—Mr. John Bammer, of this town, lost a fine cow last Saturday—one that he had been offered $60 for a few days ago. Some men who were shooting in the woods on the Lyon place, in the north-western part of the borough, accidently or purposely put a bullet through one of the cow's knees, and she had to be killed. The loss to Mr. Bammer is a very severe one.

—Waring's Fertilizers and Peruvian Guano—for sale by J. NIGGLE & BRO

—The pots have been put in the Glass Works and the blowers will be at work this week. There are eight of these pots, each one is about the size of and somewhat similar in shape to a bake oven, and they lie at the bottom of the stack around the furnace. A few bottles were blown last Sunday afternoon from some material that had been melted in one of the pots for the purpose of glazing the others.

—Bargains in Muslins, Sheeting, Ticking, Blankets, Flannels and Yarns at L. STEIN & SON'S.

—The great strike of the Amalgamated Association of iron workers of Pittsburgh and other cities and towns was ended in Pittsburg last Wednesday by the representatives of the Association agreeing that work should begin at the old rates. This srike has lasted for nearly four months, and has been a very disastrous one for the laboring men. For months about 40,000 men, according to the best estimate, have been idle in Pittsburgh. Many of these persons have no connections with labor organizations, and were idle not from choice but of necessity. In the Pittsburgh district about 8,000 skilled workmen belong to the Amalgamated Association of iron and steel workers. Before the formation of this Union there were different orders of workmen, some regularly associated and others without definite organization, that in an independent way discussed and aimed to fix the prices of labor. There were Puddlers or Boilers organized as the Sons of Vulcan, Rollers and Heaters, Steel Melters, Shinglers and Hammer-men, &c. Some years ago, when the Puddlers were on a strike for nine months in that city, the mills did not stop. Manufacturers could procure puddled iron, or muck iron, as it is called, from other quarters; and other workmen, Rollers, &c., having no connection with the Puddlers' Union, took no part in the strike In the organization of the Amalgamated Association all these workers were united, and the Committee of the Association arranges with the Committee of the Manufacturers yearly "wages scales," to govern the price of skilled labor in all departments. The wages scales adopted May 30, 1881, were to be in force from June 1, 1881, until June 1, 1882. The prices for skilled labor were based on the Western Iron Association's card-rates for bar-iron sold for 2.5 cents per pound, puddling or boiling was to be $5.50 per ton; at 2.6 cents, $5.60 per ton, &c.; at 3 cents, $6 per ton. This year the Amalgamated Association demanded that a new scale should be adopted, and that at the card-rate of 2,5 cents, boiling should be $6 per ton. This demand the Manufacturers resisted, and hence the whole force, both of boilers and finishers, refused to work after June 1st. This rendered necessary the closing of the mills, and the discharge of all other employes. The demand of the Association for an advance, in the face of a falling market, was regarded as ill-advised by a large minority of the Union and by President Jarrett himself, and at the general meeting of the Association recently the rules were revised, so that hereafter a strike cannot be inaugurated unless the resolution receives a two-thirds vote of the members.

—A lot of second-handed Watches cheap for cash at E. Grieb's

—A man named Goldfinch was arrested in Crawford county a few days ago and taken to Franklin, charged with stealing a horse belonging to Joseph Martin of Irwin tp., Venango county, from the Clintonville camp meeting ground. He is said to be a member of a gang of horse thieves who have been operating in Butler, Mercer, Venango and other counties for some years.

—Bargains in White Quilts at L. STEIN & SON'S.

—Two more comets have been "picked up" by the astronomical detectives within a few days, and are now visible to those who know where and how to look for them—when the conditions are favorable. One is around in the early morning before the first streak of dawn. The other occupies the sky during the day. Singular as it may seem, it is the comet that affects the daylight and keeps but a little in advance of the sun on its march to the west that may be seen by the naked eye. The other can be seen only with a telescope.

—New styles in Collars, Ties and Fishus, at L STEIN & SON'S

—A strong gas vein was struck at the depth of 1,000 feet at the Philips Bros.' well on the McJunkin farm, last Friday. This gas comes from the top of the second sand and although the flow of gas is very strong it is thought that it can be made stronger by drilling into the sand a little farther. The well is only about one and a half miles from the centre of this town and is already producing enough gas to furnish the town with light, or a large rolling mill with fuel. It will cost something, perhaps two or three thousand dollars, to bring it to town, but it would undoubtedly be a paying investment. So cheap a fuel as natural gas with our increased railroad facilities, should surely make Butler a desirable point for manufactories of all kinds.

—The Perfection Bustle can only be had at L. STEIN & SON'S.

