LEGAL NEWS.

John J. Lawton, who was taken to the penitentiary last week, is now in the 10,000 man to be confined in the Penitentiary of Western Pennsylvania.

At the session of Court last Friday the Hopkins case was continued till Monday, January 1, to be given bail in $10,000 to keep the peace and pay costs.

Teachers Institutes were held this week in Greenville and Westmoreland, Beaver, Oil City, Indiana and Meadville.

J. J. Finney the well known detective of Tarentum, W. W. Calpas and George McLoughlin are after the peddlers of Deeds.

Wages were cut from 25 to 50 per cent at Homestead, Tuesday and no strike followed.

Earthquakes are coming uncomfortably close—they had one at Bedford last Sunday, and another at Huntingdon next day.

The Metropolitan Traction Co. of N. Y. offers a prize of $50,000 to the inventor of a method of street railroad propulsion superior to any now in use.

When a little boy by the name of Tommie pinned this note to his desk, this is the note he pinned, and I don't want to do it.

Girls very often dislike each other, but when one girl refuses to look at another girl's new bonnet, you can put it down as undying hatred.

One of our exchanges begins a Christmas editorial with the words: "On the occasion of the natal day on which the Savior was born."

Red Grace secured the contract for the Elm street sewer at 68 cents per foot. The sewer is to be 48 inches in diameter, 900 feet long, and will average 8 or 9 feet in depth.

A case of "the blind leading the blind" to the altar occurred in Allegheny, Tuesday, when a young couple who had never seen each other, and never will, were married.

The storm that passed over the southern part of the county last Monday, blew down the barn on the farm of Col. Spoor 900 feet long, and will average 8 or 9 feet in depth.

The best charity is to keep business moving and so provide employment, and the way to do that is for all to make their purchases and obtain all supplies right in the community of which they are members.

In most lines of goods the Christmas trade came up to expectations. Taken as a whole, it was not so hot as it used to be, but it was a good deal better than it has been for some time.

It is a bad plan in putting paper on party shelves to use newspapers with love stories in them. Send your girl an hour later and you will find her half an hour later perched on a flower bed trying to read a story.

The Alumni Association of the Butler Public Schools held its annual reception and election of officers in the Y. M. C. A. rooms last Tuesday evening.

The new I. O. O. F. Hall at Freeport was dedicated last Friday evening. S. F. Boyer, Esq., made the dedication speech.

Yenus, who is now the evening star, is a glorious object in the western sky just after twilight. She will reach her greatest brilliancy on the 6th of January.

Al Heck passed a hundred dollars every year in calendars and pictures. He has a beautiful assortment of them for his customers this season.

Lent comes unusually early next year beginning Feb. 7. Palm Sunday is March 15, Good Friday March 23, and Easter Sunday March 25—a little too early for new spring bonnets.

Should Utah be admitted as one of the States, the residents of the new State should endeavor to fall into line and restrict themselves to one country, one flag and one wife.

In a recent issue of a county paper was this well intended but unhappy correction: "The announcement of the death of Mr. John Bedwick reached us from a usually trustworthy correspondent, and we regret that he appears to have been misinformed."

The Pittsburg Commercial Gazette offers eight beautiful water color scenes from the Midway Plaisance of the World's Fair by the celebrated artist, W. H. Crane, for every subscription to its weekly. The pictures are gems and will ornament any parlor. They will be delivered free of charge upon receipt of address and subscription money.

Our storekeepers did a good business last Saturday, several of them doing from four to six hundred dollars. The streets of Pittsburg were crowded that day, Fifth Ave., Market and Sixth streets being almost impassable, and the larger stores were doing a tremendous business. Store windows had been broken and the crowds of shoppers on the streets and in the stores that there were thousands of starving people in the two cities, and yet there was a crowd around the charity office on Sixth Ave.

Dr. Schaeffer, superintendent of public instruction, urges some very strong reasons against the custom of holding classes in the school houses. He points out many serious objections to this practice besides the loss of time. He said it is children return on the morning after the election so that a third day may not be lost, they sometimes find the floor covered with tobacco juice and all sorts of rubbish, and newly scrubbed and in the process of drying. When evening comes one child may have a cough, another sore throat, and another cough, and at the close of every election some children are carried to the cemetery.

A Butler and Portersville man had a great time with a young fellow from Portersville last Thursday evening. The young man came to Butler with a horse and buggy, and he got drunk—very drunk. That evening he had his horse hitched up, and he started off at a rattling gait, and it so happened that the Butler and Portersville men had business in Butler that evening and were following after him—otherwise we would probably be recording the death of the young man of Portersville. On the hill west of Butler the young man ran into the bank and was upset, and the two bottles of liquor that were flying into the mud were taken from him. He was put into his buggy and he started off again, but when the two men reached a point near Judge McCandless' place, the young man fell in the middle of the road apparently dead. They worked with him, and brought him to, and walked him along the road towards Mt. Chestnut, until they were met by a delegation from that place who had captured the horse, and were coming back with the young man. They helped him to Mt. Chestnut where he was again put in his buggy and started for home. The Butler and Portersville men attended to their business and got back to Butler late that night and they were both very tired next day. Carrying a drunken man requires both patience and muscle.
