NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

Rev. Father Sheedy, whose pastorate includes Exchange alley in Pittsburg, where a certain Mrs. Graham keeps a notorious place, says that "Pittsburg to-day is ruled by politics, prostitution and whisky".

At Kittanning, last Saturday night, Minnie Evans, an eleven-year-old girl, choked to death, a piece of meat having lodged in her throat while at dinner. Although the accident befell her at that time, she went to school in the afternoon, but her teacher, noticing a larga amount of saliva flowing from her mouth, inquired the cause and on being informed sent her home to a physician. The obstruction could not be removed and she died at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Maybee and her children were gathered around a stove in their farm house near Pond Hill, when the place was struck by lightning, which tore up the floor, wrecked the stove and hurled the people about the room. A son of Mrs. Maybee, who was under treatment for a severe attack of asthma, found himself completely cured by the shock.

The Western Press says a Mr. Hasenplug, a farmer living west of Greenville, had a fine young horse which received a stone bruise in one of its feet about four weeks ago. The injury was slight, but was neglected, and the horse hobbled around for two weeks, and when it could go no longer it fell down in a meadow and laid there for two weeks. Large sores broke out all over its body and these were filled with living vermin. Hasenplug was arraigned before a justice of the and fined $26.40 for cruelty to animals.

THE KELLY CASE.

The Jury in the Forgery Case Stands 9 to 3 in Favor of Conviction. The Perjury Case Postponed till December Term.

Whether from its goodness or general interest to the public of Butler county, the Kelly case was saved for the last. The other cases on the Quarter Sessions docket for September term were not disposed of until towards noon of last Saturday, and then while Mike Scanlon was waiting for some good friend to come into Court and bail him in the sum of $600, the case of the Commonwealth against John C. Kelly for forgery was called; and the Clerk began calling a jury.

Three or four jurors had been called and had taken their seats in the box when Mr. Robinson came in and asked that the prosecution have the right to stand aside jurors as called,—a right which the law gives the Commonwealth in important cases—and the Court told the gentlemen already in in the box to leave it—and the Clerk began anew. Thompson filed a written objection and an exception was noted. Twenty seven names were called; ten were stood aside and from the other seventeen the following jury was selected:—Thomas McFarland, A. M. Donaldson, W. J. Douglass, R. M. Anderson, James Patterson, G. W. Worthington, James E. Miller, John Burtner, Andrew McCafferty, Alfred Miller, L. G. Madison and Thomas Woods.

Both Anderson and Patterson asked to be excused from serving on the jury because they were neighbors of the defendant, but the Court said it had no right to excuse them for such cause.

Kelly assisted in selecting his jury and before the jury was sworn, Mr. McQuistion of the defense, made a motion to quash the bill of indictment for the reason that the Grand Jury that heard the case had at first ignored it and that afterwards at the instance of the District Attorney McJunkin had changed their verdict and had changed the indorsement on the bill. Then he went on and charged the District Attorney with certain misdoings and talked till noon, when the Court asked him what proof he had of this, and he replied. "The affidavit of the defendant. "Was the defendant in the jury room?" asked the Court. "No, certainly not;" "Then where does this information come from?" "From Grand Jury men of course."

The motion to quash was refused; Kelly added an affidavit to the written exceptions, and it was filed and an exception noted.

The Court then cautioned the jury against talking to anybody about the case on trial, or listening to talk about the case when on trial, and added that it looked as though the defendant had been prowling around the Grand Jury. This remark was immediately objected to by the defense, and another exception noted.

At 1:30 p. m., the District Attorney read the bill of indictment to the jury—1st Count, forging fraudulent warrants on the county; 2nd Count, publishing and uttering the same—and opened the case. The Commonwealth would show that Kelly was elected a County Commissioner, that he was re-elected in 1887, and that with B. M. Duncan and A. J. Hutchison, he took the oath of office and his seat on the first Monday of January 1888, the way business was done in the office, the making and uttering of the fraudulent warrants, etc.

The witnesses for the prosecution were called and sworn.

