ONCE upon a time when "Grammar-George" McCandless, of Centre Twp., was deeply provoked with one of his neighbors, he told him that his actions "stirred in his breast emotions of inefficable contempt," and if the action of the Republican members of the House at Harrisburg, last Friday, in refusing to listen to a second reading of Mr. Thompson's resolution censuring J. Our members of the Legislature, Messrs. Thompson and Williams, have set themselves right with our people in the effort made by them and twenty-three fellow members of the House to censure J. Don. Cameron for his treachery to the Republican party They were deceived by Cameron into voting for him for U. S. Senator and as soon as they discovered the legelit they endeavored to correct the misdeceit they endeavored to correct the mistake. The 25 members who voted for the colution offered by Mr. Thompson will

The movement made in Congress to elect United States Senators should be pushed with all vigor. Now is the time, and through Congress is the shortest road to that end. The resolution offered in the House of the Legislature last Friday by Hon. Josiah M. Thompson, one of our members, will be found in the CITIERN this week. It expresses the feelings of the Republicans of our county and is just the kind of censure that should have passed on Don Cameron. But the Cameron henchmen were too numerous. Mr. Thompson however stuck to it bravely and when he again called it up on Monday last it received the votes of 25 of the best members in the House.

An Impotent Conclusion.

The Legislature which is responsible for fastening Cameron on the State for another six years tried to sneak under some sort of a cover yesterday by instructing the Sena-tor to vote for a bill he has already killed. all the mischief he is capable of at ent and has fled from the uncomfort present and has fied from the uncomfortable association with the men he has deceived and betrayed, to the less oppressive atmosphere of Southern Virginia.

If the Republicans of the Legislature owned themselves and even approximately represented the feelings of their constitutents, they would in strong, emphatic and explicit language have rebuked the recreant Senator, who first grossly deceived them and then basely betrayed his party. The opportunity was open to these mem-represented the feelings of their constituents, they would in strong, emphatic and explicit language have rebuked the recreast Senator, who first grossly deceived the recreast Senator, who first grossly deceived the recreast Senator, who first grossly deceived them and then beasily betrayed his party. The opportunity was open to these members to retrieve, in some measure, the great blunder of last week by demanding Cameron's resignation and denouncing his set of political perflyd by which he defeated his party and his President on a vital party measure.

We congratulate General Gobin on the success with which he controls his indignation. The success with which he controls his indignation of the party hat, gave the latter the necessary vote in cancus. Yet, instead of resenting the deceived which has placed him in such a compromising position, as a man of spirit and probity should, he proposes nothing more drastic than the belated instructions, and approbity should, he proposes nothing more drastic than the belated instructions, and approbity should, he proposes nothing more drastic than the belated instructions, and approbity should, he proposes nothing more drastic than the belated instructions, but he proposes nothing have three supervisors, and each country and probity should, he proposes nothing more drastic than the belated instructions, and support his position in language as virile and forceful as the bleating of a even lamb.

Senator Robinson made some just criticism of the feelbe resolution of instruction, but he proposes nothing better. Both Robinson and color made some claim to independent when the position of explaints who, after a roiding an enterprise when it was solvent, put all their money in it the day before it closes of the second o as well as political sameity, yet neither stood up yesterday and proposed a vote of censure on the man who had dealt them so secure the attention of the committee, a

The Washington correspondent of the New York Mail and Express explains the late remarkable breaks made by J. Trade was never built up in that way. It is the house that attracts the purchasers. "Oh, yes, that's a mighty good scheme for the newspapers!" says the non-progressive merchant. So it is, of course, for they get paid for giving the merchant publicity, and the more publicity they give him the more they should be paid. But as good a scheme as it is for the newspapers, it is a better one for the merchant. If any one doubts it let him make a list of the most successthen examine the papers to see if they are not the most liberal ad-
