The delegates were required to sign a resolution denouncing the Democratic and Republican parties and pledging support to the nominces of the new party.
The platform calls for an eight-hour law, compulsory education, criminal laws against speculating in the necessaries of life, taxation of mortgages on real estate, female suffrage, election day holidays, laws controlling corporations, abolition of contract system on county work, better roads, and non-favoritism in granning license; and some declarations denounce the liquor traffic, sympathize with the Probibition party, but regard it as a party of but one idea, regard the treatment of soldiers and sailors of the late war, as ungenerous, and criticise the mutilation of the Regan Inter-State Commerce bill.
