

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Rich Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as indigestion, flatulency, nervousness, dizziness, vertigo, neuralgia, pain in the side, etc. While the most remarkable cures have been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying ailment. They also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Acting they would be almost impossible to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find their pills valuable in no many ways that we will not be willing to do without them. But after all such is the cause of so many ills that here it were to make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not grip or purge, but in the most delicate and pleasant manner. In vials at 25 cents; three for 75. Sold everywhere. Sent by mail.

THE CITIZEN

MISCELLANEOUS

Agricultural.

The cabbage delights in being well cultivated. Hearom them and keep the soil loose.

Don't pull your lettuce up, but cut them off, as they will shoot up new sprouts and give a continued supply.

Lima beans should be fastened to the poles with strings as soon as they begin to run. They will then grow more rapidly and permit of working the hills.

It is a waste of time to attempt to preserve eggs unless they are known to be strictly fresh. An egg that is over a few days old will not keep in warm weather.

Butter can be made cheaper now than at any other season. Less labor is required in caring for the cows, and the best yields of milk and butter are when the cows are on grass.

It is claimed that one pound of linseed meal is equal to ten pounds of hay. Being a cooked food it is easily digested, is safe to use, and cheap compared with its value as food.

Rake around the rose bushes and dahlias and stir the ground. Dahlias should be well grown by this time. A shower of nature around the dahlias should be applied if the plants are backward and of slow growth.

During very warm weather the pigs will suffer if they have no fresh water and shade. Some breeds of hogs, such as the Yorkshire, have very tender skins, and it will benefit them to give them a good washing occasionally.

Rose-bugs are destroying the roses this season, and it is almost impossible to prevent their ravages. The roses may be partially saved, however, by an application of Persian insect powder. It should be used as often as may be required.

If your apple trees are overladen it will pay to shake off a portion of the young fruit. If hand-picking of the extra fruit is necessary it should be done. A crop of apples of first quality will bring a higher price than a larger crop of inferior ones.

If the grass is very rank around the house the lawn mower should be used. By keeping the grass short there will be fewer snakes and other reptiles harboring therein. If the lawn mower will not cut it use a grass scythe first, and then apply the lawn mower.

If trees are devoid of fruit this season they may bear better next year. A tree does not usually bear a full crop every season. Keep out the grass and weeds and apply twenty or thirty handfuls of unleached wood ashes per acre to the orchard, and result will be that a large crop will be obtained when the trees bear again. If the leaves fall off prematurely examine the trees for insects.

A liberal application of a mixture of equal portions of air-slaked lime and wood ashes will enrich the ground to produce grass when other methods have failed. It is difficult to secure a stand of grass under trees, as the trees take all the nourishment of the soil from the grass. Lime and ashes will prove beneficial to the grass, and as the soil is enriched, the cheap they should be used more extensively.

Mistakes in cultivation are made in not doing the work at the proper time, which increases the labor, and causes the work to be repeated sooner than is necessary. The best time to use the cultivator for the purpose of destroying grass is when the heat of the sun is high. If done before a rain occurs some of the grass will take root and make new growth. Very young grass may be cleaned out after a rain, but where the growth is heavy the work can be made more effective if done in dry weather.

BRISKS ON SHIRING.

Do not let horses' shoes remain over three to six weeks, dependent on the amount of use and the toughness and growth of the hoofs. Each time after taking off the shoes, if the hoofs permit he should be barbed as long as no injury followed, as this expands the hoofs and keeps them in more perfect condition. Some horses can be made barefoot, or pavements for months, or the whole year round, and work better than if shod. Never allow the frog of the foot to be cut or trimmed, unless somewhat ragged and then only a very little, as it acts as a cushion to the foot and lessens or even prevents bruising when striking a stone or other hard substance. See that the hoof is not pared beyond a point necessary, and that the shoe is properly fitted to it and not the hoof to the shoe. Do not allow the bottom of the hoof to be burnt or even scorched with a hot shoe, in order to make it set evenly, but pare it properly to do so. Always use the lightest shoes compatible with the condition of the roads and the work required of the horse.

