-The grasshopper has put in an appear-ance in Western Pennsylvania, after an absence of many years, and is doing busily damage the farmers. Thus far the hop pers have confined their depredations to leave it to perish. A German township farmer says they cut off 25 bushels of oats om a small field. It is thought that the late sudden and severe rain storms have merely delayed the attack upon the grain, and that it will suffer later on. A Tyrone township farmer says one-third of his oats crop has been cut off by the pests, and that eat deal of his grass has been destroyed by them .- Connellsville Courier.
