Some people i magine that the sounds or words pass over the telephone wires, but that is not the case—the sound passes through the wire. The long-distance wires of the Bell Telephone Co. will pass through this town in the shape of a cable, and each wire will be insulated with a covering of rubber or lead. The wire itself is made of almost pure copper. A telephone service can be established anywhere that a telegraph service can, excepting in the water, where the noise or sound of the wash of the surf, or the splash of passing steamers commingles with the sounds going through the wires. The Bell Co. is now experimenting with a line across one of the lakes, in the hope of remedying this. remedying this.

--Word has been received of the death of John Adlington at the Soldiers' Home at Erie; and this recalls the murder of the two men, named Cunningham and Teeple in the bar-room of the hotel in Porters ville, during a dance and supper at the hotel on New Years night, about 30 years ago. Some men had a fight in the barroom, the lights were turned out, and when the affair was over Cunningham and Teeple were found on the floor badly wounded with a knife. Cunningham died in a few hours, and Teeple in a few days.

The Telephone War.

The People's Telephone Co., a local organization, was granted the use of our alieys by Council some time ago, and here lately, when the Bell Co., or Central District Telephone, Telegraph and Printing Co wanted into the town, the Council granted them the use of certain streets, including Fulton St.

The Bell Co. hauled their poles to that street last week, and dug holes for them, and then some of the citizens of the street who do not wish telephone or telegraph poles on the street signed a petition to that effect and secured a temporary injunction restraining the Co. from further proceeding until the case was heard.

The case was heard Saturday afternoon and as a delect was found in the papers of the petitioners they were withdrawn, which dissolved the injunction.

The Co. next morning put a force at work on the street, put up the poles, strang the wires, and connected them with a phone on that street—and thus the matter rests.

Whether or no there will be any further Whether or no there will be any further proceedings in this case, or any further trouble remains to be seen.

The Bell Co. and Western Union Telegraph Co. are practically one and the same thing, the two companies will use the same poles on our Main St., the telegraph wires being strung above and the telephone below; they give good service, and the general public wants competition in this service as in any other.

Zelienople is sure to have fine water works and an electric light plant in the very near future. Two bodies of capitalists are already contending to build, own and operate a water works adequate for both the old and the new town. Construction of the new industries continues to go on rapidly. The walls of the grinding and mixing mills for the big Blackham Works are already up, and the foundations are in for the company's other huge structures prises will require not less than 500 work-men, but there is much anxiety as to whether there will be homes sufficient to house the families of the workmen wh will be employed in the new industries will be employed in the new mulstries, since there are no empty dwellings in the old town and no provision has been made for the immense in-flow of people that must necessarily come early in the fall. But the Zelienople Extension Company has everything in readiness for its first public sale of lots, commencing July 15, and will encourage immediate, numerous and rapid building of homes by keeping the prices and terms of lots away below the prices and terms of lots away below the prices and terms at which good real estate was ever known to sell. estate was ever known to sell. Two of the new industries have orders already booked, and must keep everything moving at a lively rate in order to get in position to fill them.

solely for speculation There must be room and homes for 3,000 additional people, and it will take wonderful hustling to provide them; for even now, when there is virtually no manufacturing in Zelienople, homes are not to be had.