MISCHIEF-MAKERS IN MILK.

According to Prof. Vaughan, tyrotoxin does not develop below 60° Fahr., and is anaerobic—grows where air is excluded. Some very simple measures, then, are preventative:

1. Scrupulous cleanliness. A little dry milk on the rim of a can or vessel may breed the germ which will find a culture-ground in fresh milk.

2. A low temperature—below 60° Fahr.

3. Ventilation in an untailed atmosphere.

It is but just to say that these precautions are generally observed by careful dairymen and cream manufacturers. There is grave reason to fear, however, that they are not generally observed after the milk reaches the consumer's hand. Also, the slightest carelessness may affect seriously that class of the community which does not stop for itself—the very youngest.

Statistics prove with increasing testimony that artificial feeding is not only unnatural but hazardous, and to be successful requires the most intelligent attention. However, if all mothers and nurses could learn that milk exposed to foul or warm air for any length of time may not only sour, but become the vehicle of a virulent poison, perhaps the summer months would bear a better health record.

One word of warning may not be amiss. Whenever a young child is fed upon cow's milk, and this causes symptoms of disagreement, the diet should be changed at once either to meat or rice; for, if the chief mischief-maker be a work, the best milk will only furnish it with the medium in which it flourishes, and deprived of this, it will inevitably perish.

Wouldn't Stay Any Longer.

"I understand that you have left Hobbs & Silby's."

"Yes, I have quit 'em."

"What was the cause?"

"Well, old Hobbs discharged me, and you know Jack, what a terrible temper I've got. I just up and told him that no man could discharge me with impunity, and then I put on my coat and hat and left."

"A perfect paradox—a beautiful plane tree."

Strange Evidence in Court.

In a San Francisco court recently a couple who had lived as man and wife were making bitter charges against each other, on account of a recent quarrel. The man demanded that their children be taken from their mother, as she was not rearing them properly. What followed is thus pathetically told by the Chronicle:

Finally the mother said, in answer to some charge made by Christian: "Don't believe him, judge. I have raised my children as they should be."

This was all Recorder Price wanted, and he said: "I'll tell it, madam," and turning to the younger girl, a little tot not more than 3 years old, he said: "Can you say your prayers?"

This ensued a most touching scene. The little girl, without a word, climbed from her chair, knelt on the floor of the court room, with the policemen, spectators, judge and her father and mother around her, and folding her tiny hands and lifting her eyes to heaven, she made the grandest defense of a mother's word possible. Slowly, but distinctly, and without a tremor in her voice, the innocent little darling, born with the stain of shame upon her and discarded by her father, flung in childish accents the Lord's Prayer.

As she proceeded, utterly oblivious to her surroundings, she uttered that prayer which many in the room had not heard for years, strong men bowed their heads and sobbed aloud. Finishing her prayer she added: "God bless papa and mamma and Uncle Dallas, Amen," and arose from her knees.

The case was settled, and had William Christian sworn a thousand oaths that his wife was bad he would have been discharged. Senator Hampton's story to the President.

Washington letter to Columbus, Ohio, Journal:

Senator Wade Hampton is a good story teller. As far as is known he is up to this time the only man who has had the temerity to tell the President an impious tale, and Gen. Harrison was much pleased with the narrative. "I always did like army stories," he said, "and you can't expect army stories to be told enough to tell a Sunday school class. I forgive the profanity of Senator Hampton's story out of consideration for its wit."

The story Senator Hampton told was an army story—not particularly new and fresh, but new to the President.

"One day during the war," said the Senator, "the colonel of a South Carolina regiment was making a round of inspection. Sitting lazily on a rail fence whittling at a piece of single he found a man whose face was not familiar to him. The colonel was ed out to him with all proper severity: 'Who are you—where you sitting here in this fashion?' 'I, sir,' responded the man on the fence, continuing his whittling, 'am the chaplain of the—' 'What Regiment, now, who are you?'"

