

BUTLER CITIZEN

JOHN H. & W. C. NEGLY, PROP'RS. Entered at the Postoffice at Butler as second-class matter.

Republican State Ticket.

- FOR GOVERNOR, JAMES A. BEAVER, of Centre county. FOR JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT, WILLIAM H. RAWLE, of Philadelphia.

Ind. Republican State Ticket.

- FOR GOVERNOR, JOHN STEWART, of Franklin county. FOR JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT, GEORGE JUNKIN, of Philadelphia.

COUNTY TICKET.

- FOR CONGRESS, J. D. McJUNKIN, Butler. (Subject to District Conference.) FOR ASSEMBLY, WILLIAM P. BRAHAM, Mercer township.

LET there be a rousing greeting to Mitchell and Wolfe in the Court House this evening.

THE Independent Republican meeting on this, Wednesday, evening, promises to be largely attended.

SETH HOAGLAND, Esq., of Mercer county, is the Greenback-Labor candidate for Congress in this district.

REV. EPHRAIM OGDEN, of Middlesex township, this county, is the Prohibition candidate for Congress in this district.

In Ohio the Republicans deserved to win and were beaten. What hope is there, then, for Cameron and Arthur, who deserve to be beaten?

"ROBINSON, Rumberger and Company," is the name of the new firm who has assumed to instruct the Republicans of Butler county how to vote.

JAMES H. CALDWELL, Esq., of Titusville, Crawford county, is the Democratic candidate for Congress in this district, having received the nomination from the conferees of that party on the 18th inst.

A. L. CRAIG, Esq., late County Treasurer, has been appointed by Collector Jackson book keeper in the office of Internal Revenue for the district of which this county is a part, and will assume the duties of the same on the first of December coming.

THE regular train from Petrolia and other points that arrives in Butler this, Wednesday evening, will be held here until the Independent Republican meeting is over, in order to return all coming to hear Senator Mitchell and Hon. Charles S. Wolfe.

THE Pittsburgh Commercial Gazette would have saved itself some credit, and done but a simple act of justice, by correcting its error as to the legal residence of Col. John M. Sullivan, after the same had been brought to its attention.

AMOUNT all the persons who are speaking for the bosses in this State are the office holders—earning their money as they are commended to do. The people are quiet and looking on, and in our opinion there will be a great deal of quiet voting done on next Tuesday week.

THE Stalwarts are after Senator Lee, in the Venango district, but they can't defeat him. They are also interfering to prevent the nomination of Frank Agnew, a son of Judge Agnew, in the Beaver State Senate district, which interference it is hoped will not succeed.

WE wish to remark softly to the excited and jubilant Democracy that they are laboring under a misapprehension. It is not the Republican party that is going to pieces, but the machine. The party itself is merely getting the track clear for 1884.—N. Y. Tribune.

VERY Amusing. One of the most amusing features of the campaign now in progress is the attempt made by the dependents of Cameron to convince the people that they are "not Cameron men."

EDITORS CITIZEN:—Brother Ratican of the Millersburg Herald says that one of the County Commissioners said that the Republican party was as corrupt as hell. Ratican is mistaken, for the Commissioner said that there were men in the Republican party that were as corrupt as hell, and he believes just what he said, and he also believes that there are men in the Democratic party in the same condition and that one of them lives over in Millerstown. SENEX.

SEVERAL matters that appear this week were intended for last week's issue, but owing to other urgent matters they had to go over to this week.

A FRIEND who has looked over the Eagle of this place, says there are at least fifteen misstatements in its last issue relative to the late County Committee meeting.

THE great mass of the Republicans of this county are much gratified to see the favor with which the name of Col. John M. Sullivan is received as a candidate for the State Senate in the Allegheny city district. Mr. Sullivan has been opposed to the bossism of Don Cameron and all his ways and methods for years past, and in no sense has ever sunk his manhood by yielding to his dictation.

THE Eagle of last week is full of misrepresentations relating to the action of the County Committee. But it convicts itself and admits the whole ground when admitting that "on assembling it is possible that there were only thirty-four members of the Committee present."

THE re-assembling of a portion of them afterwards, and making Dr. Rumberger a chairman, was simply irregular, if not a farce, and he has no rights as such that the Republicans of this county need respect.

CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE.

How that Ticket, and all the Other Tickets, Should be Voted at the Coming Election.

A question had arisen as to the manner people should vote the Congressman-at-Large ticket. That is, whether the candidates for that office should be printed and voted on the ticket headed "State," or on the ticket printed and headed "County."

