As soon as the doors of Music hall were opened there was a rush for seats and many who came later were thankful even to find standing room. Hon. W. E. Barrett presided and was flanked by a large number of leading men of the party seated upon the platform.

After a short introductory speech Hon. Whitelaw Reid was presented as the first speaker of the evening. As he stepped forward he was given a most flattering reception by the large audience, which was quick to note the sharp points of his address, and bestowed frequent applause.

Mr. Reid, after thanking those present for the magnificent reception, in part said:

When the producer called upon him to join in the shut-down, he inquired, "What are you going to do with the working people, who depend on drilling to support their familities! I am willing to support their familities! I am willing to support their down province in the working people, but rather than throw them idle for a year, I will absolute ly refuse to go into it.

It was quite a fight, but Mr. Phillips succeeded and through his efforts, two million barrels of oil were set apart, the increase in price from which was paid to the idle men in regular monthly parments. Workingmen, what other congressional district can you put your mind to, white has a candidate who in such a practical way has shown such true friendship and and real genuine feeling for the daily toke. He was not a candidate profit of the continuous that he has been made the standard bearer of his party for Congress, wery man who ever carried a tin pail to a workshop, mine or quarry should be glad of the opportunity to vote for such a friend. This statement has probably been printed before, but if Mr. Phillips had done one half this much in opposition to labor, it would be published and printed on every telegraph pole in the district. We should therefore be glad to know that a man's good deeds are made known as well as his bad.

The bandits are all going out. At Cerfeyville, Kansas, Tuesday, the Daltong gang rode into town and robbed the two banks, and then they were surrounded by citizens and five of them were killed, though it cost the lives of four citizens.

The plaintiff filed 16 exceptions to the master's report, and the defendant filed 88, and the Court made an entirely new distribution of the assests of the firm. Instead of finding a balance due Foster of $2,267.30 as found by the master, the Court found that Foster owed Verner $47.37.
