LEGAL NEWS.

The settlement of the case of the Com. Ex. vs. Kelly, and the continuation of the case vs. Geo. H. Graham, ended the quarter sessions on Friday night last week.

Judge White imposed sentences upon the persons convicted before him as follows: John J. Lawrence, who pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny, was sentenced to pay costs, restore property and be confined in the penitentiary for fourteen months, and for breaking jail, which charge he pleads guilty, he will serve the term for twelve months more, making 26 months in all.

At they and Dominick Andriolo found guilty of selling liquor without license were sentenced to pay a fine of one thousand dollars each, and be imprisoned in the County jail for six months.

Samuel and J. E. Meak, found guilty of assault and battery were sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars each, and be imprisoned in the County jail for six months.

Samuel and J. E. Meak, found guilty of assault and battery, and W. R. Hopkins found guilty of assault and battery, were not sentenced.

The case vs. William Barber was settled. SETTLEMENT OF THE KELLY CASE. On Thursday last it was reported that the case of the Commonwealth vs. John C. Kelly, for forgery and perjury would probably be settled, and as it was known everybody taking part in the mediation was being impudently to allow of a settlement. The Court room was crowded that afternoon with people anxious to hear what the settlement would be.

But there was a hitch in the matter. Kelly sought to acknowledge his guilt in writing, in a paper to be given him, and to be made public by him, should Kelly ever again slander his associates in office. Kelly and his associates in office, and the matter went over till next morning, when the parties came to their agreement; Kelly was sentenced to let up on Kelly, and the paper below, written by Thompson was signed by Kelly and accepted by McDonald.

It was then presented to Court and a motion was made, though Judge White refused to allow it, though the legality of the proceeding, and dictated an opinion which the Court stenographer took down.

The paper filed in the case reads as follows: Whereas, I have been indicted for perjury at No. 20 of September Sessions, 1893, and for forgery at No. 25 of the same term, and in case these cases are not proffered to pay all costs, including record costs and Commonwealth witness costs, as also fees of private counsel for the Commonwealth; I further state voluntarily that I know nothing derogatory of the private or official character of my colleagues, Mr. M. Duncan and A. J. Hutchison, or of the private or official character of Mr. Charles McDonald as counsel fees in the case with interest to date.

Witness my hand and seal this 15th day of December, 1893. J. C. KELLY, [Seal] Signed, sealed and delivered in presence of L. W. McQUINN, W. L. A. FOSTER.

And now to wit: Dec. 15, 1893, these cases settled by the parties with leave of the Court on condition that the above notice be printed in full in the public press, and that the prosecutor and defendant this 15th day of Dec. 1893. ENOS McDONALD, [Seal] J. C. KELLY, [Seal]

WITNESSES: W. L. A. FOSTER, JOHN M. THE-SPROCK. This is a view of the agreement in writing by the defendant to let up on Kelly, and of the public interest involved, I hereby apply to the Court for leave to enter a notice of settlement in both proceedings, No. 25 and No. 26 of September Session, 1893, believing that such a course will not be detrimental to the interests of the Commonwealth. IRA McKEEN, Dist. Atty.

And now Dec. 15, 1893, for reasons stated in an opinion this day written and filed, leave is now given to the District Attorney to enter a notice of settlement, as applied for above. BY THE COURT. Judge White's opinion has not yet been filed.

NOTES. In the robbery case lately tried at New Castle, the news gave a story on the fact that the witness called. Witness first met Harry Milton in the street, and he was him again until a little over a year ago. He was at witness' house several times, and he was looking work. After that he asked witness, "Do you think that old fellow has any money?"

Witness replied that he didn't know, but thought that he had sold nothing to get any money. Denied making any admissions to H. W. Williamson at the justice's office at Pottsville. Said that Milton had said in jail, in the presence of several persons, that he had never said that witness had told him that the witness kept a large amount of money in the house or gave him a plan of the house, or any other thing. It was brought out that three men, neighbors of his in Butler county, had been indicted for stealing. Witness was put through a merciless cross-examination by District Attorney Emery, and in the main stuck to his original story. In conclusion he said that he had never consented to let Milton for telling on him.

Mrs. Pior was called and sworn. The burden of her evidence was principally a show that Milton was acquainted with the locality about the Williamson place. Ida Bell, who was wanted as a witness in the case against H. J. Walker, the saloonkeeper, at 2405 Penn avenue, was arrested in a remote town in Butler county by Detective Thomas Emery, and taken to Court against Thomas, who was charged with detaining a disorderly house - Pittsburgh Times.

An interesting case will be tried in Meadville this week, that of Alfred Taylor vs. Meador county. Taylor is a man who lives in Pymatung township, was driving a load of coal across a bridge in Meador county, and the bridge collapsed, and he was killed, and Taylor was injured. He claims that the Commissioners had been previously notified to repair the bridge, but they had not done so.

In February, 1887, O. E. Smith of Lawrence county, Pa., died suddenly. It was reported as follows: Some time ago that it was a case of Smith. Smith held a policy in the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company for $10,000. The company refusing to pay, alleging that Smith committed suicide by taking land-mine. The case was started in the Lawrence county court, but was subsequently removed by the company to the U. S. District Court at Pittsburgh, where after a jury trial of four days, a verdict was given against the company for the amount of the policy with interest.

The company then sent out a writ of error to the U. S. Supreme Court, which reached the court two days ago, and the firm judgment of the lower court. After a wait of over six years the family of the deceased now get the money.

An opinion handed down last week by Judge Doty, of Westmoreland county, Pa., affects theatrical people in an important way. It is reported as follows: The State vs. Alpheus Smith in Philadelphia. He denied that under the laws of this State theatrical companies must pay license of $50 to the county treasurer before a performance can be given there, unless a State license of $100 is first paid. The penalty for violation is a fine of not less than $200, or more than $1,000.
