THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1895.

St. Louis, June 16th.

St. Louis, June 16, are the place and date fixed on by the Republican national committee for the Republican convention next year. The result was reached on the fourth regular ballot at the committee meeting in Washington, Tuesday, St. Louis getting 28 votes. Twenty-six were necessary to a choice.

	Inf'm'l	1st.	2d.	3d.	4th.
St. Louis	13	14	18	22	28
San Francisco	20	19	19	19	16
Pittsburg	9	9	5	1	x
Chicago	8	8	9	9	6
New York	1	x	x	x	x

While some of the Pittsburg delegation had made up their minds the prize was not for them, others were hopeful, even confident, until it was announced that Pittsburg had lost on the second regular ballot four of the nine votes it had received on the trial and the first regular ballot. Then the hopeful ones gave up the fight. The result was a bitter disappointment to them, and they do not hesitate to say so.

Their views were pretty well expressed by Colonel William A Stone, who said: "I am glad St. Louis got it, as long as Pittsburg couldn't get it. But Pittsburg was not treated right. She ought to have got the convention. Our crime is that we give such a big Republican majority in Pennsylvania."

Notwithstanding the disappointment of the Pittsburg delegation, when the shout went up that St. Louis had won, William Witherow grabbed up the big vase of Chrysanthemums from the center table in the Pittsburg headquarterss shouted "fall in," and marched across the hall to join the yelling crowd in the St. Louis headquarters, followed by most of the Pittsburg delegation.

The Pittsburg delegation left that night for home on the 7:10 train over the Pennsylvania railroad. The chief satisfaction they had was in knowing that the nine votes which had been cast for Pittsburg on the early ballots went to St. Louis later and helped to make up the majority which gave that city the convention. All seemed to be glad that Chicago did not get it.

If eloquence could have won the victory, every one admits that Pittsburg would have got the convention on the strength of Congressman Dalzell's presentation of its claims. His speech befcre the national committee was easily the best of the day, and so worked up the audience that he was given three rousing rounds of applause mingled with cheers. But as is always he case, the national committeemen had their minds made up as to how they would vote, and no eloquence could change them.

The wool growers, representing one of the most important agricultural interests of the country, are among the first to appeal to congress for relief from the ruinour effects of the free trade policy embodied in the Wilson tariff. The states of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia are ably represented in the movement for a restoration of the duties imposed on foreign wool by the tariff of 1890. The effects of the placing of wool on the free list have been carefully collected by the National Association of Wool Growers, and they are of a character to induce favorable action on the part of congress. What is asked now is the passage of a joint resolution restoring the rates of the McKinley law on wool and woolens. Under those rates an annual revenue of $42,000,000 had gone into the treasury, while placing wool on the free list has thus far caused a loss of $100,000,000 to the wool growers.

Cameron Quits

On Monday last Senator Don Cameron announced formally that he would not be a candidate under any circumstaces for re-election. He made the announcement by making public the following letter addressed to Hon. Samuel J. McCarrell of Harrisburg, Pa.

United States Senate.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9, 1895

My Dear Senator—I am in receipt of your letter of the 7th. You will remember that in a conversation at my home in Harrisburg just after my election to the senate, I told you as well as many other friends that under no circumstances would I again be a candidate for re-election. Since then nothing has occured to change my mind. Many friends from every section of the state are writing me making inquiry as to my wishes and intentions, are cordially offering their support. It is due to them that a public announcement should be made in reply to their inquiries, and I take this opportunity through the senator from my native county to thank you and my friends in every county in the state for their more than generous support for more than a third of a century, and to say that I have not been, am not now, and will not be a candidate for re-election to the senate of the United States. Not being in office a better opportunity will be afforded me to serve those who have served me, and that I will do so there can be no doubt,

Yours truly,
J. D. Cameron.

To Hon. Samuel J. M. McCarrell, Harrisburg, Pa.

TUESDAY was a proud day for the Republicans of Keutucky as on that day they inaugurated their first Governor—and they made it the greatest inauguration in the history of the state.

Republicans congregated in Frankfort from all parts of the state and made a procession two miles long.

While the parade was in motion cannon boomed from Fort hill, north of the city. When the incoming and tiring Govenors reached the capitol grounds and Gov. Bradley marched up to the walk leading to the State House steps, a cheer went up from Republican throats that was as enthusiastic and noisy as the whole situation, and a novel one for, "Old Kaintuck." When the two Governors stepped to the platform which had been erected in front of the capitol for the exercises of the day, they looked into the faces of a crowd the like of which was never before seen in Frankfort. The mass of heads could have been walked upon throughout the entire distance across the plaza of the street. They were nearly all Republicans.

