

BUTLER CITIZEN. WEDNESDAY MAY 9, 1883. LOCAL AND GENERAL.

—Tony Allen has three fine fresh cows for sale. —Full line of Summer Underwear, at Chas. R. Grieb's. —Thoughtless sometimes amounts to rudeness. —The wheat crop of this section will likely be a very small one.

—Almost all the stores of this town now close at 8 P. M. —Patterson's big sign on the arming in front of his store, is something new for Butler. —Now is the time to kill flies and mosquitoes, as each one killed now prevents the propagation of thousands.

—The spring crop of rump, caused by children sitting on the damp cold ground is coming in. A good case generally gets ripe about 2 A. M. —We direct attention to the card of James E. Whitney, Nurseryman, of Rochester, N. Y., who wants agents at a good salary and expense paid.

—The new Senate apportionment bill makes a Congressional district out of Butler and Washington counties and the northern and western townships of Allegheny county. —Craft, the defaulting Franklin cashier, who got away with about $200,000, was cleared last week of the remaining charges against him and is again at liberty.

—John and Charley Grieb now have hand signs hanging in front of their respective places of business in the Union Block. Will McCandless is the artist. —Cigar factory No. 13, is the newest enterprise in this town. Mr. W. H. Morris is the proprietor, and the factory is located at the corner of Main and North streets, in the old Seitz corner.

—Jimmy Croighton is tired of staying in jail. He wrote three letters to his relatives telling them to come and bail him out. They didn't come, and Jimmy made a saw, and sawed two bars through, before being discovered. —While Mr. Hardman and Mr. Thomas Phillips were walking along the railroad track on the Renfrew farm last Thursday evening they encountered a large black snake which showed fight and they killed it.

—Two robins whirled a "game" chicken belonging to a citizen of "Pear" street, the other day. The chicken, in trying to fly out of its coop knocked down the birds' nest, when the birds went for it and made it ruin. —Two children of Mr. J. D. Meals, of Washington twp., this county, were badly injured by an explosion of oil in kindling a fire, on Thursday evening last. One of them is on the way to recovery but the other is said to be badly burned.

—See jury lists for June term in another place in this paper, also Register's notice of Executors' and Administrators' accounts, and Proprietors' notices of Assignees' and Committees' accounts for presentation on Wednesday June 6th. —Should the Legislature adjourn on June 9th it will have from to-day a fortnight of bills in which to work, and there hundreds of bills on the calendar that will not be reached. The apportionment bill will take at least ten days and the appropriations five.

Memorial Day.

At the last meeting of the G. A. R. Post of this place John T. Kelly, Alex. Russell and Henry Kern were appointed a committee to make arrangements for properly observing Decoration Day, and all good citizens of Butler and vicinity are respectfully requested to lend a helping hand to have a proper observance of said day. The following general order has been issued from headquarters of the Grand Army:

OMAHA, NEB., April 14, 1883. GENERAL ORDER, No. 10. In compliance with the rules and regulations of the Grand Army of the Republic, Wednesday, May 30, will be observed as Memorial Day. The national encampment adopted a resolution at its session in Baltimore declaring that this day should be called Memorial and not Decoration Day.

I earnestly request all ministers and priests of all denominations to deliver appropriate sermons or lectures, calling attention to the duties of the day—the sacrifices made and lessons taught—on Sunday, May 27. I request all command Posts of the Grand Army of the Republic to attend said services in uniform. In cities and villages where it will be practicable, resolution series should be observed.

I recommend that the Grand Army take special steps to secure the presence and aid of the children and youth of the country in the ceremony of strewing flowers, and otherwise honoring the dead, and to that end I hope all public and private schools, colleges and academies will be closed. Let the hand of fraternity and charity be extended to the widows and orphans of our dead heroes. Seek them out; distinguish them from all others, and teach them that on this day the Grand Army mourns with the people for the precious ones whom they gave the nation.

I recommend that the loyal women of the nation be invited to aid in this work. They will toil with willing hands and grateful hearts. Though others may have forgotten the dead, the women have never ceased to remember them and treasure in their pure hearts their heroic services. The marvelous growth of the orphans throughout the country will be a new incentive to us to see that no grave is neglected, and that every spot where a soldier has been buried will be strewn with the sweet flowers of spring time, and urge the Posts of the Grand Army to take immediate steps to remove the soldiers' remains from the potter's field or pauper's burying ground and re-inter them in the Grand Army cemeteries, where they will be cared for in the proper manner until we have done our duty to the living and the dead.

With malice toward none and charity for all, let us unite in this sacred duty. Let the choicest, fairest and most fragrant flowers be called, and the soft white hands of the loyal women of the land entwine the wreaths and fashion the cross and crown, dropping here and there, like dew, a tear for the dead. Let the choicest garlands be donated that the memory of the Union soldier may not wither. We will fit once more the curtains of glory, and the dark past and our fallen martyrs die for liberty. They gave their lives a cheerful sacrifice. They died in hospitals and on the battlefield in the fierce maddening charge on the picket line under the leaden trees close to the babbling brook; in the prison pen where no pitying voice was heard and no hand reached out to save; in the swamps, from a fate worse than death, and some went down in the mighty deep where the wild waves tossed their bodies for hours. Many sleep in graves marked unknown, but the loving hearts and eager hands of a grateful people will cast flowers upon the soft green sod that covers their dust. Let the gates of all the cemeteries in the land open wide and their guardians receive all the aid in their power in this noble work.

Comrades, a few short years fleeting swiftly by, and our children will be called on to perform this duty. Let us live that the lesson of memorial day will be imprinted upon their hearts, and they will willingly give up their lives for the same. Let the graves of our fallen heroes be left to rot and perpetuate for all time to come the touching memory we have inaugurated. The command of PAUL VANDEVOEGT, Adjutant General, Commander in Chief.