Enos McDonald was the first witness. He lives in Franklin twp., is a farmer, was Clerk of the County Commissioners in 1889; Duncan, Hutchison and Kelly were the Commissioners, he issued the warrants which were usually signed by two Commissioners; all bills were paid by warrants drawn on the County Treasurer; Amos Seaton was County Treasurer; the Commonwealth costs were recorded in two large dockets; the County Commissioners referred to the dockets and the number of the warrant was entered on the docket when the cost was paid; persons receiving costs from the county receipted for same on the stub of the order; he had custody of the warrant book; he left the office on Saturday evening, April 20, 1889, and when he returned Monday morning he found that an order had been drawn in favor of John Shaffer; the stub book was produced and McDonald read the stubs of the several fraudulent warrants and stated that no costs were due the parties at the time the warrants were drawn excepting to John McElroy for $1.78 while the warrant drawn in his favor was for a larger sum; he had searched the Commonwealth dockets for seven months; the thirteen warrants aggregated $58.50; $54.40 had been refunded; all had been refunded that he was certain at the time were fraudulent; warrant No. 2500 to John McElroy for $4.10 was not refunded to him; he entered into no arrangement not to prosecute Kelly; at the time the money was refunded he turned the matter over to the Co. Commissioners; the money was refunded and Kelly resigned; in the Spring of 1891 he thought this matter should be examined on account of Kelly's misrepresentations; he saw Seaton and Wilson and was advised by his attorney not to prosecute; the matter was allowed to rest; two years expired, and he did not know until this spring when Kelly's candidacy revived it that it was yet open, and then he considered it his duty to prosecute. (Mr. McDonald's reasons for prosecuting were in answer to a question by Mr. Thompson of the defense; and before he got through, both Thompson and Forquer tried to stop him, but the Court decided that as they had asked the question, they should hear the full answer, and made Thompson and Forquer hold their peace, while the witness answered, exception noted, etc.) Witness detected Kelly's irregularities, but did not detect any irregularities in the doings of the other two Commissioners.

AMOS SEATON, Sworn, lives in Venango twp., was County Treasurer in 1889, had order of John Shaffer in his possession, couldn't say who presented the Shaffer order or any of the fraudulent orders, had cashed them, and the money for them was refunded to him.

GEO E. THOMAS, is County Detective, in company with District Attorney, called at the home of J. C. Kelly and demanded the warrants, and Kelly said he didn't know where they were, had mislaid them (Here the District Attorney asked Mr. Kelly to produce the warrants, and though his counsel objected and said the constitution protected and shielded him, and that the proceeding was illegal; Kelly arose and said he didn't know where the warrants were).

Amos Seaton was recalled and stated that he gave the warrants to Kelly, but couldn't say whose names were on them.

Enos McDonald was recalled and stated that he saw the warrants and that his name was on them as Clerk though he had not written it; that he knew Kelly's handwriting, and that his (McDonalds') name and Duncan's were in Kelly's handwriting he authorized no one to write his name and his name to the warrants was fraudulent.

B. M. DUNCAN, sworn, was County Commissioner in 1889—did not sign the Shaffer order or any of the other fraudulent orders to which his name was signed; no amount was due Shaffer or the others; the matter was brought up and Kelly admitted his guilt, said he "came to them with his hands up;" Kelly took the stub-book, helped count the amount up and said he would refund; saw the warrants in Treasurer's office; knows Kelly's handwriting; Kelly wrote the names on the warrants; did not allow anybody to write his name to illegitimate warrants; was not present when warrants were signed.

A. J. HUTCHISON, Sworn, was County Commissioner in 1889, had conversation with Duncan and Kelly as to these fraudulent warrants; wanted to fix matters up before audit; Kelly wanted to put it off; went to private room and Kelly made confession, said he was guilty; his right to sign Duncan's name to legitimate warrants was conceded, but not to illegitimate warrants.

L. A. Hamon had some conversation with Kelly as to the McElroy warrant and pursuaded him to pay it—Mr. McDonald paid to County Treasurer money received from Kelly—Mr. DeWolf was County Auditor in '89, but the question asked him was objected to—The stub-book and Commonwealth dockets were put in evidence, and the Commonwealth rested, Court adjourned till 10.15, Monday.

THE DEFENSE.

On Monday, Mr. Forquer opened for the defense. He referred to the custom of the Commissioners as to signing warrants—said that five warrants were drawn by Mr. Kelly to parties who claimed costs from the county—that the trouble in the County Commissioners office was made through parties outside—that Kelly was a faithful, honest and upright officer—that he resigned his office at the instance of his wife—that he is a high tempered man—that they would show his spotless reputation for honesty before this affair, etc.

The names of forty-one persons were read and called as witnesses for the defense and those who responded were sworn in a body before the railing.

