

THE CITIZEN

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1922.

Butler has a population of about 10,000. It is the county seat of Butler County, with 10,000 people.

New Advertisements.

Administrator's Sale, estate of James M. Roman. Public sale of Music store. Barnhart & Son's Clothing.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

New York Weekly Tribune-Free. By special arrangements made for our doing, we are enabled to offer to all our subscribers who pay arrearsages, (if any) and one year in advance, and to all new subscribers paying in advance, the New York Weekly Tribune free for one year.

- Bananas salad is a late dish. The coffee man is stone dead. The tin-type days seem numbered. Jag-cruc graduates are multiplying. Drag evenings are conducive to social ability. Drum majors are practicing new strains. English filberts grown in Jersey are a novelty.

- Chas. Hardisty, alias Miller, received the annual sentence for 18 months, and is to pay $25, fine, and costs. James Cassidy was found not guilty of shooting a gambling house, and the county will pay the costs. Mary Fell was found not guilty of shooting Edwin Fleischer, and the county paid the expenses of the twelve prosecuting witnesses.

- On Monday, in Pittsburgh, Judge McWhorter sentenced Berkman to twenty-one years in the penitentiary and one year in the workhouse. James Cassidy languishes in jail. At Kennedy's livery last Monday he tried to kill a man in a hearing. The term cost the county $500. For James Cassidy, upstate and stenographer, with the Commonwealth costs to be heard from.

- The Grand Jury of Allegheny Co., returned two bills against 23 of the Duponts rioters. On Monday, in Pittsburgh, Judge McWhorter sentenced Berkman to twenty-one years in the penitentiary and one year in the workhouse. James Cassidy languishes in jail.

- Francis McManus was appointed constable of Venango twp., vice M. Higgins resigned; and the resignation of John March as auditor of Lancaster twp. was accepted. A dispatch from Pottsville, dated Tuesday, said that "the Sheriff of Schuylkill county has gone to Butler, Pa., to look at the building of the new court house to Pottsville which he may enter jail for the indicted persons found against him."

- Richard H. Starke, Tarentum, Pa., died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at his home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa. Mrs. M. E. Starke, his wife, died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at her home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa.

LEGAL NEWS.

Two Jurors were out when we went to press last Thursday afternoon—both shooting cases—man shooting and dog shooting. The trial of the man shooting the dog was postponed until next Monday.

Abel Cross and William Graham found guilty of aggravated assault and battery upon Fred. Bentler and his wife, at the public gate, were each sentenced to the penitentiary for two years and 10 months, a fine of $500 each and costs of prosecution.

Chas. Hardisty, alias Miller, received the annual sentence for 18 months, and is to pay $25, fine, and costs. James Cassidy was found not guilty of shooting a gambling house, and the county will pay the costs.

On Monday, in Pittsburgh, Judge McWhorter sentenced Berkman to twenty-one years in the penitentiary and one year in the workhouse. James Cassidy languishes in jail. At Kennedy's livery last Monday he tried to kill a man in a hearing.

Francis McManus was appointed constable of Venango twp., vice M. Higgins resigned; and the resignation of John March as auditor of Lancaster twp. was accepted. A dispatch from Pottsville, dated Tuesday, said that "the Sheriff of Schuylkill county has gone to Butler, Pa., to look at the building of the new court house to Pottsville which he may enter jail for the indicted persons found against him."

Richard H. Starke, Tarentum, Pa., died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at his home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa. Mrs. M. E. Starke, his wife, died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at her home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa.

Richard H. Starke, Tarentum, Pa., died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at his home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa. Mrs. M. E. Starke, his wife, died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at her home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa.

Richard H. Starke, Tarentum, Pa., died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at his home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa. Mrs. M. E. Starke, his wife, died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at her home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa.

The End of the War.

So far as the Butler County is concerned the War at Homestead ended last Monday. The 15th Regiment broke camp that morning, and had all their things on board the special train provided for them before noon, but the train moved slowly and did not reach Butler until after 4 p. m. The Regiment disembarked here, horses were provided for the officers, and the regiment formed and marched up Main Street—eight companies of about fifty men each, and they marched slowly and looked well. General Wiley is quoted as saying that this regiment from the highest officer to the lowest private, have shown themselves in point of military discipline and general deportment the finest body of men he has ever been called upon to command.

The town was decorated, the people were out, and the soldiers were pleased with their reception. After the parade the regiment had lunch at the depot, furnished by the Butler Co., and then the seven companies went on up the road, while the Butler company repaired its hall, and was disbanded.

