The trouble in the camp of the Keystones, the crack colored team, caused by their manager Walker. throwing a game to the Fishels in Butler on Tuesday of last week, cullights were turned on in the Court signing of a new catcher and another boys to gather cherries. While he was in the tree the others frightened presumed that they didn't wait to trip through the East. Walker is said to have admitted that he got $75 for throwing the game.

> A club from Pittsburg, composed in part of men who played with the Buch's and Marshall's when here, and calling themselves the I. G. Welsch's came to Butler last Saturday and played a game with the Fishels. The Pittsourg club contained some good players, but they had a weak battery and did not play well together. They were easy victims for the Fishel's, who defeated them without effort the score at the close standing 20 to 7.

The McKeesport club played a close and interesting game with the Fishels, on the grounds here, Wednesday afternoon, and the success of the McKeesport club was due to their one-armed pitcher, England, who is very hard to bat, and the Butler club getting rattled in the sixth inning and letting in two runs on errors.

SCORE.

Mr. James Callery, President of Thresher and Horse Power for the P. & W. R R is quoted by a reporter of the Pittsburg Times, as saying that one of the two roads that are to complete the proposed great transcontinental system is now being Horse Plain Engine. Will sell them surveyed, and that a company to build the other has been organized, and that he believed the two links would be built. After describing the Western link through Ohio he said: "The proposed line to make the connection has been on paper for two years, but now the company, whose headquarters is in New York City, is regularly incorporated and officered and the road will eventually be built. from a point near Mauch Chunk, Pa., on the Lehigh river, to Parker, Pa on the Alleghany river a distance of about 250 miles, where it will complete the new route by connection with the Pittsburg & Western. At its Eastern terminus it will make con nection with the Jersey Central, Delaware and Lackawanna and Lehigh Valley Railroads, which have no direct Western outlet. Each of these lines is interested in the building of the new line, as each would profit ### greatly by it. Their anthracite pro- Bakery. duct would be given a great outlet to the West."

To Chess-Players. We have received a copy of The Columbia Chess Chronicle, the only weekly paper published in America that is devoted entirely to the noble game of chess. It is an exceedingly bright, and ably edited, journal and to those who are fond of chess, proves well nigh invaluable. The number before us contains 5 or 6 complete games, nearly 20 new problems, and much matter pertaining to chess. We would recommend all chess play ers to send for a copy of the journal It will be sent one year for $2 00, or six months for $1.00. Address COLUMBIA CHESS CHRONICLE,
