And the price is from $10 to $20 lower than some of the fancy gas-ranges now in use.

-A serious case is reported from Marion twp. A worthless fellow named Wurst is said to have struck his wife last Sunday and she is reported to have died yesterday. Her maiden name was Barber, and her first husband's name was Rosenberry.

-The contract for N. McKean Si alls for a 30-foot street from Jefferson to North, and 24-foot from North to Fulton; but Sim Nixon wants the 30 foot width extended to the alley below his house, and the matter was referred to the Paving Committee with power

-A false alarm of fire in the Oper House last Sunday night, while Rev Ferguson was talking, very nearly caused a stampede. The house was crowded and a stampede would probably have resulted in some fatalities Some side exits would perhaps be good improvement to the Opera House

-The large "hundred pound" rails will soon be placed on the old P. S. & L. E., now part of the P. B. & L. E. and the rails at present in use on the main line will be placed on the Hilliards Branch, which is badly in need of new rails. A stormy sea can hardly be any rougher riding than the Hilliard Branch at present.

-Show day was a busy day for Bu gess Myers, who beard and disposed of everal drunk and disorderly cases during the day. Officers Bell. Mathers and Korn stopped the bunco game i the side show that night, and arrested one man and attempted to arrest nother but the circus men gathere

-County supervisors should be advis ed and instructed to scrape all roads in their respective townships at least three times a year—spring, summer and autumn, particularly the latter time, then roll down the surface of the road after each scraping by heavy rollers. This will protect the road-bed at all times and give with a very little expense, just what we want.—Good Roads.

Wick, class oration: Mary Isabel Bole X-rays on class theads; Effic. Roes, essay, Fow-wow of '97 and '98, Henrietta Campbell and James O. Campbell of '97.

A class song and a medley, both comstanty enlarged to meet the increaseed requirements.

About two years ago great difficulties to the progress of the water plant arose owing to the pollution of Connoquenessing creek, and, although the other stockholders were interested financially in the preservation and prosperity of the institution, yet the responsibility fell onto the original prospectors, who,

A class song and a medley, both composed by members, were sung by the class, under direction of Prof. E. O. Davis with Miss May Balph as accompanist. The participants in the Powwow were dressed as Indians. This is feature which had not appeared in Butler before. It is unique, but the young ladies ank gents are more comely as Caucasians than as Indians. The appearance of the young ladies in the song "The Reapers" was one of the prettiest features of the evening.

The other members of the class spoke Wednesday evening at the Commence-The same parties erected a water dant at Warren, Pa., about 15 years go, which they have successfully op-rated ever since. It has greatly con-luced to the growth and prosperity of but their successions of the conhat thriving, progressive city.

rettiest features of the class spoke Wednesday evening at the Commencement. Their names are Julian G. Bailey, Eleanor Graham, Lyde C. Boos, Florence F. Murrin, Mary E. Larkin, Laura A. Limberg, June C. Sutton, E. Estella Forsythe, Charlotte F. Klingler, M. Louise Mitchell, Mary O'Conner, and Bertha M. Miller.

The following are the first honor members of the class: Minnie B. Wick, Pearl Andrews and the second honors fell to Ida L. Schenk.

We have not space to make extended remarks on the performance of each graduate, but we can say they all did most excellently. The Class of '97 has made a most enviable record on their commencement. Perhaps they have eclipsed the efforts of every preceeding class. If they maintain the principles through life which they set forth now they will all be useful and illustrious citizens. Both plants have, we learn, been pur-
