LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Wild geese are going south. —Oil is worth 73 cents a barrel. —Hay is sold at $11 to $14 per ton in this market.

—The wise men say that all indications point to a hard winter. —There is always room at the top for large apples.

—The bicycle and the straw hat might as well be called in. —Messengers pay sometimes, but it does not pay well enough to be worth while.

—The ten-pot bottle factory will be in operation next Monday. —Be sure you read of Schaul & Nast's overcoat sale as it will be a saving of money for you.

—It is reported that the sale of the Brady's Bend Iron Co.'s property has again been postponed until Dec. 1st. —Nearly every boy determines to whip a certain school teacher when he grows up.

—John Arthur, Wm. Braden, John Duan and A. A. Goucher are building a large carriage at Euclid. —The 193-year-old Mexican who died the other day might have lived to a ripe old age had it not been for an attack of acute rheumatism.

—An inventive genius has devised a solution of bicarbonate of silver to restore the "third" of those who lose their hair by taking bicarbonate of gold. —Fourteen "drunks" were arrested in Butler last Saturday. It was our first cold day and changing from beer to whisky seemed to set hard with the boys.

—The County Commissioners have been busy during the past few days putting up the official ballots and the other matter relating to the election next Tuesday. —It is said that a Chinaman is attending the public schools in Titusville. It is the first instance of this kind that we have heard of.

—Don't forget McMillen's 3-day sale of hats and bonnets, beginning Thursday evening and continuing Friday and Saturday evenings. They have a hundred different styles on their counters, all new, and have reduced their prices by one half. —The little advertising we did a week or so ago for a place for an orphan boy developed the fact that there are several men and women in Butler county who wish to adopt or at least take orphan children, both boys and girls into their homes.

—A Butler woman bought a new-fangled toilet from a peddler. Afterwards her husband reproached her, saying that he had the same thing in his store for less money. Her rejoinder was unanswerable: "Why don't you advertise? One never knows what you have in your store."

—"Let me see," said Bobbs to Dobbs: "Isn't this Dobbs that we were just talking about a relative of yours?" "A distant relative," said Dobbs. "Very distant?" "I should think so. He's the oldest of 12 children, and I am the youngest."

—The obstinates are very wrothy this year and they are plenty that they are a drop in the market here. Nearly all our growers lost money on the first that they brought and have quit buying them but there were worth about a dollar a bushel. In Pittsburg they are quoted at 4 and 5 cents a pound. —Carnegie & Co. are laying a large pipe line from their works in Homestead to the Armstrong works gas fields. The line will be 20-inch pipe from Homestead to Milltown, 14-inch from there to Bagdad and the branches from there to the gas fields will be $700,000. —The refusal of manager Ferris to stop his wheel, in the Midway, Wednesday led up to an encounter between the wheel employees and the guards, in which the men will have difficulty in seeing just how Ferris claims he has a contract right to run the wheel there this month. —The amended ballot law provides that the voting booths shall be curtained. LEGAL NEWS.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS. The Supreme Court room in Pittsburg was crowded with attorneys last Monday morning, a batch of decisions being expected, and they were not disappointed in that respect as the "handed down" shortly after the gentlemen wearing the black robes filed in.

The decision made in cases taken up from this county are as follows: Porter and others vs. Vanderlin, appellant. Order affirmed. Barto vs. Guckert & Steel, appellants. Judgment reversed. Butler Co. appellant, vs. Department of Public Charities of Allegheny City. Affirmed. Bennett vs. The Standard Plate Glass Co., appellant. Affirmed. Steele's appeal from the decree of the C. P. Court of Butler Co. Decree affirmed.

Appeal of H. B. Rice from decision of Q. S. Court of Butler Co. Reversed. McJunkin, appellant, vs. Mathers. Affirmed. Boos, appellant, vs. Mathers. Affirmed.

Such are the decisions in eight of the cases taken up from this county, and the twelve more cases are yet in the hands of the Supreme Court. When a case is "affirmed" the decision of the lower Court stands good, and when it is "reversed" the lower Court's decision is changed and perhaps a new trial ordered, as the case may be.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

Pittsburg had a $500,000 fire last Friday. The immense cold-storage warehouses at the corner of Pike and 13th streets were burned.

A Pittsburg boy jumped from a third-story window to avoid a whipping for playing hooky from school and was instantly killed.

Somerset county is overrun by an organized band of horse thieves and farmers are watching their barns nightly.

A single stroke of lightning got in a good deal of execution, down in Fayette Co. one night recently. It struck a tall tree alongside a mill, which it entered by way of a brace wire from the tree, exploded the dust in the mill, and sent missiles flying through the roof, prostrated the miller, who was about to open the door, twisted or warped every bolt and bit of iron in the mill and caused $5000 damage. Then the lightning, as it left the mill, followed a wire fence, adjoining, for 150 yards and killed a sow and a litter of pigs that were lying along the fence, finally paralyzing a son of the man stricken at the mill door.

Timothy, a son of Farmer Humphrey Lynch, of Rock Run, lay dying at his home a few days ago, the victim of a terrible neuralgia from a hay tick prong, on which he was impaled. He tossed the tick from a load of hay on which he was working and jumped after it. The tick rebounded in such a position that young Lynch was impaled on its prong, which ran through his abdomen.

Two prisoners escaped from the county jail at Kintzing last Thursday night by getting through a second-story window, and lowering themselves with a rope.

An epidemic of typhoid fever and diphtheria is playing sad havoc at Gay's Mills, Crawford county. There have been three deaths from the last named disease, and the worst cases are now being reported. The cases are being treated with the best of modern medicine, and disinfectants are being freely used. Measles is also suffering from diphtheria. Three deaths from it have occurred in one family.

Finley's livery stable in Franklin was burned Tuesday night, and several horses perished. Rhodes furniture factory, Lincoln restaurant, Heilmann's warehouse, a blacksmith shop and the Nulton House barn were also burned.

Sheriff W. H. McCreary of Allegheny Co. received from Harrisburg last Monday the death warrant of Angelo Zappe one of the murderers of Frank Helmseller. The warrant fixes Thursday, December 14, between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m., for the time of execution. Zappe and his brother Joseph, whose sentences had been commuted to imprisonment for life, were tried and convicted on September 29, 1922.

Wild turkeys are so plenty in portions of Cambria county that hunters fall over them. An Elmore hunter was out one day last week and killed three.

Oil Notes. Phillips' well on the Campbell heirs is reported to be down to 35 bbls. a day; his Martin farm well in the sand and is reported dry.

The Forest Oil Co. is building a rig on the Garvin, west of Gallery.

Kennedy & Co. are building another rig on the Eicholtz, north of Harmony.