—Mr. Chas. Harper who lives near Centreville, this county, was arrested a few days ago and taken to New Castle on a charge of horse stealing preferred by John Cummings of Springfield twp., Mercer Co. Harper had a hearing and was discharged. Cummings went to Mercer to secure the arrest of another alleged horse thief, but while there it was discovered that he was demented and he was enticed into the jail and locked up. The Mercer Republican gives the following account of the matter: "A rather curious case was developed last week in Springfield township. A young man, a resident of that township, named John Cummings became imbued with the idea that he was on the track of two horse thieves. On Friday he went to New Castle to pursue this business. One of the Wallaces of that town had lost a horse some two years ago. The would-be detective impressed him with the idea that the thief was a man named Harper, living at Centreville. A warrant was procured and placed in Sheriff Richardson's hands, and he and the detective proceeded to Centreville and arrested the supposed thief and lodged him in the Lawrence county jail. Cummings then left for home, and on Monday came to Mercer to secure another man who had stolen a horse in Ohio, and for the arrest of whom he was to receive five hundred dollars. Constable Hughes' services were secured and were to be forthcoming when the guilty party was discovered. It was at once discovered that Mr. Cummings was laboring under a delusion. He was told that his man was then in jail. Upon proceeding to the jail and being divested of a razor found in his possession he was told to identify his man. A number of the prisoners were successively identified as the Ohio thief. The friends of the deluded man desired his confinement until he would become more reasonable. This ruse to get him in jail was planned to avoid any resistance. He was kept in confinement until Tuesday when his friends took charge of him. Mr. Harper who was lodged in the New Castle jail is a respectable and law abiding citizen. A hearing was set for Wednesday in his case when he was doubtless discharged." The New Castle News in giving an account of the case states that while Harper was in jail there, "David Richel, of near Harlansburg, with a couple of friends, one nearly related to Harper, called upon Alderman Bowman and related that they were positive Harper was demented; that his mother and sister were nearly crazed with anxiety and grief, they fearing that Charley had met with some accident or had committed suicide. They also stated that he had quite recently taken his own horse and buggy, driven away and left them with a farmer, without saying a word about his intentions or the disposition of the property," and also that Cummings states that there is a band of counterfeiters in the vicinity of Centreville that he intends to ferret out.

—Fresh oysters received twice a week at the City Bakery, Vogely House block.

All other cases on the list for last week were continued by consent or for want of time to try.

COURT NOTES.

The Commissioners appointed by the Court in the matter of the petition of the citizens of Washington township, for a separate election district, having made a favorable report and attached thereto a plot or draft of the boundaries of the proposed new election district, and the same having been confirmed absolutely by the Court, the Court on the 11th inst., decreed that the new district be created and established according to the boundaries marked, that all elections therein be held at the house of John K. Holland, that Wm. M. Shira be Judge, and Ebenezer Christy and John K. Holland be Inspectors of elections until an election Board be elected according to law. The new precinct includes the northern part of the township, the line commencing at the farm of C. Hilliard, on the western boundary and running irregularly to the farm of H. Wiles on the eastern boundary.

Owen Shirky has petitioned Court regarding the insanity of Francis McBride, and Drs. Bell and McBride and Theo. Craig were appointed examiners.

J. M. Brown has petitioned for the benefit of the insolvent laws.

Geo. Fulkman had a hearing by the Court on a writ of habeas corpus, and was remanded to prison.

Mrs. Sarah Snow has petitioned Court for the appointment of a trustee.

Mercer Township Items.

The steam thresher has been at work in our township this fall, and gives general satisfaction where used. This machine was brought in by Cochran, Bell & Co., and is the first one of the kind, I believe, ever used in the township. They run the roads, up hill and down without any horses, being guided by a lever. They can thresh from 80 to 100 bushels per hour and do it well.

The twine binders were also used last harvest, I believe, for the first time in the township.

Corn is being cut and is generally very good. M.

"Only a Little Pair of Shoes"—New Song.

One of the sweetest songs ever issued, has just been published by W. A. Pond & Co., New York. It is embellished with a fine lithographic title page, representing a mother bowing in bitterest grief over the little worn shoes of her departed darling. The music is simple and charming and within the reach of every learner, while the words depict the inconsolable sorrow of the bereft mother, tempered with the glad promise of a reunion forever in a better and brighter land. A FREE TRIP!!!

Something Interesting to Visitors to the Expostion this Week.

