This is a good oppor- tunity for wealthy men, who are anx- ious to do something substantial to per- petuate their memories, to chip in and build a monument to themselves in the shape of a State Capitol. Donations for this purpose will be gladly received, and, if large enough, will entitle the donor to a bust in statuary hall. It might be arranged something like this: Persons contributing $100,000 shall be entibled to a memorial slab; those con- tributing $000,000, a bust, and those giving a million should have a life-sized statute, to remain in the Capitol as long as it shall stand. Here is an opportu- nity for immortality that may not be afforded again for many generations.— Ex. PARRK THEATREE, MACKAY OPERA COMPANY. The popular Mackay Opera company will commence their engagement here on Monday next. The company this season is claimed to be the strongest repertoire opera company that has ever visited Butler. The Oil City Derrick says of their opening performance: "It was a genuine hit that the Mackay Opera company scored last night at the opera house. Manager Mackay has always brought first-class companies to Oil City, but this season he has outdone anything ever seen in the operatic line in this city. Clever artists, pretty girls, gorgeous costumes, specialties galore were introduced to the music- loving public, and to say that the large audience was unusually pleased would be using a very mild term. Miss Ada Walker, the prima doma, is a magnif- cent artist. She completely captivated the large audience, and her solos were encored to the echo. But there is an injustice in the whole fact that young men who are not of age can at times by their appearance and manner deceive the bar tenders; and it should be made a misdemeanor for any young man, not of age, to present him- self at a bar for liquo. RALLROAD NOTES. It would be a remarkable thing f a little insect should be the means of compelling the Westinghouse air-brake company to remodel the exhaust port of their pressure retaining valve, but it appears that the necessity for such a change confronts them ai present, or rather confronts the railroad compa- nies who use the brakes. The msect that causes all the trouble is the com- mon mud wasp—a transient inhabitant of the west and northwest—which like the genus tramp appears to have a pen- chant for traveling. The wasp builds his mud house on the exhaust port of the valve named, and closes the vent. causing no end of trouble and expense. Superintendent Rhodes of the Chi- cago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, was the first to describe the new enemy of the sir-brake, and after an exhaus- tive treatise on the subject recommends the alternation of the shape of the valve and the form of the vent as the only mans of getting rid of the diffi- culty. As the insect which causes all the trouble is rarely seen in the eastern states the railroads around here have experienced no such annoyance, but as long as enstern cars are run over west- ern roads to any extent the removal of the present form of exhaust-port on western cars alone would not help mat- ters very greatly, as the wasp is apt to build his house in transit, and close up the port while a car was going 20 or 60 miles.
