THE DIAMOND MAKER.

Was He an Ingenious Monomaniac or a Fraud?

My business had detained me until nine o'clock in the evening, and I thereafter, having some inkling of a headache, and under a suitable pressure, the carbon crystallized out, not as black lead or charcoal powder, but as small diamonds.

I began to work at the conditions of diamond making when I was seventeen years of age.

"I had," he proceeded, "about one thousand dollars in my pocket."

"I turned my head and saw the profile of a man who was leaning over the parapet beside me."

"It is good," he continued, after a pause, "to find anything so useful as this diamond."

"I burst and smashed all my windows and a lot of my apparatus."

"Yes," he said, "I had a diamond in my pocket."

"I could not help laughing at the matter," he said.

FARM GARDEN.

ABOUT SWEET CLOVER. Notorious Weed in the North, Useful Forage Plant in the South.

In a recent bulletin Prof. Goff describes sweet clover as a noxious weed. It is extremely common in many northern states, abounding in waste places, along roadsides and to some extent in fields.

"I had a diamond in my pocket."

STOCK CUTTER FOR ROOTS.

Although a Home-made Article It Possesses Many Good Points. Rural New Yorker thus describes a homemade root-cutter seen in the barn of an ingenious young farmer.

"I had a diamond in my pocket."

MAN-EATERS OF THE PACIFIC.

Sharks That Are the Dread of the California Fishermen. The true man-eater shark as taken on the Pacific coast is known only as a man-eater.

COINS OF LITTLE USE.

The Gold Dollar Had No Utility, While the Three-Cent Piece Served a Purpose. To get who has not given the subject thought it would seem that the most useless coins ever issued by the United States were the three-cent piece and the gold dollar.
