HAWKINS THE HEAD WHIP. lbert, Coachman at the White Hous

Albert Hawkins, the colored man who, since Gen. Grant's first term, has een head coachman at the white house, and in consequence an autocrat among the lesser lights of the stable, has rethe lesser lights of the statele, has betired on account of age. Change of politics happily made no difference in Albert's place, as there appears to have been a tradition handed down to each incoming administration that, whoever else went, the coachman was to remain. Whether or not he was credited with any peculiar qualities as a mascot does not appear, but one thing, according to Kate Field's Washington, was assured, and that was the very great veneration in which Albert held the office of chief and that was the very great veheration in which Albert held the office of chief magistrate. In his eyes the president of the United States—without regard to the individual—was the greatest potentate on earth, and as such entitled to right of way when driving. This idea led to some hairbreadth escapes, as a street barricaded for repairs presented no obstacles to progress in Albert's eyes. He would go crashing through the barriers, and when expostulated with by the family stoutly maintained that the president's carriage had a right to go anywhere, and never to waive the right to anyone. Though Albert would by no means acknowledge it, his eyesight had been poor for several years past, especially at night, when he would lose himself in the most unaccountable manner in the most familiar countable manner in the most familiar localities. One night just before his successor was appointed Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. McKee attended an evening and Mrs. McKee attended an evening reception, and of course rode home in the president's carriage. Suddenly it struck the ladies that they were a most unnecessarily long time in reaching the white house, and Mrs. McKee looking out of the windows in the darkness discovered that they were at Scott circle.

out of the windows in the darkness dis-covered that they were at Scott circle. While she watched Albert made the circuit twice. Then she called to the driver asking his reason for such a strange profeeding.

He was unwillingly obliged to admit that he had lost his way, but concluded to drive round and round the circle until he came across a familiar looking street, when he would immediately turn down.

GROWING IN STRENGTH. oman Said to Be Increasing in Size a Result of Physical Culture.

A statement is going the rounds, with a mixture of scientific and woman's department gossip, to the effect that the American woman is steadily growing in height, weight and comeliness. The latter part of the statement conveys no news to the male American, who has the test forced on his superatibilities even and the statement conveys no news to the male American, who has the test forced on his superatibilities even and the statement converse on his superatibilities. news to the male American, who has the fact forced on his susceptibilities every day. But that lovely woman is increasing in size, both perpendicularly and horizontally, is news calculated to make glad the heart of man, with the exception, perhaps, of him of diminutive stature. Of course this is the result of physical culture. As woman's mind was dwarfed by the pettiness of female education, so her body was dwarfed by the vices of female dress. The progress of the age toward giving women the same educational chances as men reveals to us the probability that woman's mental development may as men reveals to us the probability that woman's mental development may eventually become the same as that of men, and here we have a similar intimation that if female physical culture is carried far enough the woman may by taking thought add enough cubits to her stature to be the physical eque of man as well. The probability ha its disadvantages, according to the Pittsburgh Dispatch, for, as woman represents the leisure class of America, and is, therefore, able to give the most exs, therefore, able to give the most exclusive attention to these pursuits o clusive attention to these pursuits of culture, it may wind up by letting woman get beyond man in both intellectual and physical growth, which would be unpleasant for the lords of creation. Nevertheless, we cannot have too much good. The more there is of the American woman, both ph's ically and intellectually, the better the American male will like her. The American male will like her. The growth immediately holds out the pleasing hope that woman will grow, in both mind and body, sufficiently to keep the skirt of her dress above the dirt of the streets.

NATURAL ICEHOUSE.

Columbia River Curiosity Which Is Simply Unique.

In Washington a coulee is a ravine that a river has worn for itself and then abandoned for another course, says the New Orleans Picayune. The coulees of the Columbia river are immense ravines worn out of the basaltic rock, with perpendicular walls on either side from one thousand to fifteen hundred feet high. Through this re-feature is that the spot is only five hundred feet above the sea, and the sun beats with intense heat upon the rocks above the ice, which is also exposed to warm draughts of air through the crevices, yet the ice never melts.

ent kinds of grain ground than to sell his grain and buy his flour and feed. We don't believe in misrepresenting goods to the public, therefore do not put the same kind of flour in four or five different brands of sacks. We make a straight grade of flour. The brand is WHITE ROSE, the same as given to the farmer in exchange. We also make the IONA PATENT, which is a high grade of flour and stands with the best patents in the market. It is manufactured out of red winter wheat, blended with the best brand of Minnesota patent which gives it a superior quality. These brands of flour and all kinds of mill feed sold by us at the lowest prices. We are also in the market for wheat, We are also in the market for rye and buckwheat and will pay the highest prices for the same.

An Ancient Slot Machine.

The slot machine which has recently had such a run in all catch-penny schemes, and which has often been pointed out as the one thing "new under the sun," has been proven to have been in use in Egypt long before the birth of Christ. Hero describes a combination jug and slot machine used for the dispensation of holy water. A coin of the value of five drachmas dropped into a slot in the jug opened a group of the state of combination jug and slot machine used for the dispensation of holy water. A coin of the value of five drachms dropped into a slot in the jug opened a valve which permitted a few drops of the purifying liquid to escape. One of the ancient slot jugs is now in the British museum.
