The County Committee met Saturday afternoon at lo'clock to fix a date for the primary election for the nomination of a candidate for the judgeship. The usual preliminaries transacted, the resignation of Hon. John M. Greer as 'del-egate from the fourth ward was read and accepted and E. S. Riddle, Esq. was ap-pointed by the Chair to fill the vacancy. Thomas Robinson, Esq. then arose and introduced a motion fixing June 4th as the date for the election. He said that he had thought it over carefully and concluded that that date was the best that could be selected. A second primary in the spring is a hardship, but about June 4th is a slack time for farmers. Mr. C. F. Smith moved to amend by making it June 25th. He swould not permit of a canvass proportion-ate to the importance of the offic. Esq. Snyder followed agreeiag with Mr. Smith. He thought that June 25 would be just as suitable to the farmer as June 4. The debate became quite, animated and among those who took part for June 25 were Messrs Brown, Deets, Smith, Duncan and Snyder, while those favoring earlier dates were Robinson, A. L. Campbell, Demison, Cooper, Welsh, Jamison and the start strates is a manufacturing State that Pennsylvania wears her crown of glory. The Story of Lizzie Saltsgiver. PENNSYLVANIA.

PERNSYLVANIA. At the great Memorial Banquet, given by the Americas Club in Pittsburgh, Wednesday evening of last week, Hon. John Dalzell, always a welcome speaker, had the toast "Pennsylvania." All through it was greeted with prolonged applause. He said: "There is no rhetoric more burning, no logic more convincing than the rhetoric and logic of facts and figures. Pennsylvania is an empire within herselt. Reaching from tide water to the great au-salted sea, she embraces more than two degrees of latitude and an area of 45,000 square miles. Her population now over 5,250,000, has increased 22.77 per cent. in the last ten years, and it is to be noted that this population is almost equally divided between her cities and towns, 325 in number, where men engage in manu-

The Story of Lizzie Saltsgiver. With a smile on her once pretty face and a don't-care-a-cent swagger, Mrs. Lizzie Saltagiver, the horse thief, answered to the Saltagiver, the horse thief, answered to the call of her name in the Quarter Sessions Court of Venango Co., last Friday morn-ing, as she stood up before Judge Taylor for sentence. The kindly words of the Judge might as well have been spoken to betray the least emotion when the Judge sentenced her to two years at hard labor the Western Penitentiary for stealing a horse and buggy from N. B. Myers, of Franklin, on March 26. Though but 28 years of age, Mrs. Saltsgiver has crowded many more years of wicker sock, of Sugarcreek township, a very re-spectable eitzen and has endeavored to to convert his rash sister to a better life, but his good offices have been in vain. his good that this population is analyse to a space of the second s
