Previous to marrying Mr. Strawiek she was the wife of a man named John Woods, of Brady's Bend, Pa. Woods died, or was reported dead, when her marriage with Strawick took place. Three children were the result of her marriage with Strawick. About four years ago Strawick went west to settle on his bounty lands, and agreed to send for his wife as soon as he was comfortably settled. He took up his home near Mound City, Illinois. long after the poor board sent Mrs. Strawick after her husband, her mother, Mrs. Berringer, and her children accompanying her. After she had been at Mound City some time she circulated reports around the town that her husband had murdered a man in Butler county and dare not return home. When he found out about the reports he denied them and told the people to write to Butler and learn the charges were false. Shortly after this Mr. Strawick took sick with fever and ague.