The assertion has been made, and we feel warranted in bearing witness, that visitors to the exposition can offset the expenses of the trip in a large degree in the profit resulting from an order for supplies given to the reliable house of F. L. Shallenberger & Co., 28 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh. Those who are skeptical on the point have only to give a trial order to be convinced that you can live in Butler and surrounding districts and save money, by a regular system of dealing with this firm for your Teas, Coffees, Spices, Sugars, Canned Goods, and all that go to make up the supplies of the kitchen and pantry.

A pamphlet, called "The Old Tea House Price List and Cook Book," will be given or mailed to you.

We have dealt with Messrs. Shallenberger & Co., and recommend their claims to your consideration.

Washington Twp. Items.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I thought I would give you a few items from North Washington.

It is still a booming the same as ever.

T. P. Mifflin left for New York city last Saturday.

Dr. B. W. Henlen is preparing to start for the west.

"Jumbo" has again appeared, but this time in the form of a baby elephant.

Young men are detestable, especially when a conceited young man will try to aspire to be the original Jumbo.

McKorkill & Wasson's saw mill, on the Wasson farm, near North Washington, was damaged by fire on Thursday, Sept. 14th; the loss has not been estimated.

The people of North Washington are noted for their intelligence, but a young man thinks he can pull the wool over their eyes by signing himself Jumbo; "dont be too sure."

William Daubenspeck and his bride passed through town on the 19th inst. We wish William happiness.

The Forthcoming History of Butler County.

The publishers of this volume in which so much interest is centered evince a laudable zeal and energy in the manner in which they are compiling the work. They have an efficient and experienced corps of writers who may be found in almost any portion of the county interviewing the old residents, examining old documents and newspaper files, and from the very thorough manner in which the work is being done, only one result is to be looked for a complete and exhaustive history as near perfect as can be made at this time. Perhaps the most valuable and interesting portion of the history will be that devoted the portraits and biographies of those most largly identified with the county's growth and development, and from the interest that is being taken in this part of the work by our best citizens we expect it to be as complete as the historical portion. No more fitting acknowledgment could be made to those who may be appropriately called the "Founders of the County" for the hardships and privations they passed through in the early days, than in giving their life history supplemented by a portrait. We sincerely hope that these men will have full justice done them. Already a large number have been assigned places in the work, among the number we may mention the names of Judge John Bredin, Judge Marshall, Gen. Purviance, Wm. Campbell, Peter Duffy, Capt. William Walker, Samuel G. Purvis, Jonathan Walker, Patrick Graham. In the northern portion of the county there are many equally deserving, and we hope to see their biographies and portraits associated with those already mentioned The fact must be borne in mind that the history of Butler county will not be re-written in the life time of anyone now living, and that whatever is neglected will become a source of regret in after years. Another feature we wish to allude to, and that is the embellishments. It is highly important that the work should be well illustrated, in no way can a finer exhibit be made, of our enterprise and wealth, than the representation of our homes and farms. The artist, Mr. F. M. Gilbert, is busily engaged in making sketches of many of the representative places of the county, and from the work which has been shown us we can assert positively that the pictorial portion will be par-excellence—We shall take occasion to allude to this part of the work again, and we advise those who may be invited to be represented in this department to give the matter favorable consideration

BUTLER FAIR.

THE FINEST ENTRY OF HORSES EVER ON THE GROUND.

A reporter of the CITIZEN noted the following, among many others, of horses on the grounds, as he went along the various stalls:

A splendid colt, one year old, of Hambletonian breed, entered by Lewis Bolton, of Franklin township.

Martin Heil, of Prospect, also had a Hambletonian colt.

C. S. McCandless, of Center, had also two colts of the same breed aged 1 and 2 years.

Dr. Leighner, of Prospect, had also a mare and colt of the same breed.

D. P. Nicholas, of Adams township, a match team

Isaac Donaldson, of Sunberry, a Percheron stallion, aged four years and weighing 1655 pounds.

R. Hesselgesser, of Winfield township, a large one-half Clydesdale stallion, imported, weighs 1700.

J. W. Young, of Penn township, had a trotting horse, very fine in appearance, named Wolferding.

H. and S. J. Rankin, of the same township, a Clydesdale stallion aged three years and weighing 1820 pounds.

Samuel Hesselgesser, of Winfield township, a half-breed Clydesdale stallion, weight 1400 pounds.

C. A. Crookshank, of the same township, a three-quarter bred Clydesdale stallion, named Bob, aged six years, weight 1800 pounds.

Wash. Turner, of Concord township, a two year old half-breed Clydesdale stallion weighing 1580 pounds.

S. W. Gage, Millerstown, two black colts bred from a Canadian mare, Hambletonian and Golddust stock.

Jacob Emmel, Cranberry township, a brood mare, aged five years, weight 850 pounds and yearling colt bred from Seneca Duke.

