THE CITIZEN A Good Story Teller.

While riding over the Pennsylvania Central the other day we encountered a conversation between two men in the seat just in front. One of them was a large man with a deep, bass voice with whiskers on it.

"This man John DuBois," he said, "was an old man who was worth about twenty millions of dollars, and he was a regular crank on the subject of patents. He insisted he was the inventor and rightful owner of every valuable patent he heard of."

"Oh, well," replied the old gentleman unconcernedly, "I presume you are right, but I don't believe in spoiling a good story by strictly sticking to the facts."

Hyperdermic injections of morphia are frequently prescribed by physicians for the cure of neuralgia, but its effects are only ephemeral and you will have to repeat the injections every day.

There is a man up in Sugar Grove, Pa., who is so anxious to engage in the government employ that he wants to work for nothing and pay $53 per year for the privilege.

—Josh Billings suggests that if a man is on his way to the woods to commit suicide and a bull suddenly gives chase the chances are that he will run for his life.

—A San Francisco exchange raises the alarm that California is suffering "a girl famine." In every large town in that State, with the exception of Alameda, there is a lamentable paucity of the gentler sex.

—A petrified man has been unearthed in Salt Lake City. Lying near the mouth of the pre-historic remains was this question, also petrified: Is this cold enough for you?

—President Diaz of Mexico is reputed to be worth thirty millions of dollars. A President like that is hard to beat in a country where every man has his price, and that a high one.

—A Dublin newspaper has an advertisement possibly more truthful than intended: "Wanted, a gentleman to undertake the sale of a patent medicine. The advertiser guarantees that it will be profitable to the undertaker."

Reports from Southern waters are abundant of willow. The cold weather of the past four or five weeks and the remarkable extent of the flight of these birds down the coast during the autumn are responsible for this abundance.

—At Palatka, Fla., a large hawk lately captured a young chicken, and in flying over the town with his cap on he became frightened and dropped it in front of a market. It is said that the chicken was not hurt much by the fall and has taken up its quarters in the store.

—The ice formations at Niagara Falls are reported very handsome. The ice bridge formed from the spray is a wonderful sight. It is many years since visitors have been granted such sights. Tourists are flocking to the Falls.

—Nothing so good for affections of the throat and chest, Miss J. G. Newman, Buffalo, N. Y., writes: "We think there is no remedy so good for coughs and hoarseness as Dr. Hall's Cough Syrup. Have used it in our family for the last five years, and would not like to be without it."

—Cold weather requires every one to be polite, therefore shut the door. Many a case of pneumonia is caused by the toothache of following to the front door a friend or relative and there wishing them good-by while the currents of air are rushing past you. The caller is warmly wrapped while the householder is not, and consequently endangers herself. Do not say good-bye at an open outside door while there is room in doors.

—The aristocratic canine must in reality be a gun-sprangled collar, or it is not really in the swim.

—Philadelphia street car poets are acknowledged in literary circles to be unappreciated.

—It is manufactured as a powder, which can be given in a glass of beer, a cup of coffee or tea, without the knowledge of the patient. It is absolutely harmless and will affect a permanent and lasting cure on the patient's system.

—Doctors have discovered two new brands of cholera bacilli to spring on the public next summer.
