Spring Excursion to Washington by Pennsylvania Railroad. The popular demand for tickets for the Pennsylvania Railroad's select excursions to Washington has been so great and the disposition of our people to visit the National Capital is so determined, that the company has arranged another excursion for Thursday, April 12th. Of the entire series this has, without doubt, the most desirable date, as it comes at a time when Washington is in the first flush of the activity, social, political, and business life. The trip is to be run on the same plan as heretofore. The train will be composed of parlor cars and passenger coaches, to be run on the same plan as heretofore. The tickets will be good for ten days, to be used on any of the routes of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The fare will be the same as for a regular train, except the New York and Chicago Limited. A stop-over in Baltimore on the return trip is permitted. The special will run on following schedule, leaving New York on Monday, April 9th, and will be sold at the rates quoted below. Rate. Train leave New York on Monday, April 9th, at 7:00 P. M. Washington arrive..... 7:55 P. M. By the new license law the wholesalers who took out license before the County Treasurer $200 each, the retailers in boroughs $100 each and in townships $75 each, with costs amounting to $5 each. The Mercantile Association assessed the hotels of this town under a new law, and taxed them $700 each with costs, but it didn't stand. Part of the money paid into the County Treasury belongs to the borough and townships for road and street purposes. The dwelling house of Calvin Neale, occupied Dan Cousins, at Craigville, was destroyed by fire last Thursday, including all the household goods and $100 in bills owned by Mrs. Woodrow.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

In Freepoot on Sabbath morning of last week, Alf James and Harry Irwin started to run a foot race across the railroad bridge over Buffalo creek. Harry's foot slipped and he fell head foremost, a distance of about twenty feet to the creek below, striking the ice with his head and shoulders. The ice broke which saved his life, for had it been solid his neck would have been broken. The water was deep enough to drown him, but it was so shallow that he floated up in a strange way to his sister's house. He was not seriously hurt.

Mr. A. P. Gorman, of McKeesport, Allegheny Co., has been for years an inveterate tobacco chewer, but he has sworn off for good. A few days ago, going to work he, as usual, took his plug and bit off a small portion. He was feeling some foreign substance in his mouth he extracted it and was horrified to find the end of a man's finger, which had been cut off in some tobacco factory and becoming mixed with the tobacco and being worked up in the plug. To say that Mr. Gorman became ill is "putting it mild."

At New Castle, last Thursday, Judge McMichael granted 22 licenses, held 2 over and refused 5. Judge McMichael said: The Court has no written opinion to hand down, but will state that he declines to give out the new distinction between hotels and restaurants and eating houses; that under the new law restaurants and eating houses are permitted and licensed to sell various, spirituous, malt and brewed liquors, and to have a bar and sell the hotels. The act of Assembly of 1856 made a distinction between hotels and eating houses. This law was enacted in 1867, and it provided specifically just that eating houses should sell, limiting them to domestic wines, etc. The Brooks law made no such distinction and this Court has no right to say what shall be sold by those who are granted eating house and restaurant licenses.

The P. R. R. Co. proposes making extensive improvements at Point, and the enclosed 150 acres adjoining the picnic grounds. In Piko county the deep snows and severe weather forced the game animals and birds to seek shelter and food in the very door yards of farmers and others who live in the clearings of that isolated community. It was a common sight to see a deer standing and feeding with the cattle in the barnyards, and pheasants fly from the hemlock and tamarack swamps and mingle with the chickens and other poultry to pick up such food as they can get. One farmer discovered that deer and huck and two does—eating with his cows the hay and cornstalks he had thrown down to them.

A riot occurred at the limestone quarries at Carbon, Lawrence Co., which John A. Logan, Jr. is manager, last Monday, the result of a reduction in wages, but the rioters were dispersed and afterwards discharged. The rioters were Italians and were armed with knives, pistols and clubs, and the nerve shaver by young Logan and Sheriff Warnock alone saved their lives.

Thomas Colwell, a freight conductor on the Valley road, lost a little 3-year old girl last Saturday evening. The little one was playing near a tubful of sealing wax, when she accidentally fell backward into the tub, being literally sealed to death. She lived in great agony until Sunday evening, when death came to her relief. This makes the third child of Mr. Colwell's that has met a violent death. She was living at Weston, a little child full of life and vigor, and was drowned, while another one was burned so badly by his clothes catching fire that death ensued.

