On account of "the distrust and apprehension concerning the financial situation which pervade all business circles, have already caused great loss and damage to our people and threaten to cripple our merchants, stop the wheels of our manufactures, bring distress and privation to our farthe wage of labor," President Cleveland has called for an extra session of Congress to convene on Monday, August 7th.

The bankers and importers of the country are determined to have the silver pursing clause of what is called the Sherman law repealed. This law provides for the purchase by the National Government of four and a half million ounces of silver each month; and though it makes a forced market for that amount of silver, the production of that metal has increased so rapduction of that metal has increased so rapidly, that with the natural decrease in val.

was asked of ex President Harrison, and he answered:

"I hardly think so. The country is in a state of distrust. Who knows what Congress will do in August? Will it repeal the Sherman act or will it not? Will it attempt to legislate on other subjects? Will it put into legislate on other subjects? Will it put into legislate on the declarations in the Chicago platform? If it should do so, it would shake the business of this country from centre to circumference. I do not see how any free trader or tariff reformer can expect that this country can pass from can expect that this country can pass from a high tariff to a low tariff without con-

Western members who have shouting for free coinage, wild cat banks, and other wild schemes will act in the traces I cannot say. The President's duty will be done, however, when he calls Congress together and lays his recommendations before them."

THERE was rioting in the streets of Paris last week, the police were unable to disperse the crowds, which were charged by the cavalry, many were killed and wounded. Hostility to the police seemed to be the cause of the trouble.

out the World's Fair, now open at Chicago, and the Fair itself is so vast, so vared and so complete, that it is perplexing o one of ordinary mental capacity, who has spent a few days on the grounds and uildings to know just what to say of it. Upon entering the grounds and walking to the main Court one at once becom aware of the magnitude of the Fair, and vet he does not fully appreciate that one oint until at the end of the day, footsore and weary, he finds that he has seen but a mall fraction of the whole.

And again the beauty and elaborate detail of each of the great buildings, where all are so handsome and so complete is not appreciated until the differences in the nstruction and finish of each is noted. varied in architecture and ornamentation, with the lagoon and island park, viewed from either the top of the Main or Transform either either the top of the Main or Transform either the top of the Main or Transform either the top of the Main or Transform either either the top of the Main or Transform either the top of the Mai portation building makes as pretty a picture as one could wish to see, and as each of these great buildings is filled with the choicest productions of the entire civilized world the task of seeing it all within a limited time is a hopeless one.

Mr. Hahn.

Mrs. J. M. Greer opened the discussion of the subject, "Week-Day work for the Teacher." She was followed by Miss Young, Rev. Clark and Profs. Russell and McKee.

And again after walking through one vast building filled with exhibits after another, for several days, mind and body become weary, novelty palls and the sightser is as anxious to return home as he was to go. 'Twere better mix a little of the side show with the main circus, and pend a part of each day in what is called he Midway Plaisance, where Africans and last Indians can be seen in with the meeting next year. East Indians can be seen in imitations of their native villages, and where can be found the shops, and streets, and restaurants, and theaters of almost every civilized and half-civilized Nation of the Earth. The Japanese stores are the most patronized for novelties to take home, while there s almost always a crowd around the 11months old Chinese baby on exhibition on the second floor of the Chinese build-

One of the first things that each and every visitor should do is to go up to the roof of the Main building, where from a heighth of over two-hundred feet one can secure an excellent view of the grounds, lower part of the city and the lake, and stay as long as he wishes—in which rewheel is 50 cents and the balloon a dellar; and one of your trips between the Fair and the city should be made in the steamer for mmense wharfs at each end of the line are also worth seeing.

This should be done up in business shape, giving the number of acres in each piece, with the owners name, and the price asked. The State Commission may not be able to personally see and examine each and every location offered, and therefore it is very desirable to have a good plot of each to hand to them. These they will want at examine at their leisure.

As to price, we hope our people willing to sell will not frighten the Commission away with too high figures. A fair price should be asked, the worth of the land, and no more. So far as we have learned there is no disposition on the part of any to ask more than the real value of their land. It would be foolish to do so, and would only lessen our chances of securing the institution here.

But it is easy to see a ghost fourteen feet high, and it is easy for people to exaggerate the prospects of evil. I, for one, do not wish to embarrass my successor by attempting to magnify the present difficulties. The Republican party has never been a calamity party and has never been a calamity party and has never made capital for itself out of its country's wees. But I said last fall that the Chicago platform adopted by the Democratic party was essentially destructive, and the distrust among the people at the prospect of having its promises carried out shows that they are of the same way of thinking.

EDITOR CITIZEN—I wish to make mention through your valuable paper of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Keister which took place on July 6th, 1893, they being married fifty years on that date. The morning was a bright one and as the sun gradually crept higher and higher so did the relatives and friends of the above did the relatives and friends of the above named parties gather to the wedding with well filled baskets and their faces all aglow with joy and pleasure. The principal features of the morning were the wishing of the aged couple happiness, renewing old acquaintances and forming new ones, bu while thus enjoying themselves the dinner was not forgotten, as quite a numed with exhibits representing the progress made by the human race in producing everything that man can produce or aid in producing, and these exhibits will be of value to each visitor largely in proportion to the previous information he possesses regarding the subjects he investigates. The displays are almost infinite in number and variety, and at some of them of special interest, such as the diamond washing in the mining building, and the splendid model of the Victoria in the Transportation building, you will have to get in line and await your turn to go up the narrow gangway provided for the spectators.

The Chance of a life

A large manufactory shipped some buggies &c to some dealers in west ern Pennsylvania, who made assignments before the work arrived, and the ompany ordered the R. R. Co. to ship them to us and told us to sell them best we could and they would pay us for our trouble. We had enough contracted for to do us, but told them we would do so and now have them in our warerooms in Butler marked in plain figures. We must run them off quick to utilize the room in our regular work. They are a nice los and the price is a sacrifice. We have sold some but have thirteen jobs left, as follows:

Two Buckwagons worth in any market $ 45 we mark $ 36 96 125 One Surrey Two Buggies Three Buggies Three Buggies One Two Seat Spring Wagon

Now here is a chance to get a buggy at less than wholesale price. This den't happen often. They won't last long. Hurry along and don't forget that during the hot and dull weather we will sell you a harness or anything belonging to a driving or team outfit at a very low price. We cannot afford to sit around and let the flies suck what little blood we have. We would rather do business for nothing, and if low prices will bring us the trade we are bound to have it always.

J. M. Leighner.
