—The 18th annual re-union of the Society of the 100th Penn'a Volunteers (Round Heads) will be held at Beaver Falls, on the 29th, inst.
—A Foxburg man named George accidentally shot and killed his three year old child last Sunday while loading his revolver.
—Why do the graduates of the State Normal School, Indiana, Pa., make good teachers? Send for catalogue.

There is no truth in the report that the West Penn depot at this place is to be removed to a point at north end of Main street.
—W. A. Forquer, Esq., has purchased 45 feet front of Deas property on east side of street, next to alley, and intends building upon it.
—The new U. P. Church at Fairview will be dedicated on Friday, the 24th inst. Services will commence at 2 P. M. Visitors from a distance will be provided for by the congregation.

—Mr. J. R. Spang, agent for the old standard Singer Sewing Machine, is still doing a good business at his new rooms near the Savings Bank, on Main street.
—Health, happiness and economy are the three greatest essential merits of Dr. S. Soap. One bar of it will go further than two of any other make, and will do the washing and cleaning in a more satisfactory manner.
—The city of Meadville, Crawford county, exempts from city taxes for ten years any manufacturing company which invests $5,000 or more in factory buildings.

—Some of the speakers on the new railroad turned out for a drive on Thursday morning. They were for $2 a day, were let go and other men employed in their places. All hands worked last Sunday laying track.
—The contractor for the new railroad expects to have the track laid to the narrow gauge road, just above Mr. Reiber's residence, today, and cars will be ready to take the military company to Conneaut Lake to-morrow.
—The coroner's jury in the case of McKinnon Bell, said that he came to his death by cutting his throat with a razor, in his own hands in his own stable, on Sabbath morning, the 26th of July, 1883. Mr. Bell's mind had been affected for some time.

—The Pittsburgh Exposition Society has issued a magnificent illustrated catalogue. It contains much valuable information of a historical and statistical nature and will be a very acceptable companion to all who visit the exposition.
—What students say of Edinboro. "It develops power and the student's mind. It is a whole flower garden on one's shoulder." "It has many advantages over other schools." "It is a more complete and thorough course of civilization upon these shores; romance, sentiment, toil, tribulation, and gigantic achievement of a class of brave and noble men and women, of whom their descendants can not learn enough, will probably never find a more complete record than is supplied in the work under discussion.
—It is nervously, yet conscientiously written. The narrative is the dramatic style, and the thoroughly appreciable predominance of a peculiar metaphor which always declares the writer's patient endurance of the classic. "Homer thundered his lofty lyre, observes Cicero, the valor of Achilles had remained unshaken, the valor of our heroes was never broken, with another Homer to celebrate their achievements, the grandest epic in all literature would capture our age.
—An effort is being made to secure the pardon of John M. Apple, convicted here some years ago of the crime of committing a rape upon the person of a light which discredited his story.

—The strike of the telegraphers has revived the idea of having a telegraph system connected with the Post Office Department, and we think that the idea is a good one. It would lessen the cost of ordinary telegraph messages, be profitable to the government, and at the same time not interfere with the general commercial business of the private companies.
—Our military company expects to go to Conneaut on Friday via the new railroad S. & A. and West Penn connecting link. The track will be laid into town to-morrow. The Alliance regiment, the fifth, will likely pass through Butler and go over the new road, as the S. & A. R. B. Company is said to have a heavy contract for moving the troops.

—Sid. Wiehl had a very handsome bird at the Vogelze house last Saturday. It was a large snowy-white crane, with bright yellow beak and feet black feet. It measured 61 inches from beak to toes, and 57 inches across the wings, was given in Jefferson township, and was given to Sid by a man for whom he was putting a farm engine, last week. Sid took it to Pittsburgh on Monday, and will have it stuffed.
—Some of the farmers near town complain of the deprivations of berry-pickers upon their premises. They say that people from town will tramp through their grain fields and take berries from bushes near their houses which have been planted for their own use. This is not right and should be stopped. No person has a right to go upon another's premises without permission and, as for the berries, "what is worth having is worth taking for."

—Wallace farm well No. 3 is doing 80 barrels per day, and the Eagle, Miller and Campbell wells, on the Smith farm, 10 barrels. The Bald Ridge Co. No. 14, on the Reiber, Hoffman and Piersol farm, was doing 12 barrels, but as the packer did not work satisfactorily, it was pulled out and the company is having a new one made to order. The Smith farm well was fitted with a new engine and "long-packer"—one made out of a piece of casing with a packing arrangement at each end.
—The lock-up of this town is out of repair at present, the last man committed to it having torn down the chimney and escaped through the hole in the roof, and Sheriff Donaghy will not take charge of any more prisoners committed for being "drunk and disorderly," because the Commissioners will not reimburse him. It is useless to fine men for these drunken rowdies that create disturbances on our streets for they have neither money nor property, and as there is no place to confine them, what is the use of arresting them.

—While the south bound train on the narrow gauge, due here at 6 P. M., was running fast around a curve between Summit and St. Joe last Thursday evening, the rear passenger car jumped the track and rolled down an embankment. Three citizens of this town, Mrs. H. J. Klinger, Mrs. J. H. Heston, and her wife, were in the car. Mrs. Heston was badly bruised about the back and shoulders. Mrs. Klinger was not injured but a lady friend who was travelling with her, received injuries which have kept her in bed since. The smoking car also jumped the track and turned on its side, but none of the passengers were hurt. It was Billy Mitchell, who has been in the car, who is a neighbor of mine. My boy makes the fire in the morning and milks the cow. I will do the cooking myself, but may expect the young lady whom I engage to assist me washing the dishes and sweeping. I allow my girls to have their afternoons, evenings and Sundays off. I want to go to church myself and never expect to. There are no small children or babies about the house and my last girl has my solemn promise never to have any more. Any young lady who thinks she would like to live with me under these circumstances will please enquire of Mrs. S. and S. Gold St., Butler, Pa.
P. S.—A beautiful chromo will be presented to the successful applicant.

