

WILLIAM ALAND, ARTISTIC TAILOR, 30 MAIN ST., BUTLER, PA.

THE VERY PEOPLE WHO HAVE THE LEAST MONEY TO SPEND ARE THE ONES WHO CAN GET THE MOST OUT OF THEIR CLOTHING.

With house rent a drag on you? Low prices for honest, long-wearing clothing. Will be a boon to your pocket-book and your back.

J. N. PATTERSON'S, One Price Clothing House, 29 S. MAIN ST., BUTLER, PA.

HENRY BIEHL, 14 NORTH MAIN STREET, BUTLER, PENNA.

Hardware and House Furnishing Goods.

THE STANDARD ROTARY SHUTTLE SEWING MACHINES, (2500 Stitches Per Minute.)

Agricultural Implements, Kramer Wagons, Buggies, Carts, Wheel Barrows, Brammer Washing Machines, New Sunshine and Howard Ranges, Stoves, Table and pocket Cutlery, Hanging Lamps, Manufacturer of Tinware, Tin Roofing and Spouting A Specialty.

WHERE A CHILD CAN BUY AS CHEAP AS A MAN.

There is no Doubt As to where you should buy your new dress, if economy is the object you have in view, and you will agree with us, after you have examined our line and prices in Silks, Satins, Cashmores, Serges, Henriettes, Broadcloths, Flannels, English Suitings in plain and novelty plaids.

UNDERWEAR For Ladies, Gents, Misses and Children which we know can not be equaled anywhere for value and price.

CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, AND LACE CURTAINS In all the new fall patterns and designs.

COATS, Ever brought to Butler, to convince you that the place to do your trading is with us, all we ask is that you call and examine prices and be convinced.

TROUTMAN'S, Leading Dry Goods and Carpet House, Butler, Pa.

BARGAINS IN WATCHES, Clocks, Jewelry And silverware.

H. FULLERTON, Prop'r, Blankets, Flannels and Yarn Manufactured of Pure Butteley County Wool.

MEADVILLE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

EDUCATIONAL. Puffs College, CURRY Business College, MEADVILLE College.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS. P. W. LOWRY, ATTORNEY AT LAW, A. E. RUSSELL, ATTORNEY AT LAW, IRA McJUNKIN, ATTORNEY AT LAW, W. C. FINDLEY, ATTORNEY AT LAW, H. H. GOUCHER, ATTORNEY AT LAW, J. F. BRITAIN, ATTORNEY AT LAW, NEWTON BLACK, ATTORNEY AT LAW, JOHN M. RUSSELL, ATTORNEY AT LAW, C. F. L. McQUISTION, ENGINEER AND SURVEYOR, G. M. ZIMMERMAN, CLERGYMAN AND RECTOR, SAMUEL M. BIPPUS, Physician and Surgeon, W. R. TITZEL, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, DR. S. A. JOHNSTON, DENTIST, L. S. McJUNKIN, Insurance and Real Estate Ag't, E. E. ABRAMS & CO, Fire and Life INSURANCE, BUTLER COUNTY Mutual Fire Insurance Co., J. C. ROESSIG, PRESIDENT, W. M. CAMPBELL, TREASURER, H. C. HEINEMAN, SECRETARY, DIRECTORS: J. L. Purvis, William Campbell, C. C. Koenig, J. F. Taylor, Samuel Anderson, Burkhardt Anderson, Andrew Oliver, James Stephenson, H. C. Heineman.

Are your wages small? Are you the head of a family? With marketing bills large?

BROOKE HALL, For Girls and Young Ladies, Shortridge Media Academy, For Boys and Young Men, WITHIN C. SHORTIDGE, A. M. MEDIA, PA., (Near Philadelphia).

BARGAINS IN wall Paper.

For the next sixty days we will offer bargains in all our gilt and embossed wall papers, in order to reduce stock and make room for Holiday Goods.

J. H. Douglass, Near Postoffice, Butler Pa.

J. E. Kastor, Practical Slate Roofers.

Ornamental and Plain Slatings

Office with W. H. Morris, No. 7, N. Main St., Residence North Elm street, Butler, Pa.

Wm. F. Miller, Manufacturer of Stair Rails, Balusters and Newel-posts.

BUY YOUR HOMES Money to Buy Homes. Monthly does not more than a fair rent. Payments decrease yearly. In event of death property to continue in payments, balance of mortgage cancelled.