Reuben McElvain was the first witness called for the defense. He was Clerk of Courts from June, '85 to Jan., '91, the costs were filed in that office and certified to the County Commissioners; the costs in a case are certified together as far as possible but are sometimes scattered.

Mrs. Dermody was called but not questioned.

John C. Kelly, sworn—Am defendant in this case, am 53 years of age, live in Butler twp., has a wife and family, was elected Co. Commissioner in 1884, qualified first Monday of January, 1885; re elected in 1887 and qualified first Monday of January 1888; on the various dates (as set forth in the indictment) he issued the warrants for the sums mentioned to the parties mentioned, and wrote Duncan and McDonald's names on them, according to understanding to that effect when the Board organized; believed he had the right to sign their names; McDonald was absent Saturday evenings; had seen Duncan sign McDonald's name; signed McDonald's name because he was not there; signed the warrants on different days of the week and sometimes in office when others were not there; the warrants were not signed before or after office hours to his knowledge; warrant No. 2180 was to John Shaffer—and it is to be presumed the amount was due him—it was presumed by Shaffer—he didn't know that Shaffer was not there, nor that he (Kelly) got the money on the warrant or that nothing was due Shaffer. It looked as though there was money coming to McElroy, McElroy was present when the order was drawn; John Hamil said there was money due him. In answer to the question by Mr. Goucher, as to whether or no he was in the habit of drawing warrants on the say-so of parties or his presumption, he answered that parties came to him and claimed costs, he didn't see the costs on record; wasn't in the habit of doing this; parties said costs coming to them all right and he goes and draws warrants; he drawed these warrants on the presumption that these men had costs; he thought there was costs coming to Leber and did not know as a matter of fact that there was not; Leber called for his costs, couldn't find Reed's costs but still drew warrant for him; parties claimed to have costs due them and needed it; costs were paid as per record; Hutchison hardly ever signed warrants; he (Kelly) resigned as Co. Com. after this trouble (this was in answer to Mr. Goucher's question as whether he did not resign after being confronted with these irregularities); he signed these warrants in the Commissioners' office.

Several well known citizens of the town and county then testified as to Kelly's reputation for honesty before this trouble; though some of them had heard of the duplicate affair and the defense rested. Quite a number of persons who were called up to the bar and sworn as witnesses were not called upon to testify.

Enos McDonald was recalled and stated that he generally left the office at 5 p. m. on Saturday, 6 p. m. other days, and that Kelly generally got to the office after he did.

Thompson, of the defense, read a dozen points as what constitutes forgery, the influence of previous good character, etc., some of which were affirmed by the Court and some refused.

Dist. Att'y McJunkin then went to the jury and gave a history of the case, and thought that as there was no defense the jury could not but find a verdict of guilty as indicted.

Col. Thompson thought the defense had made out a complete defense; said there no evidence that Kelly presented these warrants to the Co. Treasurer; that Kelly was an accommodating man; that he paid the money back because he had made a mistake, and not because he got it; and left the case with the jury confident of an acquittal.

Mr. McQuistion felt safe in coming before this jury, and confident of receiving justice; thought the prosecution was instituted by bad motives and malice; said Kelly owns two or three farms and would not stoop to stealing small amounts; these warrants were all signed on Saturdays; Kelly was surrounded by a den of rattlesnakes ready to bite him; it was unpleasant for him to do business there and so he resigned; he was arrested by the same rattlesnakes for changing the duplicates; he was a thorn in their side; the parties may have lied to Kelly and he made good his mistakes by returning the money and getting away from the class that surround him; it was a groundless, malicious, cowardly prosecution, and McDonald should pay the costs; Kelly was worth $20,000, cash; the men who wanted him out of the office were stinging him at every opportunity, etc.

Mr. Robinson, for the prosecution, thought it was easy to throw mud, that when wrong was to be righted somebody had to take the lead; explained the method of paying Commonwealth costs, said that Kelly had had four years to produce John Shaffer and these other men and show where these costs belonged; Kelly may have been a good man at one time but not since he has been prowling around the Commissioner's office issuing such warrants as these, etc.

The speeches being ended, Miss Findley a stenographer, took a seat at the table of the defense, and as this is unusual, Judge Greer remarked upon it, and was informed by the counsel for the defense that it meant no distrust of him, but was for their own convenience.

