How the Great Inventor Becaived an Unexpected Visit.

Thomas A. Edison's father, on one of his visits to Menlo park, brought with him a surprise to his son, a tame bear that he had captured with his own hands, says the New York World.

It was very late when he arrived, and, finding that his son was on one of his usual midnight experimental "sprees," he determined not to bother him, and went to bed after first carefully locking the gub in the caller. EDISON AND THE BEAR. "sprees," he determined not to bother him, and went to bed after first carefully locking the cub in the cellar. The experiments on which the "wizard" was at work were the final ones in the invention of the phonograph.

Mr. Edison was kneeling on the floor listening to the reproduction of an old song, and his assistants were bunched behind him, with every nerve strained to catch the far-off, curious sounds.