L. G. LINN, No 38 South Main St., Butler, Pa. over Linn's Drug Store.

SCHUTTE & O'BRIEN Sanitary Plumbers

And Gas Fitters, of more than 30 years experience, have opened their store in the Geo. Heller block, on Jefferson St., opposite the Laundry House, with a full line of Plumbers' Supplies, GAS FIXTURES AND GLOBES, HANGING AND TABLE LAMPS, NATURAL GAS BURNERS, etc. Jobbing promptly attended to, and your patronage respectfully solicited.

UNION WOOLLEN MILL, BUTLER, PA.

H. FULLERTON, Prop'r, Blankets, Flannels and Yarn Manufactured of Pure Butteley County Wool.

MEADVILLE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

WANTED—Agents to solicit orders for our cases and heavy Nursery Stock. Study Work For Executive Temperate Men. Salary and expenses or commission if preferred. Write at once. State Age, Address, etc. R. G. Chase & Co., 149 South Penn St., Philadelphia, Pa.

A TALE OF VALLE CRUCIS.

During the summer of 1888, it was the writer's pleasure to accompany the late Judge W. C. Findley on a tour of the North Carolina on his circuit through the wild portion of that State. At night, sitting around a blazing fire, we were often entertained by tales of mountain life told by the mountaineers themselves in a most interesting manner. The following little history of the life of one of these mountain people, usually so free from any little place called Valle Crucis, in Mitchell county, is especially interesting to our party.

"Judge," said an old mountaineer, addressing the gubernatorial candidate, "that's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

longing to see his back. He had been told that the mountain was a good place to live in, but he had never seen it before. He had heard that the mountain was a good place to live in, but he had never seen it before.

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

"That's a little gate over your mountain side, that'll take you over there in time," said the old man, "but you'll have to go over it first."

There's A Green Grave in Ireland.

There's a green grave in Ireland, where my heart lies buried deep. Where my heart lies buried deep, where my heart lies buried deep.

There's a green grave in Ireland, where my heart lies buried deep. Where my heart lies buried deep, where my heart lies buried deep.

There's a green grave in Ireland, where my heart lies buried deep. Where my heart lies buried deep, where my heart lies buried deep.

There's a green grave in Ireland, where my heart lies buried deep. Where my heart lies buried deep, where my heart lies buried deep.

There's a green grave in Ireland, where my heart lies buried deep. Where my heart lies buried deep, where my heart lies buried deep.

There's a green grave in Ireland, where my heart lies buried deep. Where my heart lies buried deep, where my heart lies buried deep.

There's a green grave in Ireland, where my heart lies buried deep. Where my heart lies buried deep, where my heart lies buried deep.

There's a green grave in Ireland, where my heart lies buried deep. Where my heart lies buried deep, where my heart lies buried deep.

The Music He Likes.

"I always thought I was fond of music," said Farmer Green, "but since I visited Matilda in Boston I've had my doubts about it. I don't think I'll ever play again."

"I always thought I was fond of music," said Farmer Green, "but since I visited Matilda in Boston I've had my doubts about it. I don't think I'll ever play again."

"I always thought I was fond of music," said Farmer Green, "but since I visited Matilda in Boston I've had my doubts about it. I don't think I'll ever play again."

"I always thought I was fond of music," said Farmer Green, "but since I visited Matilda in Boston I've had my doubts about it. I don't think I'll ever play again."

"I always thought I was fond of music," said Farmer Green, "but since I visited Matilda in Boston I've had my doubts about it. I don't think I'll ever play again."

"I always thought I was fond of music," said Farmer Green, "but since I visited Matilda in Boston I've had my doubts about it. I don't think I'll ever play again."

"I always thought I was fond of music," said Farmer Green, "but since I visited Matilda in Boston I've had my doubts about it. I don't think I'll ever play again."

"I always thought I was fond of music," said Farmer Green, "but since I visited Matilda in Boston I've had my doubts about it. I don't think I'll ever play again."

Let Your Mind Aid Your Hands.

At the present time there are too many who endeavor to be successful, or in other words who try to get their living by main strength and ironing out of body control, in the neglect of a proper education in early life. In some cases physical exertion may be necessary to the accomplishment of the end sought, but in nine cases out of ten this is a simple waste of strength through the neglect of mental training and remains one of the philosophy of the proverbial son of Erin, who while not lacking in wit is not, for he will invariably attempt to make his muscle do what his mind ought to do, or at least what it ought to assist in doing.

Good judgment is oftentimes more valuable than years of experience. Some would not put the least bit of calculation into a piece of work, and they might work on for days, putting out all their physical energy, but the work, never for a moment doubting that that is the only means of accomplishing it.

