W. D. BRANDON, Esq, who recently returned home here from his trip to Europe, states some things he observed that go to show that the old country is still behind the new one. For instance, in some parts visited he port, was another of "Butler's old boys" who all were glad to see and saw more women at work in the fields greet here on Wednesday. He was always a patriot and is now a sucthan men. The women not only help to gather the crops but to put them in. In small fields or lots of ground they are to be seen digging with some kind of a hoe, preparing the ground for the new crops. But little welcome visitor. plowing is done, as here. As regards the crops taken off women gener ally market them in small carts, pushed present. by themselves with the aid of dogs attached. The marketing to the towns or cities is done in this way. Large numbers of these little carts are to be seen at market place s, the Olympia, railroads being seldom used to convey marketing as is done in this country. At the same time farms or fields are more highly improved than in this country, everything about them looking clean and neat, and not a tillable foot of earth but what is worked No fences as a general thing exist. One farmer or tiller will cut or work up to his line and there stop. What looked a little strange to an American was to see a soldier pacing up and down in the farming or rural districts, apparently to guard them. This was the case especially near the borders of certain provinces. Through the country everything has an old or finished look and in this consists the great contrast between the old and this country. where everything looks new or as just begun.

As to storms upon the ocean, of which his vessel experienced some language. heavy ones on the returning trip, they are peculiar in that they come up suddenly. You have no signs of warning of their coming, as upon the land. You hear thunder and but seldom see lightning.

The daily papers in Europe must generally be obtained at news stands upon the streets and are not carried about and sold by boys as here. Their papers are so filled with their own matters transpiring that they seem to give but little attention to anything transpiring in the United States, many of them apparently not yet knowing that there is such a place as the United States. These and many other interesting matters upon the streets and are not carried and many other interesting matters