James Maizeland, of Clinton township, a 2 year old Clydesdale bay stallion, weighing 1600 pounds.

Martin & Co., of Plain Grove, Lawrence Co., a 4 year old Clydesdale, chestnut color, with long white mane and tail, named Bonnie Scotland.

Isaac Lefever, of Jefferson township, a dappled black French Canadian stallion, weight 1710 pounds, fine looking horse.

Wm. Cox, Adams township, Canadian George, a very dark bay stallion weighing 1240 pounds.

Josiah Albert, Franklin township, a fine 4 year old of Hambletonian descent, dun color, named Independence.

John Cooper & Son, of Harlansburg, mare and colt of Clydesdale origin, the mare weighing 1605 pounds, the colt six months old, weighing 800 pounds.

John Turner, of the same place, had two imported mares, one two years old and the other four, a bay and black, the former weighing 1450, the latter 1550. Also two stallions, one a dark brown, Sovereign, seven years old, weight 2000 pounds, and Lord Advocate, aged four years, a bay, weight 1800 pounds. Both these are imported Clydesdales.

Julian A. Clark, of Franklin township, a bright bay stallion, imported, weight 1800 pounds. This horse measures 32 inches around the breast, 17½ inches around knee cap, 11½ inches around the canon bone.

James S. Hays, Connoquenessing, a golden bay horse aged five years, called J. Golden, 16½ hands high, weight 1250 pounds, of Hiatogs stock, also four colts, two sucklings, and the others a yearling and a two year old. These colts were the symmetry of perfection. He had also on the grounds, but not entered for a premium, Gen. Grant, a mahogany bay stallion, a bred Hambletonian, aged nine years.

Charles Stewart, of Bradv, a brood mare, weighing 1200, and a red roan spring colt.

Alonzo McCandless, Franklin township, a two year old mare colt bred from Gen. Grant, and a span of fine white-faced bay mares.

G. W. Reed, of Kittanning, a black stallion, Messenger breed, and a fine sorrel yearling.

D. D. Bowser, Armstrong county, two two-year old stallions and a three year old mare of Hambletonian stock.

S. W. Crawford, of Jefferson township, two yearling colts, running stock, sired by Chatham Planet, and thorough bred, also a young Clydesdale mare colt.

F. Buhl, of Forward township, had on the grounds a splended match driving team and two fine two year old colts.

Abner Patton, of Oakland township, had a pair of very fine mules on the grounds.

The above are only in part the stock of horses on the grounds, but all that could be gathered up in a cursory visit. The difficulty to get all was that a great many of the stalls were locked, and others the owners or keepers were away in the crowd, and no one could give information.

CATTLE.

The display of cattle was not so large as at some former Fairs, but still there was some of all kinds, among others we noticed a herd owned by S. W. Crawford, of Jefferson township, and by Alonzo McCandless, Franklin township. Our space will not permit us to give the various breeds and exhibitors, as when we called at the stalls the owners were all looking at the races.

SHEEP.

This department was pretty well filled with a good many different varieties, Merinoes, Spanish, American breds. Among others, John S. Campbell and R. D. Stevenson had some fine Oxford ewes, rams and lambs. There were all breeds and grades, Leicester, Cotswald, Southdown and all other kinds.

HOGS.

The display of hogs was good. Yorkshire, Berkshire, Poland China, and a dozen other kinds. We noticed a large Yorkshire sow with a dozen as pretty little "roasters" as could be set on a dinner table. Phil Crouse, Butler, had a splended Berkshire sow with a liter of pigs.

VEGETABLES.

The vegetable display was not as large as this season would warrant, yet there were fine exhibitions of all kinds, such as beets, cabbage, parsnips, pumpkins, squashes, potatoes, grains, seeds, &c.

FARMING MACHINERY &C.

The display was good, yet not unusually large.

CASTINGS &C.

Biehl Bros., of this place, had latest and best improvements in farming machinery. J. G. & Wm. Campbell had quite a number of farming utensils, as well as stoves and other castings; one, a cooking stove, cast under the supervision of Phil Crouse, deserves a special mention for its beauty and polish.

FLORAL HALL.

Under the supervision of Major Anderson, was the general attraction for the ladies. The display of flowers, plants, garden and house, needle work, pictures, crayons, millinery goods, cabinet ware and harness was very fine. There were also breads and cakes of various kinds, pies, jellies, canned fruits, honey, and a great many things too tedious to mention. The Hall was beautifully festooned. In this department we noticed a fig tree with five figs on it, and two cotton plants, one with nine balls and the other with five on. All these were raised in Butler by Mrs. Anderson.