Judge Greer in his charge gave some legal definitions of forgery, said the Common weal th must make out a case beyond a reasonable doubt, said there must be intent to defraud, that the whole essence of the case was in Kelly's intentions; that Duncan could not give Kelly the right to sign his name to commit a crime; quoted from the Supreme Court as to the effect of previous good character, etc.

The defense objected to the dockets being sent out with the jury, and they were returned.

The case went to the jury at 5 p. m., Monday; the jury had not agreed at 10 p. m.; their suppers were sent to them, they slept that night on the floor of the jury room; came into Court next morning at 9:30 and said they could not agree; were sent back, and came in again at 2:30 p. m. and again said it was impossible for them to agree. The foreman said that there were no hopes of their agreeing and that they had not changed since their first vote, whereupon the Court dismissed them with an extra days pay for being out all night.

The jury stood 9 to 3, in favor of conviction, and agreed among themselves not to tell who favored conviction and who favored acquittal, but it is confidently asserted that McCafferty, Madison and Jas. E. Miller are the three who favored acquittal.

The case will have to be retried, and probably will be at December term.

THE PERJURY CASE.

Tuesday morning, Kelly's counsel made an effort to have the bill of indictment for perjury quashed on the ground that one of the Counts specified acts committed at six different times, and other errors. Thompson and McQuistion made long arguments in support of this, and the Court said he would consider this motion. Then both sides agreed to continue the perjury case, and it was continued till December Term.

Three negroes were lynched in Louisana last Saturday for refusing to betray a brother who killed a Judge.

DEATHS.

CHANTLER—In Middlesex twp., this county, Sept. 15, 1893, Mr. John Chantler, aged about 60 years.

COVERT—At his home in Adams twp., Sept. 11, 1893, Miles Covert, aged 48 years.

MCCANDLESS—At the home of Thos. McDeavitt in Clay twp, Sept. 14, 1893, Humes McCandless, aged about 65 years.

CARNER—At her home on W. Jefferson St., Butler, Sept. 13, 1893, daughter of Jeff. Carner, aged 3 years. Since the above was put in type Mr. Carner has lost his other child.

DAWSON—At his home in Centre twp., Sept. 14, 1893, George Dawson, aged about 60 years.

BAUMAN—At his home in New Castle, Sept. 16, 1893, H. C. Bauman, formerly of Saxonburg, aged 53 years.

DODDS—Died, near Brownsdale, Butler Co., Pa., Sept. 2d, 1893, Mrs. Elizabeth Dodds, wife of Josiah Dodds, deceased, in the 86th year of her age.

The funeral took place from the residence of her son, John B. Dodds, on the 4th inst. where the relatives and friends of the deceased gathered to participate in the last sad rites and mingle their tears with those of her affectionate and loving family. The services were conducted by Rev. J. S. McKee in a beautiful and touching address, recounting in the most tender terms the virtues of the deceased. The audience was one of the largest ever assembled on the occasion of a private funeral and the deepest sympathy was manifested for the bereaved family. The deceased from her youth led a life of piety, and was truly a Christian. Her very countenance was an index to the soul. Her daily walk and conversation were such as became the disciples of our blessed Lord and gained the esteem of all who knew her. In the death of Mrs. Dodds the Brownsdale U. P. church has lost its oldest and most devoted member, her family an affectionate parent, but we are not left to mourn without hope, her spirit has gone mingle with the saints and worship at the throne of God. Our loss is her eternal gain.

How sad did it seem to behold
Thy life slowly ebbing away,
Tho' many thy death had foretold
Still hope lent a glimmering ray,
And may we when death shall appear
To summon our spirits away,
Like thee without terror or fear,
Soar away to realms of day.

McCANDLESS' HEAVE CURE.

I have a Heave Cure that will cure any case of heaves in horses in forty days, if used according to directions, and if it does not do what I claim for it, I will refund the amount paid and no charges will be made for the treatment. The following testimonials are the strongest proof of the medicines power to cure:

A. J. McCANDLESS, Butler, Pa., 1893.

MR. A. J. McCANDLESS: On the 2nd day of April, 1892, I commenced to use your new cure for one of my horses that had the heaves very bad, and continued to use the medicine for about forty days and the horse did not show any signs of a return of them. It is now about a year since I quit giving the medicine and the horse has never sowed any signs of heaves, and I feel stisfied that he is properly cured.

W. C. CRISWELL, Butler, Pa., April 3, 1893.

A. J. McCANDLESS: I have used your Heave Cure and found it will do the work if used according to directions. Yours truly,

R. J. McMILLIN.