The 16th Regiment remains in camp and is considered to be fully able to cope with what spirit of outlying remains in Homestead. The outlook there was not so bright, and it was accompanied by deeds of cruelty that have not been told. A Pittsburgh newspaper reporter recently told a friend what he saw at Homestead during the riots. He got there on the day the strikers boarded the barges on which the Pinkertons were confined, and he saw things that have not, as yet, appeared in print. Said he: "I reached Homestead on the afternoon of the day the fighting took place, and of course, I was regarded as a suspicious character. I had been sent to write up the strike, and I had my credentials, so when the advisory committee tackled me and put me through a course of catechism, I convinced them that I was all right, and I was permitted to roam about in search of news. I went up to the river bank where the Pinkertons were moored in their barges and saw the strikers fire dynamite and things at them, and then I got up on a converter with a lot of other newspaper men to watch the outcome. A white flag was hoisted from the boat, and in a few minutes the negotiations for a surrender were completed. The Pinkerton men were marched up a steep incline to the top of the bank, near the edge of which was a section of pipe about three feet in diameter. Planks had been placed against either side of the pipe and up one side of the top and down the other to the ground the Pinkertons had to walk. A dozen or so had walked over the pipes before there was any show of hostility. Then a woman reached down and gathered up a handful of sand which she threw in a man's face. That was the signal for the attack. Every man as he stepped down from the plank was struck or clubbed unmercifully. I counted fifteen men on the ground at once, and men and women kicked and hit each other. I saw one man hit by a brickbat and he fell into the water. I saw one man hit by a brickbat and he fell into the water. I saw one man hit by a brickbat and he fell into the water."

On Monday, in Pittsburgh, Judge McWhorter sentenced Berkman to twenty-one years in the penitentiary and one year in the workhouse. James Cassidy languishes in jail. At Kennedy's livery last Monday he tried to kill a man in a hearing. The term cost the county $500. For James Cassidy, upstate and stenographer, with the Commonwealth costs to be heard from.

Francis McManus was appointed constable of Venango twp., vice M. Higgins resigned; and the resignation of John March as auditor of Lancaster twp. was accepted. A dispatch from Pottsville, dated Tuesday, said that "the Sheriff of Schuylkill county has gone to Butler, Pa., to look at the building of the new court house to Pottsville which he may enter jail for the indicted persons found against him."

Richard H. Starke, Tarentum, Pa., died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at his home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa. Mrs. M. E. Starke, his wife, died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at her home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa.

Richard H. Starke, Tarentum, Pa., died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at his home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa. Mrs. M. E. Starke, his wife, died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at her home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa.

Richard H. Starke, Tarentum, Pa., died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at his home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa. Mrs. M. E. Starke, his wife, died at 10:30 p. m. Monday, at her home, 1019 North 14th St., Pottsville, Pa.

Humpy Dumpty.

At the special meeting of Tuesday evening, the Committee of Council on garbage reported that they had leased an acre from Chas. Duffy, along the creek, west of town, at $50 a year; had a gas line to it and are now ready to build a furnace for cremating garbage, if the Council said so, and the Council approved of their action and told them to go ahead. The furnace will cost from $300 to $400, and two members of the Committee are in Pittsburgh to-day looking at the garbage furnace in that vicinity.

The Light Committee reported that besides the 50 arc lights, they had put up 2 torch lights in the grounds, 2 on Third St., 2 on Hickory St., and 3 in the western part of town, and 1 or 2 others, and requested to be discharged from further duty which was done. The people of Elm St. petitioned for more light.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

A banana peel on the sidewalk led to a murder in Pittsburgh, last week. Charles Gardner, a Baltimore and Ohio freight brakeman, slipped up on the yellow skin, tumbled overboard and struck his head on the feet of the engine. He was killed. The police are investigating the case.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

PERSONAL.

Will Rodgers intends moving to Findlay, Ohio. Henry Jamison, and his son-in-law Mr. E. D. Thomas, of Allegheny township, were in town on business, Monday. Mr. Jamison is a full time farmer, and says that he is now setting up his estate.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

At Kittanning, Friday, the jury in the case of Henry Hartman, charged with the murder of Andrew Swartz, of Worthington, brought in a second degree verdict, and on Saturday Hartman was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

The Best Is D O N O T F O R G E T

That we have the largest stock of clothing in Butler. That we sell good reliable clothing cheaper than any other firm in the county. That we never misrepresent. All goods must be as represented or your money will be refunded. That we have been in the business for a long time and have studied the wants of our customers, therefore we know what you want and endeavor to please.

And lastly, that when you come to Butler, do not forget to call on us. We have a large store full of Clothing for Men, Boys and Children. We are always willing to quote prices and we don't consider it a trouble to show goods.

H. Schneideman 104 S. Main St., Butler, Pa.

INSURANCE COMPANY OF NORTH AMERICA, 100th Year. Assets $9,278,220.00. Home of New York, Assets $9,270,640.00. Hartford of Hartford, Assets $6,743,046.84. Continental of New York, Assets $5,806,784.91. NEW YORK LIFE, Assets $125,947,190.81.

Office of E. E. ABRAMS & CO. 115 to 121 Federal Street, Allegheny, Pa.

Boggs & Buhl, 115 to 121 Federal Street, Allegheny, Pa.

Chapter 1. School—small boy—stern parent—little money—school books—pleading boy—miserable parent.

Public Sale of Organs and Pianos and all kinds of Musical Merchandise. Five thousand dollars worth of organs and pianos will be offered at Public Sale at Williams & Butler's Music Store, 315 South Main St., October 1st, 1892.

AL RUFF, 114 South Main street, Butler, Pa. Job Work of all kind done at the "Citizen Office."