A Big Purchase by Pennsylvanians.

The famous Etowah property, in Barstow county, Ga., containing 17,000 acres mineral land, has been purchased by General George W. Philadelphia, representing a Pennsylvania company, for $190,000. Of the purchase money $5,000 was paid in Atlanta Saturday last, and $15,000 more is to be paid on the 15th of the present month. It is understood the property has been purchased for the purpose of forming a company, of the famous Lehigh Valley. The purchasers will begin by mining iron and manganese ore on a large scale and shipping to Pennsylvania. When, in this way, the quality and availability of the ore is practically demonstrated they will build a series of furnaces on the property, and probably also a manganese furnace and rolling mills. The Atlanta Constitution says the iron ore on the purchase has for years been recognized as the finest in America, and but for the civil war the Colts would have established their famous armory on this property.

The Echo Explained.

"What is an echo?" asked the teacher of the infant class.

"It's what you hear when you shout," replied a youngster.

"Is it caused by a hill or a hollow?" again asked the teacher.

"Both," was the ready reply.

"The hill throws back the hollow."

"—Female berries are not having much success. Gentlemen will not go to them because they dislike to be cut by a lady."

"—A prominent citizen of New York died the other day and a newspaper in commenting on the sad occurrence remarked that the deceased 'may be quite an accession to the other world, but he is a small loss to this.' Here is a striking example of the exclusiveness of New York's best people."

"—The simplest and surest test of a diamond is said to be by means only of a piece of paper and a lead pencil. With the latter make a small dot on the paper, and then look at it through the diamond. If you can see but one dot you may depend upon it that the stone is genuine, but if the mark is scattered or shows more than one, you will be perfectly safe in refusing to pay ten cents for a stone that may be offered at $500."

FASHION EMPORIUM.

We must confess ourselves completely surprised at the way our goods have been selling. On the 6th we opened the largest stock we had ever brought to Butler. On the 20th our shelves were as bare as Mother Hubbard's celebrated cupboard, and necessitated an entire restocking at once. To-morrow we open the fresh lot, and there is nothing of the showman's tale about in our warning you to come at once; it is the truth, from the way our goods are selling. Whether we sell because of cheapness, or quality of goods; whether because of the quantity to select from or the knowing how-to-suit customers: whether from any or all of them, is for your eyes and judgment to decide—that we do the business is not doubted.

Just a moment for a word or two on our latest novelties. The newest thing in dress trimmings is the Sarah Sash, very wide, and very handsome. We have a fine stock, at moderate prices. They are beautiful.

Director's Hats are being worn a great deal, and they are very becoming to almost any face and figure. Our stock is unsurpassed and would certainly suit the tastes of the most fastidious.

Our Gimp and Laces for dress trimmings are quite in keeping with the extent of our stock in other lines. We have everything worth showing. The price, too, is what tells. While never for a moment sacrificing quality to cheapness, (for our reputation is built on this very thing) we endeavor to supply the best in the market at the most reasonable price. Remember that.

Why it is superior to all Others.

1st. Because of its easy operation.

2nd. Because everything necessary is provided in its general make up for its milk uniformly the very best granulated gill-edge butter.

A good milk thermometer and strainer are sent with each churn. What one of our patrons says of the Prodigy Churn after thorough testing it.

At Home, Washington, D. C., March 16, 1889, Messrs. Shiras & Hays—Gentlemen: This will certify that I have been using one of your churns about six months and can heartily recommend it as a grand success in every way.

Churning by hand is the hardest work of all my household labor, but with the Prodigy I am seated while churning and am rested when done, and the butter is first-class. I would not part with my churn for two prices if I could not get another of the same. (Signed) Mrs. E. ANNE V.
