshing his last year's crop. Mr. Red Bank & Youngstown and Pitts. S. W. Bartley is taking out railroad Red Bank & Youngstown and Pitts- S. W. Bartley is taking out railroad which it would probably be as difficult burgh & Western roads. A charter ties. Wm. Caldwell is doing some to find in the criminal code of other nawas obtained for the Red Bank & clearing and intends taking out ties al-Youngstown railroad some weeks ago, so. The teacher is home to see her any other statute amending the same when it was understood that it was parents. That is right, sight, and it is that it is right, sight, and it is right, and it is right, and intended to strengthen the Pittsburgh matches are in demand. This is driv-pecially revolting form of cruelty & Western, as the corporators were all ing business successfully. But more which consists in allowing a fellow. & Western, as the corporators were all ing business successfully. But more which consists in allowing a fellow stockholders of the company, which than this we have the best ventilated creature to perish without extending has figured so prominently in the local school house, I will venture to say, in to him a helping hand. A mere actrailroad circles during the past year, the township. There is a ventilator omission in certain cases is indictable The new road is to run from Red or two in every window. This house "Who ever has refused," says the Dan-Bank, on the low grade division of the is know by the Kelley school house. is haw. "to help another person in A. V. R. That Postoffice. 'Meadville has three candidates for the postmastership, and it is generally believed that the hest way to settle the rather bitter fight among them county or the court whence the writ issued, cannot be considered a good payment. Judgment reversed, and choirs was thoroughly discussed in judgment in fayor of the Common the Presbytery, and carried by a clear ber of Republican voters of that place. That would be a good way to settle the matter.'-Mercer Press.