THE whole ticket therefore will read as follows: JUDICIARY. JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT, (Here the name of the candidate.) STATE. FOR GOVERNOR, (Here name.)

FOR CONGRESS, (Here name.) FOR ASSEMBLY, (Here two names.) SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS, (Here name.)

COUNTY. CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE, (Here name.) ASSEMBLY, (Here two names.) JURY COMMISSIONER, (Here name.)

By Senator Stewart and Judge Jessup at Montrose.

Correspondence of Philadelphia Press. One of the largest political meetings ever held in Susquehanna county took place at Montrose this evening.

He was followed by Senator Stewart. In the course of Senator Stewart's speech he made the following request: "I would like your representatives to the State Convention, if they are in this audience, to explain if they can how they reconcile their acceptance of their Harrisburg platform, which condemns the existing abuses, with their support of the nominees of that convention who repudiate that platform."

Whereupon Judge Jessup arose and said that having been a delegate to that convention, he would, at the proper time, make the explanation. Mr. Stewart at once offered to yield the floor to Judge Jessup, and invited him to the stand with the understanding that he was to repeat in full the proposition to be discussed.

Judge Jessup arose amid the cheers of the audience and advanced to the platform, and in a speech of fifteen minutes length to the audience how he had protested against Mr. Wolfe's nomination at Harrisburg and succeeded in getting Senator Cameron to accept Mr. Davies as a representative Independent. Judge Jessup denounced the evils of bossism and argued that reform could be inaugurated within the party lines.

Senator Stewart then arose amid cheers from the audience and in a scattering speech of three quarters of an hour arraigned the bosses in one of the most remarkable forensic displays that ever took place in Northern Pennsylvania.

The audience hung in breathless surprise upon every word that fell from the brilliant Senator's lips, cheering to the echo his caustic and terrible blows as they fell thick and fast. He asserted that Judge Jessup had not met the issue, and that it would be necessary for his explanation to be explained by a subsequent speech. He said that the platform was in itself a pledge and promise to the people that the moral and political force of the party should be directed to the overthrow of these abuses, and the fact remained that the campaign derived its vigor and strength from the exercise of the abuses and the political practices which the platform condemned.

Judge Jessup and his audience, as well as the candidates on the ticket, knew that the assessments which were condemned in the platform were remorselessly collected from every office holder in the land, and were being expended to secure the election of the candidates who had been nominated by that convention, and were receiving the support of Judge Jessup and other gentlemen who framed that platform, and who pledged the faith of the party to its honest observance; that while Judge Jessup might acquit himself by publicly assuring the people that he personally disapproved of the manner in which this campaign was being conducted, his candidate for governor, concerned only about his own political success was willing to take advantage of this false pretense, and so long as the money was expended in the way it would do the most good for him as a candidate, he uttered no protest or approval.

BEAVER AND CAMERON. Mr. Stewart charged that there was an alliance between General Beaver and Mr. Cameron. He asserted that at Chicago Mr. Cameron directed General Beaver to decline the nomination for the Vice Presidency upon the assurance that he should be made the candidate for Governor in the campaign of 1882. He said that this alliance had been cemented and strengthened in the Harrisburg struggle between the Senator and Mr. Cameron's candidate, Mr. Stewart went into details of the struggle at Harrisburg, and produced the original papers which he had submitted to General Beaver in connection therewith, and said that General Beaver might have been made the United States Senator if had been willing to be independent of the Cameron influence and support, and that it was unwillingness to separate himself from his Cameron alliance that defeated his aspirations. These original papers he offered to place into Judge Jessup's hands for examination by General Beaver if he so desired. The witnesses to the transaction he said were Senators Lee, Thomas and Kaufman, all of whom could verify what he said. In a burst of eloquence he implored Judge Jessup, he implored the audience to rise to the occasion and strike down the infamous role of these bosses who were destroying every vestige of the party's manhood and honor.

A REMARKABLE SCENE. Senator Stewart then took his seat amid the wildest cheers of the audience, but the most remarkable scene was yet to follow. The chairman arose and dismissed the audience, but they refused to leave the hall, calling loudly and wildly for Judge Jessup to make the explanation that Senator Stewart had demanded. The Judge arose once more and in argument proclaimed his independence and denounced Cameron's methods. Stewart stopped, and replied that that was not the question. Finally, Stewart granted Judge Jessup's independence, but asked why he did not get General Beaver to deny the bosses, and assert his manhood? "Jessup pleads for himself," I demand him to plead for Beaver? At times the excitement ran so high that the ladies in the gallery waved their handkerchiefs as the Independent Senator spoke.
