Harvey Miller had a lively and unpleasant experience at the well owned by himself and others on the Cochran farm in Concord twp., a few days ago. Something went wrong with the well, and he and Jim McClung went up there, and found the fire under the boiler out and the water init freezing, but the gas was turned on and was escaping. Harvey got a long pole and tied paper to it, and while standing some thirty feet from the boiler, scraped the match against the pole,—and then there was an explosion—one that made Harvey turn a somersault, burned his face and hands, and cropped his hair, mustache and eyebrows. This was in the open air, and the escaping gas was clinging close to the Earth.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES. A six-ply bigamist, who sails under the of Anderson and Madison is in jail in Cleveland. The most novel postoffice contest in the State is now in at Kennett Square, Cheser county. John C. Walton, the present ncumbent, is a Democrat, and his Re publican wife is seeking to dethrone him and be appointed in his place. The plucky woman is in the fight to win, and if she does not win, it will not be because she has left very many stones unturned in her truggle. A number of prominent local epublicans politicians have rallied under the banner of the ambitious wife. The office is worth $1,600 a year. Mrs. Walton nes from a Republican family and has herself always been outspoken in her zeal or that party. Her husband is just as good a Democrat. He was appointed postmaster by President Cleveland. A delightful opportunity of visiting the National Capital in its most attractive season while both houses of Congress are in session and all the departments open to visitors, is presented by a series of four special excursions of the Pennsylvania Railroad, January 21st, February 4th, 11th, anb 25th 1892. Excursion tickets will be good for ten days from date of sale, admitting of a stop over in Baltimore in either direction within the proper limit, and tourists will travel in a special train of parlor cars and day coaches. of parlor cars and day coaches.

The tickets will be good for use on any regular train of the dates above named except limited express trains. The return coupons will be valid for passage on any regular train within the return limit except the Pennsylvania Limited.

THE ROBBERY.

Fully Decided What to Do. On the morning of the robbery at ny store intimate friends suggested I had better sell goods on credit again, then thieves would not after my money. To the gentlemen who were so anxious to see the in- Cloaks at side of my safe, would say, "You better give it up." The amount we carry over night wont pay you to have thought the matter over fully nle of Rutler and vicinity appreciate a store where they know they pay for just what they get.
and I take this method of informing my patrons that my ways in the promise to handle goods on closer margins than ever I got the money for every dollar's worth of goods we sold in 1891, and know now just what can be done. See my prices:
