THE CITIZEN MISCELLANEOUS.

The Sin of Lying.

The emperor of Russia, when upon a tour of inspection in the provinces, passed the night in the simple hut of the toll taker. Before retiring he was pleased, as the head of the church, to see the old man take up his Bible and read a chapter. "Do you read often, my son?" he asked. "Yes, your majesty, every day." "How much of the Bible have you read, my son?" "During the past year the old Testament and part of the New Testament. Thinking to reward him, the czar placed 500 rubles between the leaves of the Book of Mark on the following morning, unknown to the toll keeper, whom he bade farewell. Several months passed away and the emperor returned, upon a second tour, to the toll taker's hut. Taking the Bible in his hands he was surprised to find the 500 rubles intact. Again interrogating the toll keeper as to his diligence in reading he received an affirmative answer and the statement that he had finished the chapters of Luke.

"Lying, my son, is a great sin," replied his majesty; "give me the Bible till I see it."

Opening the book he pointed to the money, which the man had not seen. "That has not sought the kingdom of God, my son. As punishment, thou shalt also lose thy earthly reward."

And he placed the rubles in his pocket, to distribute afterward among the neighboring poor.

How to Get Along.

Don't stop to tell stories in business hours. If you have a place of business be found there when wanted. No man can get rich by sitting around saloons and stores. Have order, system, regularity and promptness. Do not meddle with business you know nothing about. Do not kick everyone in your path. Pay as you go. A man of honor respects his word as he does his hand. Help others when you can, but never give what you cannot afford to, simply because it is fashionable. Learn to say no. No necessity of snapping it out of fashion, but say it firmly and respectfully. Use your own brains rather than those of others. Learn to think and act for yourself. Keep ahead rather than behind the times. Young man, cut this out, and if there be any fallacy in the argument let us know.

Happy Homes.

Here's a health to the wives and mothers who sit in their households to day; Who are glad when they brighten others. The hours that go drifting away. May their eyes keep the light of the gladness. Their hearts hold the fulness of bliss That banishes shadows and sadness. And what need we ask more than this? But—how can this happiness be kept? What shall protect those we love, those who make a Heaven of the home, from the ravages of disease that is often worse than death—that is, in fact, a lingering death? The question is easily answered: Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—the standard remedy for all those peculiar diseases to which women are subject, is what must be relied on to preserve the health of wives and mothers. It prevents those diseases, and it cures them. It is a blessing to woman and therefore a national blessing, because it gives health to those about whom the happiness of home centers, and the strength of a nation is in its happy homes.

A Wonderful Photograph.

A dispatch from Victoria, B. C., says that Professor Willoughby, who has visited the Alaskan coast for many years, a short time ago visited "Muir's Glacier" and took a shot at it with his camera. It was the phantom of a great city, with rows of high, warehouses, stories with high chimneys, tall residences and elegant churches. Various were the conjectures as to the locality from which the shadow was evolved. Victoria, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco were suggested, but none met the requirements. At last a French Canadian recognized the Windsor Hotel, the dome of the new Catholic Cathedral near the hotel and Notre-Dame with Mount Royal in the distance. The mysterious city was phantom of Montreal, nearly 4000 miles away.

The Professor had a large number of his pictures struck off, and it is the wonder of the day.

Height of Great Sea Waves.

Carefully repeated experiments made by an experienced English navigator at Santander on the north coast of Spain, showed the crest of the sea waves in a prolonged and heavy gale of wind to be 42 feet high; and allowing the same for the depth between the waves, would make a height 84 feet from crest to base. The length from crest to crest was found to be 280 feet. Other estimates of the waves in the South Atlantic during great storms give a height of 50 feet for the crests and 400 feet for the troughs. In the North Sea the height of crests seldom exceed 10 feet and the length 150 feet.

Utilization of Running Streams.

The utilization of running streams is the object of many recent devices, among which may be mentioned that of M. Tagn, a Russian engineer. His apparatus consists of an endless cable, carrying a series of canvas cones, which upon and shut like an umbrella. The cable passes over a double drum on board a pontoon, and at the other end over a pulley suspended from a buoy. On the lower part of the rope the cones are opened and forced forward by the current of water, thus setting in motion a shaft or drum.

—A carriage road to the top of Pike's Peak has just been completed. It begins at Cascade Canon, and extends 16 miles until it reaches the very summit of the mountain, 14,147 feet above the level of the sea. There is one point, Grand View, where from an altitude of 10,532 feet one may see the smoke of a locomotive crossing Marshall Pass, 90 miles away.