A coop of eight Antwerp carrier pigeons were sent from Philadelphia to Mendville last week, with instructions to deliver to the late John McFarland, to free the birds. He turned them loose Sunday morning at 7 o'clock. In less than two minutes after the birds began circling upward they took their direction and started on their long journey to the Quaker City. At 3:25 p. m. a dispatch was received from Mr. Stein, one of the owners, stating that the first of the birds struck his loft in Philadelphia at 12:35, making the length of the State in 5 hours and 25 minutes. Four other birds came in 20 minutes later, and two young ones were still out. The time was remarkably good considering that the day was cold and murky, a chilling rain at times prevailing.—Franklin News.

A new and clever swindle has appeared in our neighboring counties, and it is well to "look a leddie ool" for the rascals. An agent appeared with a new soap, and in order to advertise its superiority over all others he proposed to put a box of thirty-six three-quarter-pound bars into each house. One-half of this box, or eighteen bars, was to be a gift. For the balance he charged the merely nominal price of $1, much less than would have to be paid for the same amount of any first-class soap in the market. The "gift" was in consideration of paying for one half of the box, and John T. Rodgers, in order to patronize these goods and use his influence to induce others to do the same. Purchasers were advised to let "season" a little before using. Those who did not, it may be a surprise to learn that this 27-pound box of soap dried down in four weeks to weigh only three pounds. As the cost of this amount of soap, together with the box, could not possibly have exceeded twenty-five cents, and as the man disposed of several hundred of these "gifts" in Williamsport, it is not difficult to see that the giving was not of the kind that impoverishes.

At the Congregational meeting in the Presbyterian church of this town last Monday morning, the Trustees announced that the list of the increased number of one or two years ago for enlarging and repairing the church, and the sum of $2000 is left in the Treasury. The Trustees then voted to do what they have wished to do for many years, to increase the salary to $2000 per year. Mr. Matthew Cunningham, of Jefferson township, one of our good old citizens, was in town Tuesday last, on a business trip from the old Douglas corner building, and he had in his pocket a money bag that had been in use for many years. It was found to contain $2000 in gold and silver, and the late Jefferson township elder, Mr. Cunningham, has been a resident of the late Wm. S. Boyd, then keeping store there, in the year 1835.

Great excitement was caused in Butler yesterday by the sight of a man running towards the Diamond at full speed. With visions of murder, burglary, arson and embezzlement filling their minds, the officers and several citizens intercepted the individual just as he was about to escape. When questioned as to his motive for such hasty departure he stated that he had been called to the town by a friend who had been arrested for a crime. He stated that he was making and selling clothing cheaper than any other man in Butler.

Paradise Regained.

The hearing of the Petrolia liquor cases took place, as per programme, before Esq. McAboey in Butler last Saturday. Mrs. Core and her counsel were present; and the defendants and their counsel were present, but of the several dozen witnesses whose names appeared on the subpoenas, but ten answered to their names. Mr. Alexander, the Constable, said he had tried to do his duty, but couldn't find the men, and as to one party, said he "came within one" of getting him. The troubles that the "Pilgrim" encountered here, and that have been nothing compared to those of the Constable who presumes to look for supposed drinkers of illegally sold liquor in Petrolia.

The case of Dr. Foote was the first taken up, and the Constable, who had been arrested, was the first witness. He never saw or knew of any violation of the liquor laws there. John Clark got liquor at Foote's drug store, but only on prescription. Gasper Young and Jas. Gilbert the same. Jas. Aiken never got any liquor at Foote's, and neither did Albert Gibson, and Albert never drank any liquor in Foote's back room.

Richard Dyer and Harry Williams got liquor there, but only on prescription and for sickness. In the case vs. the Drs. Foster, Jas. Aiken, C. Young, W. P. Jameson, R. Doyle, Isaac Roberts, Jas. Gilbert, of Karna City, and Harry Williams were sworn, and neither of them got liquor at Foster's, excepting on prescription and for medicinal purposes.

We did not hear the evidence in "French Mary's" case, but we are told that nobody present originated her, and when Mike Daly said she was a lady, as much of a lady as Mrs. Core's counsel was a gentleman, that settled it, and the defendant's were discharged. "It was the worst case of 'Paradise Regained' that has ever happened in the county, and when those citizens of Petrolia who fled the threatening storm return to their homes they will find that they have angels of peace hovering over the once again Happy Hamlet.

