One Primary Over

One Republican primary in thi county, that for the election of delegates to National and State Conventions, is now over and the result is satisfactory to all. When we urged upon the people, through January and February and March last, the importance to them of holding on tightly to the powers given them by our new rules in the selection of these delegates, we were answered by a Republican journal of this place, and by some others, that the people cared nothing about it and would not attend to that duty. What was the result? More than two thousand voters of the county did turn out and did attend to the matter. And the result is that the new rules are now fairly and fully put in practice and will continue

Another primary, and one far more important, is now approaching, that of May 24. At this one nearly a full set of county officers are to be nominated Among them is a Judge of our courts, members of the Legislature, County Commissioners, and others, all of which are of special importance to the people at this time. The chief interest so far naturally centers upon the nomination of the Judge. But for this, we think, there should be but one question for the Republican voters at the primary to decide, and that is, who is the fittest man? Who has the best legal learning? Who is most competent to sit in judgment upon the legal rights of our citizens? In one sense this office should be non-partisan. But political parties make nominations. And the importance of the Republicans making a fit nomination on May 24, can not be over-

Elector for this Congressional district.

We are informed that plans and specifications for the building of our new Court House will not be ready before June, or possibly July. The Commissioners have been visiting other counties to look at their newly erected ler, present member in Congress for Court Houses, and yesterday morning this district. started for Huntingdon, Pa., to see the Court House of that county which is represented as one of modern style and convenience.

In the meantime it is intended, we learn, to tear down and remove the material of the old building. But the contract for this should be made public by the receiving by the Commissioners of proposals or bids, the same as for any other part of the work to be done, ence will be held. Subject, It is in fact a part and parcel of the work of erection, and the person doing work of erection, and the person doing it should be interested in the preservation of the old material. The contraction of the old material. The contraction of the ministerial office. Opened by tor for the new house would therefore Rev. J. H. Wright. be one most interested in removing the old one, as he could remove and save the old material to the best advantage, both for the county as well as for himself. More will likely be saved to the county in this way than by giving out the work in separate parts. But, in either way, proposals should be received and an opportunity given for public competition in the removal of the old building, the same as for the erection of the new one. In this public way only will the taxpayers be satisfied that all is being done in an open and fair manner.

-HON. GALUSHA A. GROW WILL probably be President of the Republican State Convention that meets at Harrisburg to-day.

The State Convention.

The Republican State Convention meets at Harrisburg this day, Wednes from Ohio, who promised the people day. The National Delegates.

At the district conference, held for this Congressional district at Green ville last Friday, all the three counties of the Chicago National Convention fell upon Thomas B. Cochran, Esq., of Mercer county and W. H. H. Riddle, Esq., of this county. Mr. A. H. Steele, W. Wright, of Mercer, were named as alternates. Mr. Cyrus Kitchen, of Crawford, was recommended as the Presidential Elector for this district.

-Rev. Josiah R. Titzell. Professor n Thiel College, was in this place last Saturday.

Crawford County

The Republican nominations for Crawford county were made last week. Dr. W. B. Roberts, who was again a candidate for the Congressional nomination, is beaten by Mr Charles W. Miller, of Meadville, by 203 votes; the vote standing for Miller 2,869; for Roberts 2,666. Dr. Roberts had many warm personal friends in the district. but this result, we suppose, ends his aspirations for Congress in this present district.

Mr. Miller is a new man, and, should e receive the district nomination the singular case would be presented of a Miller succeeding a Miller in this district. All three counties will present a new man this time, and will be a new deal all around, without any of the embarrassing questions connected with former district nominations.

Mercer County Nominations.

The Republicans of Mercer county net in county convention by delegates on Tuesday of last week and put in nomination the following full county

For Judge, S. H. Miller; Congress J. J. Spearman; State Senate, Samuel McClure; Assembly, J. W. Russell, R. A. Harsh, T. B. Roberts; Sheriff, P. WILLIAM A. The origin of the feast can be seen in Crawford, Mercer and Butler were rep- Exodus, where the following answer is resented, and the choice for delegates given to the question as to what is meant by the service: "It is the sacrifice of the Lord's passover, who passed tians, and delivered our houses." It is enjoined upon the Hebrews to rest from manual labor on the first and last days of the Passover, and this command is rigidly kept in their native country. In America it is not, how ever, as a general thing, observed, though in Pittsburgh many of that religious persuasion kept to their belief by resting from work. Services were held Wednesday evening and vester day, and will be held each day of the feast. Preparations are made for the celebration by a general house-cleaning.
But the most particular and rather penitential observance of the Passover s the use during that time of only unleavened bread. This observance also has its origin from the facts given in the Bible about the escape of the Isrealites from Egypt. For a long time Pharaoh, the Egyptian king, refused to let the oppressed people depart, but the last plague, which was the killing of every Egyptian first born, so affected him that he ordered them to leave at once and they left, taking with them their kneading troughs and the dough therein before it was leavened, After they got outside the gates they took this dough and rolled it into thin cakes baked it in the sun, Their decendants keep up a remembrance of this by useing during the feast of the Passover ony unleaven bread, which is made simply from flour and water without the other ingredients and concomitants which people usually put into the mix This bread is usually obtained ture. from New York, Philadelphia and Cleveland, but this year a firm in Pitts: burghh has prepared some. It must be very carefully made; other dough must not come in contact with it, nor must it be mixed in vessels used formerly to knead other kinds of dough. Any one can, of course, make such bread he or she be careful enough to keep it intact from any leaven. But all other kinds of food are allowed.

The so-called wrestling matches that are now attracting the attention of the sporting elements in our large cities are very cruel affairs as will be seen from the account of one that lately took place in Cleyeland, O., between Ross the local champion, and a Japanese named Sorakichi, and which was wit nessed by 4,000 people.

The first bout was catch-as-catch-can. Time was called at 81 sharp. The Jap advanced with arms outstretched and his body bent forward. He made a grab for Ross and jumped on his back like a tiger. He forced his man all over the floor, and finally pushed him over the ropes and on to the floor. He then tried to prevent Ross from getting back on the stage

This made Ross fighting mad and there was blood in his eye. When he Of Washington (late of Allegheny)ty regained the platform the Jap tried hard to get a hold but failed in nearly every attempt. In the meantime his hard work made him tired, and he puffed and panted, while Ross kept in excellent trim.

The Jap finally succeeded in getting crotch lock on Ross, and held it firmly and turned Ross over. The Clevelander made a grand effort and broke the hold and jumped on his knees. The Jap again tried to force his man over the ropes. Ross suddenly got a rolling hip lock on the Jap, and twisting his shoulders over, got all four points down in fine shape. The Jap wanted to push Ross again, and the Scot raised his fist to strike him, but the men were separated. First fall for

The Jap bounded to the center of the stage like a cannon ball, and before Ross knew where he was the Jap made a terrific drive with his head, and butted Ross on the left side, knocking him to the floor and breaking one of his short ribs. and badly winding him. It was so quickly accomplished that it almost Ross's breath. Fall for Matsada Sora kichi. Time less than two seconds.

The third bout was catch-as-catch can. The Jap again took the advance and started stealthily with his arms outstretched. Ross copied him, and the two men walked and hopped about both stooping low like a pair of game cocks, and glaring fiercely at each other.

Suddenly they made a dive for each other. Ross got the Jap by the neck and tried to turn him, but the wonderderful strength of the foreigner helped

He was up again at once, and Ross made another half Nelson lock, and they rolled over. Both men appeared to be victors, but the referees decided JOHN F. CROWL, jected, and said he would not let the Jap wrestle any more. Both retired
