McKinley on Free Silver.

Governor McKinley is among the pron inent candidates for the Republican nomination for President next year and as a matter of course any opin ions he expresses on political questions attract wide attention. He has lately been traveling in the Southern States, where he was heartily welcomed by men of al accorded numerous public receptions. It seems that some of the Southern politician tried during his journey to convert him to their way of thinking in regard to the coinage of silver; but it is gratifying to note that their efforts have not been suc-

A correspondent of the New York Sur sserts that when the distinguished Gov ernor of Ohio was in Georgia he was urged by prominent men of both parties to declare in favor of free silver to capture delegates from the South, and to win per haps the electorial votes of two or three thern States if he should be nominated But the correspondent says that at Thom as ville the visitor from Ohio said emphat ically: "If the Republican party declare tion and get out of the party." Mr. Mc-Kinley has since disclaimed the last half dozen words thus attributed to him. He said nothing about getting out of the party. But he confirms the rest of the sentence and says decisively that he will not accept a nomination on a platform declaring for the free coinage of silver.

This declaration is frank and manly, and it is entirely characteristic of Gov-ernor McKinley. He has strong convic-Consul General Williams. coinage of the depreciated metal can have no other effect. License ccurts under the Brooks law produce some startling sensations and often are the cause of much wrangling and hard feeling among residents of almost every community. Why this is so we are unable to state, but we believe that if the judges ruled conscientiously and consistently much of the hard feeling and wrangling could be averted. Harrisburg Notes.

The judges retirement bill, championed by Mr. Riter, passed second reading in the House, Thursday morning, after some discussion. Speaker Walton is interested in it. He introduced such a measure two years ago.

Many members voted to pass the bill on second reading as a compliment to the Speaker, but it is doubtful if the bill will be passed finally. It provides for full pay to judges who have reached the age of 70 years and have served 20 years consecutively or 30 years in general on the bench Captain Fredericks, as a bit of sarcasm, offered an amendment to pension preach ers who have been in the ministry 50 years.

It is the free silver cranks and dupes who would break down bimetallism, drive gold out of circulation and inflict on the producers, the farmers, the workingmen and every business interest of the country all the evils of a debased currency. Governor McKinley does not belong to the crowd. He stands for sound money, as the Republican party does. He has the courage to stand by his political faith, and for this reason among others he would make an excellent Republican candidate for President.

The refusal of JudgeWallace to hear Mr. Porter, a witness for the remonstrance against the application for a hotel license at Pulaski, in the Lawrence county Court last week, has caused considerable comment. The New Castle Democratic says:

License courts under the Brooks Isw will stilled, a good program had been prepared, which was well carried out, and was well stilled, a good program had been prepared, which was well carried out, and the fact to the declamations, essays, and select reading by the pupils in the afternoon eyidencied the fact that our school is well up with the time. Short speeches by a number of the citizens followed, all expressing their entire satisfaction. Rev. S. Williams gave good advice to the pupils, also gave some interesting reminisences of his boyhood days. The closing address of the day was by Mr. D. P.
