WILLIAM R. PATTERSON. Republican State Convention

Chairman Andrews of the Republican State Committe, issued the following oa for the holding of the State convention this

PHILADELPHIA, Pa; June 20, 1891.—To the Republican Electors of Pennsylvania: After consultation and correspondence with the members of the Republican State Committee, and by their direction, I hereby give notice that the Republicans of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives will meet in State Convention, at Harrisburg, on Wednesday, August, 19th 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the offices of the State Treasurer and Auditor Genaral, for the nomination of eighteen candidates for delegates at large to the Constitutional Convention provided for in the act of Assembly approved on June 19th, 1891, and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented.

Notice is specially directed to the fact that in accordance with the provisions of the last mentioned act, each Senatorial district is entitled to a representation of three delegates in said constitutional convention, two of whom only can be members of the majority party in said district. The electors of each district are therefore requested to make proper nominations for delegates to said convention, the rules governing the nomination of cadidates for State Senator to be applicable.

At the same election the people will vote as to whether or no there shall be a constitutional convention at all—whether or no they wish the State constitution revised. If they vote for revising the constitution the members elected will proceed to do their duties and if not their election becomes a nullity.

So uncertain and complex a feature of the law is not to be commended, as it may prevent a fair expression of the people on the question of revision, and may have an influence on the membership, but the safe plan will be for us to assume that there will be a convention and elect the best men who offer themselves.

They challenge the Democrats to a direct issue on that unequivocal Republican measure, the misrepresentation of which was made to injure the party last year before its great merits were known. The Ohio contest this year is thus made one of national importance by the frank presentation of the McKinley bill as an issue in a fairly representative Republican State. The significance of the response next November to this challenge cannot be mistaken anywhere. The Ohio Republicans show the courage and reality of their consultation. Tuesday afternoon Governor Pattison vetoed the Legislative and Congressional Apportionment bills. He states at length his reasons for disapproving these measures and says he is satisfied to wait until the people elect a Legislature that will pass bills of this kind fair to both parties.

The Governor explains the manner in which the ratio for legislative apportionment is found by dividing the population of the State, according to the census of 1889, by 2,000, which is 26,290. He says every intention of the system is to protect and preserve the rights of the smaller districts, and the manifest tendency is toward single representative districts. Continuing, the Governor says:

to know there is no better or surer way of increasing sales than by giving their customers satisfaction. To this end have they always worked. All the experience that twenty-three years can bring to bear on the subject, both as a manufacturer of fertilizers and as a practical farmer, are employ-ed in the making of Thomas' Goods. Coupled with this are the extensive works of the Company with every modern improvement. It is because of these facilities and facts that the Thomas' Bone Fertilizers are so highly recommended and come so strongly guaranteed. See our agents through-