For Camp Meeting.
I want a neat and tidy young lady to help me with my housework and will pay her three dollars a week. My work is not hard—my washing and ironing, sent out and my baking is done by a neighbor. My boy makes the fire in the morning and milks the cow. I will do the cooking myself, but may expect the young lady whom I engage to assist me washing the dishes and sweeping. I allow my girls to have their afternoons, evenings and Sundays off. I want to go to church myself and never expect to. The Pittsburgh Exposition.

The Pittsburgh Exposition Society has announced the date of their Exhibition for 1883. It will open on Thursday, September 6th, and continue for five weeks and three days, closing on Saturday, October 13th. This will be the Seventh Annual Exhibition held at Pittsburgh, and the yearly increase in the attractiveness of their displays of the Arts, Industries and Inventions, not only of Pittsburgh but of the entire country, together with the enterprising methods of the management, have raised the Pittsburgh Exposition from being the local affair it was at the commencement, to a position of national importance, for Merchants and Manufacturers from all parts of the country now exhibit their goods and wares here. As the number of these exhibitors, together with those of Pittsburgh, multiplied, the management found it necessary to furnish additional space until the handsome Exhibition Buildings now present an imposing appearance, surrounded as they are by twenty-two acres of ground, in which there is laid out an excellent half-mile race track. The general prosperity of the present year is having a beneficial effect upon this worthy enterprise, and the Manager announces that at no time has he noted such a general interest being taken in the Exposition by business men of all classes as is evinced at present. Applications for space commenced earlier than during any previous year. More important exhibits having already been entered than ever before, and many of the exhibits from the Railroad Exposition at Chicago will be seen at Pittsburgh. A feature has been added to this year, which is a "Relic Department" for the exhibition of old relics loaned for the purpose, large numbers of them having been entered. Business men who desire to exhibit should address the Secretary, J. C. Patterson, Esq., at once for blanks, and make application for space. Special Excursion Tickets will be sold by all railroads entering in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. Races, fireworks, and other attractions will be presented as usual from time to time, the dates of which will be announced. In fact, every indication points to the Pittsburgh Exposition of 1883, being the largest and most successful ever held.

Pioneer Life.***

"ROMANCE AND TRAGEDY OF PIONEER LIFE" is the latest and, unquestionably, the best contribution yet made to this department of literature. The reader finds it wonderfully absorbing from the first chapter to the last, and then there is a powerful impulse to go back and read it all again. The trials and successes of the early settlers; their wars and treaties with the Indians; captures, escapes and almost miraculous recoveries of women and children; great conspiracies, which only lack success to change the history of the world; and the story of a whole century of civilization upon these shores; romance, sentiment, toil, tribulation, and gigantic achievement of a class of brave and noble men and women, of whom their descendants can not learn enough, will probably never find a more complete record than is supplied in the work under discussion.

It is nervously, yet conscientiously written. The narrative is the dramatic style, and the thoroughly appreciable predominance of a peculiar metaphor which always declares the writer's patient endurance of the classic. "Homer thundered his lofty lyre, observes Cicero, the valor of Achilles had remained unshaken, the valor of our heroes was never broken, with another Homer to celebrate their achievements, the grandest epic in all literature would capture our age.

A Great School for Teachers.

We have been favored by Prof. J. A. Cooper with a copy of the "Announcement Circular" of the State Normal School at Edinboro, of which he is the principal, and after a careful examination of it note the following points in its favor: Its facilities are better than those of any other Normal School in the State—its library, class-rooms, cabinets, apparatus, model school, are better. The library is open, the apparatus is arranged in class-rooms in sight daily. The management is progressive, natural and systematic, and the instruction thorough. The town itself is a school town. This school has now been open for twenty-two years. It has been steadily improved, year by year, until now the buildings and apparatus are valued at over $100,000. It is the school of the State for teaching teachers, and at the same time is the cheapest. A term of 14 weeks can be passed there for less than $40, and a year, not including travelling expenses, for a little more than $80. The graduates of this school are unexcelled in their admiration of it. For circular, etc., address, J. A. COOPER, Edinboro, Pa.

For Evening Wear.

O'Donnell a Native of Ohio.
LONDON, Aug. 3.—A despatch from Capetown says it has transpired that O'Donnell, the murderer of Carey, is an American citizen and a Native of Ohio.

The Witherspoon Institute of this town is a prosperous institution. It now has 174 students, 90 females and 84 males. The course of study is complete in all the branches, including all the English branches, the classics, German, French, music, drawing, book-keeping, etc. The Institute is provided with chemical and philosophical apparatus, and the latest and most improved globes and outline maps. Cheap boarding can be obtained in town. The tuition for a term of 12 weeks in English branches is $6, in Science, Classics and Higher Mathematics $8, and Normal term $4.50. Private lessons in any department will be given upon terms agreed upon. For further information, address the principal, PROF. P. S. BANCROFT, or PROF. J. C. TRINSMAN, Butler, Pa.

Ho! For the Races!

There will be two good races at the Fair Grounds next Saturday—a pacing race between Juliet, Foster Wick's beautiful mare, and Fred Everett, McDonald's horse, and a trotting race between Harry W. Wick's horse, Joe, owned by McDonald and Black Pup, owned by F. C. Kiefer.
The track in good condition and the sport will be fine. All are invited.
