Jury and Trial Lists for April 7. Prospect Normal and Classical Academy. Boots & Shoes—John Bickel.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

-We add a few more names to our ann ment column this week, and yet there is room and time for more.

-Butterine seems to be leading genuine bu ter as a salable article in the Pittsburgh market. The reason is simply that it is better han much of the butter brought to market.

-W. L. Young, a sen of S. P. Young, Summit township, killed two wild geese with one discharge from a shot gun last Friday. They were big, fat birds and made goodleating. -The Butler Mutual lost $1,500 by the burning of the old Lane mill, at Lane station, near Freeport, a few days since. It was owned by the Hill Bros.

-Mr. B. C. Huselton desires us to say that e is now receiving a large stock of Spring and Summer goods, and that his advertisement will appear in next week's paper.

-A. Troutman & Son have received their ring stock of Carpets, Embroideries, White goods, underwear, etc. Their new card will

Butler, March 3rd. Jacob Keck was elected Pre ident; Cas. Rockenstein, Treasurer; F. M. Eastman, Secretary: J. L. Purvis, Fire Marshal; G. C. Pillow, Engineer; Al. Reiber, Chief and L. Keck and H. C. Heineman, Assistant Engineers of the fire department,

A Washington county man who was recently elected to the office of justice of the peace had a man before, charged with theft, a few days ago. Feeling the dignity of his office the justice heard the evidence and after due deliberation ntenced the prisoner to the penitentiary. That's right. He is a justice as is a justice.

-Mr. J. H. Harvey has opened a paint shop in Reiber's block, on Jefferson street, opposite the Lowry House, where orders can be left for paper hanging, painting, calsomining, window blind hanging, etc., and where he has on hands a stock of wall papers, borders, paints, brushes, window-glass, putties, etc. Mr. Harvey is spoken of as a man who knows his business.

-A letter from John H. McCaslin who county, some four years ago, states that while he is getting along reasonably well, yet that e suffered a loss last fall by fire, having had his stable, a horse, harness, corn and crib, and other property hurned. His friends here will regret to hear of his misfortune.

Court House and jail building of Allegheny county, at Pittsburgh, is a novel one, and is in effect an adaptation of the system successfully sed in deep mines. A tower is to be erected 250 feet in hight, the top of it reaching the elevation of the hills that surround the city, and reaching above the ordinary stratum of smoke. From this elevation a strong cur rent of pure, or comparatively pure, air will be drawn downward by a sucking apparatus work-ed by powerful engines in the jail building. Brought to the basement, this upper sir is to be cleansed by washing and filtering, and thence, warmed when necessary, it will be passed by numerous inlets and outlets through every room of the two buildings. It is impossible to pro-vide against the indolence and stupidity of or-dinary appointments, but experience in many large hospitals and prisons, as well as mines and manufactories, shows that with an adequately large apparatus of this description, and honest and disciplined service, a perfectly wholesome atmosphere can be maintained.

-License Court began last Friday morning and continued till about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, during which time all the applic lions from the different townships and boroughs, with the exception of those from Butler borough, were heard. The applications from Butler will not be heard until after the Jury trials-probably next week-and as the licenses granted last year expire to-day, the bars of the town will be closed for a few days. constrances on the grounds of the houses not being necessary for the accommodation of the travelling public, or exceptions to individual applicants came in from all points of the county, excepting Petrolia, Millerstown, Karns City and Harmony. The remonstrances from the south-eastern part of the county were signed by several hundred persons, and again blasted the hopes of the Saxonburg hotel keepers. The list of licenses granted can be seen in the "Court News" column. All the others, as far as heard, were refused excepting those from Evans City, which are held under advisement, and those of J. B. Daugherty, of Petrolia, Jas. T. Wilson, of Coaltown, W. J. Adams, of Hilliard, and E. E. Goehring, of Petersville,

-If there is in the United States a strip of country that is being more rapidly utilized for manufacturing purposes than any other, that strip is the valley of the Allegheny from Freeport to Pittsburgh. Both sides of the river between these two points are lined with glass, glue, phosphate and other factories, oil refiner ies, paper mills, fruit preserving works, and other industrial establishments. The hills on both sides of the valley are full of coal, and this cheap fuel with the railroad facilities is, no doubt, the magnet that draws the manufac turers. But as far as coal is concerned, Butler or at least will have after the P. & W. R. R. in widened to the standard guage next Spring, yastly superior railroad facilities. The discovery of natural gas at Tarentum, no doubt caused the English and New York capitalists to build their immense plate-glass works at that point, but on this point also we fully equal the valley. Gas in sufficient volume to run a large factory can be obtained by drilling within the Borough limits or in any direction tor of the Great Western Gun Worke immediately outside of them. The natural Pittsburgh. Pa., will mail free a large gas of this section is attracting the attention of illustrated catalogue of rifles, shot guns, the manufaturers and capitalists of both Enrope and this country, and in all the natural was region as now known there is but one Ohio and Eric railways systems centre, and that point is the town of Bodier.

That they have been in consultation in the discharge of their duties relative to the erection of new Court House, and would suggest that they have examined the walls, and find the foundation walls, stonework, etc., in good condition and not injured by water or freezing, and that the new building should be erected thereon, with such enlargement and additions as the Commissioners in consultation with skilled architects may deem necessary to amply meet the wants of the county. sary to amply meet the wants of the county.

The vauits should be made larger, and the offices so arranged as to afford more convenience and comfort than existed in the old build-

The general plau and details should be well studied and considered by the Commissioners, with the aid of skilled architects. The cost of such building, we think, may be fairly estimated at from sixty-five to seventy thousand dol-

We have examined the offices now occupied by the County officers and find them reasona bly suitable and convenient under the erroum ces, and in as good order as can be expect

We find the heating of the jail very defective. The furnace does not draw right, but emits smoke and sulpher through the buildings which almost suffocates. The floor of the basenent should be graded and lowered, so that the heater countd stand up from the floor.

We would also recommend that the Commissioners exercise great and constant care and vigilance, and also the County officers and janitor, so that the public records and documents may be afforded the best protection possible, under the circumstances, against loss and injury by fire, or by being abstracted, or from being damaged in removal or otherwise.

We annex to this, our presentment, a statement snd exhibit of the finances of the county as they exist at this date, as turnished by the County Commissioners, showing the sum of forty-four thousand and fifty-ive dollars and eighty-nine cents, exclusive of the levy for the protection of the results of the county as they exist at this date, as turnished by the county as they exist at this date, as turnished by the county as they exist at this date, as turnished by the county as they exist at this date, as turnished by the county as they exist at the date of the county as they exist at the date of the county as they exist at this date, as turnished by the county as they exist at this date, as turnished by the county as they exist at this date, as turnished by the county as they exist at this date, as turnished by the county as they exist at this date, as turnished by the county as they exist at this date, as turnished by the county as they exist at this date, as turnished by the county as they exist at the best protection possible, and their shoes, clothes and their findency, and they reven be and their findency, and they reven be dangers, and the works is attended with dangers, and the works is atten

A large, dressed hog, hanging in front of Wick & Clark's meat market last week attracted considerable attention from passers-by. It weighed 525 pounds when alive, dressed 485 pounds, was 16 monthes old, and was raised by James S. Hays, of this place, whose farm is in Connoquenessing township. Wick & Clark bought four large hogs from Hays last week, all of which were a mixture of the Berkshire and Poland-China breeds, and the largest of which we have noted. They also purchased two Durham steers from Jim, last week, a three-year-ald and a two-year-old, the largest of which weighed over 1400 pounds and the other over 1200 pounds. other over 1200 pounds.
