Court Notes.

W. W. Reed has entered suit against the W. P. & S. Connecting R. R. for $66,000.

The petition of the citizens of Concord twp., asking court to change the place of elections in that township from school house No. 4, to a hall in Middletown, was refused, the Court stating that it had no power to make a change under the law, excepting where the building had been destroyed or changed from a public to a private building, or where being a private building the owner thereof joined in the petition. An election must be had to secure the change desired in this case.

In the matter of the petition of citizens of Fairview township praying that the place for holding elections in that township should be changed to the Duprey hotel in Karns City, and also that the township be consolidated into one election district, it was ordered that public notice be given that the place of holding said elections would be changed on the 28th inst., unless cause is shown to the contrary, and B. F. Hilliard, John Vensel and Joseph Double were appointed to inquire into the expedency consolidating the township into one election district.

Arrest of an Alleged Counter-

Mr. Robert Montgomery, alias Chas. Johnson was committed to committed to jail by Esq. Dunn, of Karns City last Thursday on a charge of counterfeiting, preferred by Mr. Page. Robert is a farmer, is the owner of 27 acres in Cherry township. He is known to have three accomplieses in the business, and had his arrest been conducted with more deliberation they might have been secured. The Karns City correspondent of the Petrolia Record gives the following account of the arrest and circumstances leading business: "A stranger appeared on our streets Tuesday evening and applied at West's drug store for nitric acid and cynanide of potassium. As these chemicals are very poisonous the fellow was required to give his name and the purpose for which he wanted the articles. He said his name was Charley Johnson, and that he was a farmer living near Karns. He further stated that he wanted the the chemicals to make a medicine for the cure of ringbone and spavin, and that he expected to realize about ten dollars from the mixture. Thereupon the druggist gave him the required articles as the explanation seemed plausible enough. The following day he was seen in company with a citizen of this place and both made frequent visits to the hotels where they imbibed sowemhat freely. At Page's hotel he passed a counterfeit a counterfeit silver dollar, receiving for it the drinks and change. He afterwards succeeded in passing a bogus fifty cent piece at the European Hotel, but the proprietor soon discovered its worthlessness, and in a very brief time the news spread that a counterfeiter was in town, Of course considerable excitement followed and haste was made to secure his arrest. Mr. Page swore out a warrant for his arrest, which was put into the the hands of W. H. Pickard to be served. He went to the depot and not finding him there proceeded to the pump station below and there found his man. While being led to the Squire's office he tried to get rid of his ringbone and spavin remedy by throwing it violently on the ground with the hope of b Mr. Robert Montgomery, alias Chas. John-