EATING HOUSES.

There were a number of refreshment stands, but the general one was under the supervision of John M. Smith and Mrs. Emma Sykes. There could be obtained all that was wanted to allay the thirst or the cravings of the inner man; meals, lunches, soft drinks, melons or anything in the eating line.

GENERAL.

The grand cavalcade of stock on Wednesday afternoon and Thursday, was the most interesting incident of the Fair. The baking of pancakes for miscellaneous dirtribution, by Miss Smith out of Al Reiber's pancake flour, was another. Also the display of Marvin & Co.s' bread and crackers. The races attracted general attention. There are many things, of course, our space will not permit mention. A column of incidents and fun could be collected, but time and the crowd prevented.

We clip the following from the Pittsburgh Comercial Gazette of a recent date.

Merit Rewarded.

The Fairbanks Scale Co. are now completing a Government order for 6,000 scales for the use of the Post-office Department, which is one of the largest orders ever given by the Government for scales. It is a victory for the Fairbanks Company that few manufactures in that line of goods can boast of, and one that the Fairbanks Co. might be proud of. The precision with which their scales weigh has been a matter of comment for years, and that they should receive such a contract from the Government preference to other competitors has no significance other than that they have the best scale.

Fairbanks have an exhibit in the Exposition that is well worth an examination. A handsome scale is adjusted in the entrance, where thousands of people are weighed every day.

When visiting the Exposition get weighed on the Fairbanks scale. The branch house in this city is at 48 Wood street.

PRINCIPLES AND PURSES.

Mr. Jay Hubbell's Second Demand on the Clerks and Scrubbing-Women.

From Harper's Weekly.]

Mr. J. Hubbell's committee has resumed the farce of "voluntary coutributions." Having requested the clerks in the public service to pay two per cent. of their salaries and to say that it was a free gift, and many of the clerks having declined to give to Mr. Hubbell the irresponsible disposition of the money which their families required, that gentleman now informs them that he has "noted with surprise" their failure to respond to the demand, and that he hopes that they will voluntarily send two per cent. immediately. Meanwhile his agents, armed with complete lists of the clerks in the various Departments, and with the authority of the heads of bureaus, summon every clerk whose name is marked upon their lists as delinquent to pay up; and obedience or refusal is marked accordingly. While this inquisition is making and their reluctant money is extorted through terror by the official pickpockets some victim in the office should be delegated to read aloud to the other clerks, like a monk in the refactory to his fellows, the words of Secretary Folger to Mr. A. Thomas: "I would have him think and feel and do as if in the religious meeting-house of his choice the preacher should lay before him the needs of some cause."

Mr. Hubbell's circular says that his committee "cannot hope to succeed in the pending struggle if those most directly benefited by success are unwilling or neglect" to send him money. He means that it is office-holders who are directly benefited by the success of the party. But if this is true of a messenger-boy at $600 a year and a clerk at $1,200, it is equally true of foreign Ministers at $12,000 or $17,500. Does Mr. Hubbell assess them two per cent.? Has he assessed Mr. Lowell, Mr. Morton or Mr. Astor? Has he demanded a specfic sum of money of Mr. Robertson or of Mr. Pearson? Fortunately the searching discussions of the summer have fully exposed the contemptible trick of "voluntary" contributions, and the extortions with which Mr. Jay A. Hubbell's name will be always indentified are now perfectly well known to the country. What does Mr. Hubbell mean by saying that party success cannot be expected unless the office-holders will furnish the money? There was a time when the Republican party succeeded, without any office-holder to assess, in carrying the election against a party which had all the offices and assessed all the office-holders. The doctrine then was that the people as well as the office-holders were interested in Republican success.

If that is changed—if, as Mr. Hubbell suggests, it is the office-holders who are mainly interested in that success—why should the country help to keep them in place? On the contrary, why should not the country feel it a duty to put out of office those who raise an enormous fund to keep themselves in? An enormous election fund justly alarms every honest voter, because it is not necessary and means a dishonest election. Mr. Hubbell's circular substantially announces that the Republican party depends for success not upon its principles but its purse. If this was true it would be the most conclusive possible argument against the party, and shows that every intelligent and patriotic voter should oppose it. But it is not true. Mr. Hubbell does not mean what he virtually says. He means only that if the messenger-boy or the clerk does not promptly pay up he will probably lose his place. The Philadelphia Press truly says: "A genuine service will be done the hopeful Republican leaders on the Congressional Committee if their collectors are kicked out of the Departments and the scandal ceases in the land."