But turn to the proverbial Yankee, who is not particularly fond of exerting himself physically, and who generally contrives to make his mind save his body, and quite a difference is noticed. Instead of hammering, straining, and doing the work himself, he deliberately sits down to "figure out" some device for accomplishing the same result. It's difficult task presents itself. Here, where apparently considerable muscle is required, he looks the thing over, and generally contrives some means of doing it without "putting his shoulder to the wheel." In other words, he lets his mind help his hands.

Here is just where the intelligent and thoughtful workman has the advantage of the illiterate and ignorant, and is the reason why we find so many really good workmen, so far as physical force is concerned, plodding along, earning barely enough to support themselves.

What American workmen need is to cultivate their minds, and equalize the labor between the mind and body, resulting in a more perfect condition of both, and rendering their services more skillful and themselves more valuable workmen.

Let your mind help your hands, and you will find your work easier, your life happier, and your condition generally much improved.—The Practical Mechanic, Worcester, Mass.

Disease of the Heart. In diseases of the heart which persist for a long time and finally end in a very large proportion of them do—in slow decline and a lingering death, dropsy always sets in. In the later stages it is a most intractable symptom, and adds greatly to the suffering experienced. In the treatment, physicians have been convinced that to depend largely upon a diet of milk, which is cases where it will be borne and can be persisted in, always acts well. But there are many patients who, for various reasons, cannot be kept on a milk diet for any length of time. To some extent, it is engaged in light Jugs. Prof. Gernsheim has long been convinced that the one important element is sugar of milk. Acting upon that theory, he selected 25 patients with heart disease, in all of which there was more or less dropsy. To each he gave 100 grammes of the sugar of milk a day, dissolved in two quarts of water. In all these cases a marked effect upon the kidneys was felt within 24 to 48 hours, and the dropsies diminished rapidly, and almost all such swellings disappeared altogether after a course of treatment lasting from six to eight days. This discovery is likely to prove one of the most important which has been made in the medical world for years.—Scientific American.

His Day is Done. "Ha!" exclaimed the old citizen as he turned into Washington avenue and met a acquaintance, "that's a commingled parcel of the old of 1815. That fall—" "Say, have you any tobacco about you?" interrupted the other. "Yes—here it is. When I walk out of a day and see what changes fifty years have brought I am—" "Thanks, buying any real estate now?" "That's all to mind the prices of real estate fifty years ago. Do you know that when I came to Detroit the only building on this street that could be at the post-office at that time?" "The old citizen looked after him and his head. He turned and made his way homeward with grave doubts in his mind—doubts if any man, who would not feel and avoid his time with fifty years ago, will ever be a successful business man or a good citizen.—Detroit Free Press.

The National Road should be kept.

During the drying operations now going on in the part of Santander, Spain, the well-preserved remains of a war ship were encountered at the entrance to the harbor, where she lay on her side, which must have gone down in that spot four centuries ago. As the dredgers could not remove the old hull, the Spanish government ordered it to be blown up, and to employ divers for saving what could be saved. The work has turned out a very profitable one, and great care is consequently displayed. The vessel dates probably from the end of the fifteenth or the beginning of the sixteenth century. Guns and other solid substance must extend at least for a foot below the surface in order to withstand any heavy carriages. In many cases an equally good result can be accomplished by covering the surface with peated coatings of any shrubby vegetable matter. In northern Minnesota I have seen the material known as "excelsior," i. e., strips of shavings, cut by machinery from blocks of wood, serve admirably to prevent the motion of the clay, and I am of the opinion that it would be clay country, where stone cannot readily be obtained, but where timber is plenty, be an admirable device to have a machine for making excelsior to be used as a road material. The surface which woody matter rapidly decays, but when worked by the wheels in the clay it may last for several seasons. At no great cost the material might be saturated with creosote, and thus rendered much more resisting to decay. The material from Italy, taken with trophies and plunder, may serve the purpose. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved, there are, besides Spanish coins of the time of the Catholic kings, numerous coins with the head of Charles VIII. of France and the various Italian States of the time. Since the discovery was made, the diving and saving operations are carried on with great energy, and it is hoped to meet with valuable equipments raised show the united coats of arms of Castile and Aragon, and some bear the scroll of Isabella la Católica, other the crown of Ferdinand the Catholic. As among the numerous arms found on board there are many of Italian or French origin, and the vessel appears to have served as a transport, it is generally supposed that she belonged to the expedition of Gonzalo de Cordoba against Naples, and that the founder of her return from Italy, laden with trophies and plunder, on entering the port of Santander. This surmise is supported by the fact that along the coast saved,