Signs of the Time.

Useless is the calendar
When December's here;
Take but little reckoning
To tell the time of year.
Johnny's sudden willingness
With chores at night and noon,
Tell it, plain as print could do—
"Christmas pretty soon."
Everybody's most polite;
It's a perfect joy
Now to meet the janitor
Or elevator boy.
Merchants more than gracious,
All the town' in tune
To proclaim the tidings.
"Christmas pretty soon."

In offering the above report I wish to say that the percent of attendance has been lowered from what it would have been by the great amount of sickness now in our town.

I wish also to do justice to the pupils and the teachers by saying, that I believe in no other month since I have had charge of the school has there been as much interest taken in the work, and as much progress made therein, as has been done during this month. I am fully convinced of this statement from the fact that I have made more promotions in each room than usual, and those on questions at least five percent harder than I have ever before given.

This we think is evidence of progress, and we sincerly hope that the parents of our school will appreciate and encourage the efforts that are being used to promote the welfare of this school.

Teach your boys and girls of the great advantages and opportunities of school life.

What we most need today in this and every other school is, that parents, directors, pupils and teachers should more heartily cooperate in the noble work of education, which is the firm corner-stone of our nation's progress, The bright morning star of our liberty, and the strong bulwark of our American homes.

We therefore cordially invite all interested in the welfare of our school to come and visit us—see what we are doing and thus encourage teachers and pupils.

Yours very Truly,
HOWARD PAINTER, Prin.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

Reed Curll, one of Clarion county's most prosperous farmers, living nea Curllsville, no doubt escaped a terrible death lately through the efforts of a faithful dog. While working about the barn, he was suddenly attacked and borne to the ground by a vicious Jersey bull. But before the animal had time to do futher injury, the farm dog attacked him and kept him at bay until Mr. Curll who was stunned by the fall, recovered and made his escape.

At Greentown, Ohio, is the greatest celery plant in the world. It comprises 125 acres The annual crops average $20,000 in value.

Nant-y-Glo, is the name of the new town down the Blacklick in Indiana County. The three words should always be hyphenated, as above. The Welsh term and "ty" means "house," "nant" means "coal" and "glo," means "creek." The words will now be seen to mean 'The Coal Creek.'

Counterfeit five dollars bills, crisp and new, so well executed as to require an expert's decision, have turned up in Williamsport.

In July, 1890, Jacob M. Smith a farmer living near Penfield, Pa. set a mink trap on top of a chestnut post to catch an owl that was carrying away his fowls. The next morning the staple was broken off and the trap was gone. On Thanksgiving night, this year, Smith set another trap, and at 7 o'clock he found in it a large owl. When he killed it he discovered his other trap and chain fast to its left leg, the bird having carried both for over five years The owl measured four and one-half feet from tip to tip of wings.

Quite an enthusiastic feeling is being developed along the Allegheny river as regards putting in several dam with a view to making a permanent navigation. Meetings are being held at the different towns, and vigorous appeals are being made to Congress in behalf of the improvement. The goverment has made a commencement at Herr's Island with a dam with a seven foot lift, which will back the water up a far as Brilliant station; a 12 foot dam at the latter place will reach Springdale, and another at Tarentum some 20 miles from the city.

GILGHRIST—At his home in Cherry twp at length. Will name few prices to give you an idea of our many bargains. William Gilghrist, in the 90th year of his age

Mr. Gilghrist was born in county Down Ireland, came to this county with his parents when a boy in 1819, and settled within two miles of Murrinsville. He removed to Cherry twp. to the farm on which he died and had lived for about fifty years He was a man of more than usual energy and activity, taking a deep interest in all matters of local or general importance. At first a Democrat in politics he, previous to the events preceding the late civil war, became an ardent Republican and with many other old Democrats joined in opposition to the spread of slavery and the efforts of the slave owners to destroy the Union. He was a patriotic citizen in its best sense and a true friend. For some years past his children have annually assembled on his birthday to celebrate the same. Had he lived until the 13th of May next he would have reached his 90th year His mind was clear to the last hour of his life.

He was the father of Mr. Breadin Gilghrist of this place and of James G. and William H Gilghrist of Cherry twp. His remains were laid to rest on Saturday last in the U. P. burial ground at West Sunbury, followed to the grave by a very large assembly of friends and neighbors.

MR. A. J. McCANDLESS:

On the 2nd day of April, 1892, I commenced to use your new cure for one of my horses that had the heaves very bad, and continued to use the medicine for about forty days and the horse did not show any signs of a return of them. It is now about a year since I quit givin the medicine and the horse has never sowed any signs of heaves, and I feel stisfied that he is properly cured.