The Danger Before Us. We have already alluded to the importance of housekeepers paying more attention to the kind of baking powder used in leaving their bread. This is a matter to which we cannot draw attention too often, because it is something which involves the most serious consequences to the general body of mankind. Temperance apostles tell us—and there is ample foundation for the statement—that there is disease, both moral and physical, in the intoxicating cup; and in the same way there is disease, also perhaps, but certain, in the leaving agent which is employed in one-half of the homes over which the sun shines, perhaps, in the bread we eat at every meal—slow poison, placed there, too, by loving hands, by mothers whose every thought is for the health and happiness of their children, by wives whose chief solace in life and comfort of their husbands, the victim of intoxication goes to his fate with a full consciousness of what he is doing, but the victim of the adulterated and poisonous baking powder falls into the tub, and when the poison is absorbed, he dies. The certificate of chemists with high-sounding titles have been read in confidence; the toothsome cake has been given in generous abundance to the children; the daily bread has been secured by the Quaker. But all the time the poison has been working its slow effect. There comes splinter of headache, loss of appetite, a fluttering of the heart; the child is seized with an apparently causeless cough, the stomach is disordered, the system is destroyed; perhaps, one of the vital organs is rendered almost useless; the kidneys are attacked with Bright's disease. The health of the child is irreparably broken down; the adult becomes a chronic invalid, and the doings of the modern cheap baking powders that are composed of lime, alum, acids and other vile things.

In view of these facts surely all housewives should exercise care in that, is, we know, now exercised by some in their selections of a proper brand of baking powder. She who does not do so, whether the neglect is the result of ignorance or recklessness, cannot be free from responsibility for the health, perhaps life, thereby endangered. No housewife need be ignorant of the quality and composition of the article which she uses to leaven her bread, biscuits and cakes. The leading manufacturers of government chemists, who are certainly unprejudiced, have been published and show very clearly the quality and strength of all the baking powders in the market. The Royal Baking Powder, which is sold in every hand, is reported absolutely free from lime, alum, phosphoric acid, or any injurious ingredients. It is further stated by the most eminent authorities on food hygiene that food seasoned with it is more wholesome than when raised by any other method. Its use is therefore to be commended. It is to be regretted that no other baking powder, when there are so many in the market, some of which will do their work into use, is free from all of these substances. The housekeeper who regards the health of her loved ones should not only order the Royal, but make personal examination to be sure that no other brand is sent her in its place.

Tragedy in the Woods.

Renovo, Pa., April 1.—A report has reached this point of a brutal murder committed four or five miles south of Curwensville, in Clearfield county, but the particulars, owing to the distance of the point from any telegraph office, are hard to obtain. Miss Lizzie Eastman, a young lady teaching school in one of the farming districts of Clearfield county, was found here, where the school house last Tuesday evening. Her tongue had been cut from its roots and lay beside her dead body. The school had been dismissed as usual at 4 o'clock and the pupils left their teacher alone in the school house. In the right hand of the dead woman was found a lead pencil and on the floor near her dead body was written in her handwriting the revolting particulars of her death.

Two traps had entered the school house floor and had succeeded in giving the above particulars with disrespect of her assailants, when she grew too weak to write more, and died before she was found. The affair has created great sensation here, where the young lady was well and favorably known. Miss Eastman was a remarkably beautiful girl, but of a most fearful disposition. She had often been warned against carrying too long after school, as traps were not infrequently in the neighborhood. She always laughed at such remarks and asserted that she was not afraid of being molested.

As soon as the body was found, a posse was organized to go in pursuit of the villain who had murdered her, but so many hours had elapsed since the deed was committed that the men made good their escape. The description left by the young girl is sufficiently complete, so that the men can probably be found, unless they have taken extraordinary precautions to disguise themselves. A young man who was engaged to the unfortunate girl is almost crazy, and swears that he will not rest until he has found the fiends and slain them both.

The parents of the girl are bowed down with grief, and there is general mourning among her many friends. Her pretty ways and pleasant manners had endeared her to every one.

"SWAN HOUSE." 24 Ohio St., ALLEGHENY, PA., March 16, 1888. ERS. CITIZEN, Dear Sirs:—This property after being used as a hotel for more than half a century has been sold and so disposed of as to unfit it for hotel purposes. Nearly forty years ago was the "Bull's Head," and Adam Bepler was proprietor for some four years. Then it was the "Carson House" for eleven years with James Carson proprietor. Then it was the "Relishous Hotel," with years and Robert Kolshouse proprietor for three years. Then "White's Hotel," with Nathan White proprietor for seven years. Then "The Garvin House," with Edwin proprietor four years. Then the "Swan House" the past four years.

In order to accommodate my many friends and patrons, and the farmers and public generally, I have leased the "North Side," which is 189 Federal street, where such "hostess" as McDonald, Kelly, Tinnemeyer and others have held forth.
