The Hon. George S. Boutwell, who retired a few years ago from the cares topic in place of the former stapleof statesmanship to the recreation of his farm, makes the following report of much more beneficial! some experiments made by him in feed-ing cattle, in a letter to the Secretary of the Farmer's Club: The method which I have pursued in harvesting corn and in preparing the fodder for use is known generally to the members of the Club, but a brief tatement may make the result more intelligible to all. The corn is cut at the ground as soon as the seed is partially hardened, set in stocks and alnd as soon as the seed is partially hardened, set in stocks and al-lowed to stand until both the ears and stalks are ripe and fully seasoned. The corn is then husked in the field, and the corn and fodder put under cover without delay. The fodder is cut for feeding in pieces of about one inch in length, then put into large boxes where it is mixed with cob-meal and saturated with water at the boiling point. The boxes are then covered so as to be nearly air-tight, and allow to stand, say 12 hours before feeding.

The experiment was made last De-purpose of provoking inquiry and encouraging the application of other tests. If it should appear in the end, as I think it will appear, that well-cured corn folder properly treated for a pire. corn fodder, properly treated for animal food, is equal, pound for pound, with good hay, there will no longer exist even a pretext for neglecting the cultivation of corn in New England.

The daily cost of supporting 46 cows upon hav was:

The above testimony from such a most trustworthy source, corroborates that so frequently given in regard to the high value of cornfodder in compartions. Every one will find a general tonic

There is going the rounds of news- want. papers a statement that 70 pounds of grain is sufficient to keep a hen in prime condition for a year. This is a case fowls are kept confined to small runs, and are obliged to depend upon what food is supplied to them by their mediate relief and sure cure on short half to keep a hen. Even then, if her will be worth at least two dollars, either to sell or eat, and her carcass is worth for food, or ought to be, as much an awful bore. as it costs to keep her until she began to lay. The profit of poultry-keeping depends greatly—almost entirely—on the management. If this is enlightened and business-like the profit will be as good as with any live stock that can kept about a place. But there is so much mismanagement or bad manage-ment connected with the average poultry keeping that the aggregate profits are less than they ought to be.

TO MEASURE WHEAT IN A BUSHEL. A quantity of wheat in a bin may be easily measured in bushels as follows: Level the surface of the wheat, measure the depth in inches, and the length and breadth of the bin also in cubic inches in a struck bushel. For long and 43 inches wide has a surface of 6,450 square inches, and for every inch in depth there will be precisely 3 bushels; if the wheat is 30 inches deep in such a bin there will be 90 bushels in it. As 12½ feet by 3 feet 7 inches or 150 by 43 inches) is a convenient size for a granary bin, it would be easy te mark the inches on the end or side and for each inch to mark three times the number of bushels. A mere glance at the mark will then give the quantity of wheat in the bin.

HOW LADY CLERKS ARE SELECTED.

In all large cities lady clerks are selected with great care, according to the business they follow. In the dressmaking and cloak department they are selected for their fine figures, as anything looks well on a good form. Ladies in buying a cloak imagine if it looks well on a saleslady it certainly ought to on them, I know of one place in New York City where a young lady receives $40 a week because she has a beautiful face and a good figure. She is the daughter of a German who keeps a beer saloon on Avenue A. Everything looks well on her and she attracts many customers. In the hair stores the same routine is observed; girls are selected with comely features and a good form. When a blonde customer wishes to purchase a wig or tomer wishes to purchase a wig or less, with the appurtenances; that they are anything else she may desire, a blonde ledge waits on the control of the said John Lemmon, deceased to the control of the said John Lemmon, deceased to the control of the said John Lemmon, deceased to the control of the said John Lemmon, deceased to the control of the said John Lemmon, deceased to the control of the said John Lemmon, deceased the control of the said John Lemmon the control of the said the control of the said the control of the said the control o

CURE FOR SMALL POX .- 'I am willing to risk my reputation as a public man,' wrote Edward Hines, of the Liverpool Mercnry, 'if the worst case of small-pox cannot be cured in three days simply by the use of cream of tarter dissolved in one pint of hot water, drank at intervals when cold. It is a certain, never-failing remedy. It has cured thousands, never leaves a mark, never causes blindness and avoids tedious lingering.'

One of the novelties of the new census is an exhibit of the forests of the United States and of the supply of various kinds of useful timber now existing in the different States and Territories This exhibit is contained in a series of colored maps, of which five are already published, showing the amount of standing pine timber in Texas, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Minnesota.
