SYMPTOMS WERE ALARMING.

Both Affected Simultaneously with a Desire to Find a Doctor.

The following is a true account of the development of a curious and alarming complaint which suddenly attacked Chappie and Cholly as they were driving back from the — club the other day, according to the New York Tribune, and which is still affording great amusement to their friends. One of these young gentlemen who was driving his companion in his buggy suddenly complained of a stitch in his left side. The pain grew more and more intense, until he became quite seriously frightened, when, imply any increased attention to personal came quite seriously frightened, when, to the consternation of the pair, the came quite seriously frightened, when, to the consternation of the pair, the other man was attacked precisely in the same fashion on the right side. With a afteen-mile drive ahead of them, and fancying themselves seized by some mysterious and inscrutable disease, with the pain increasing every moment, the prospect was not a pleasant one. Wildly they lashed the horse in order to reach the nearest village and a doctor, and on they dashed over stones and ruts, leaving the rustic passers-by agape with astonishment. Suddenly, in the midst of his lamentations over the pain. Cholly exclaimed: "Don't you smell something burning?" and a strong smell of fire which, if it had not been for their excitement and fright, they would have noticed long before, made itself very apparent.

"By Jove!" shouted Chapple, as he clapped his hand on his waistcoat pocket, "it is those matches!" And to their immense relief they found that a paper box of matches had ignited itself by friction and the fire had not been for their excitement.

The ragamuffin who makes his liv-

As at present practiced by the high priests of the art it requires first a thorough rubbing with a damp rag; then the application of a half lemon; then some mysterious unguent that is put on with the ball of the thumb, and lastly a brown polish invented especially for the occasion. This latter is brushed with a piece of canton flannel. No well-educated and self-respecting bootblack would use any other kind.
