The Superior Court sitting at Philadelphia made a number of decisions last week, and among them ones on Butler county cases, as follows:

Judge Beaver affirmed the lower court in the case of Ferguson and wife against Moore et al. The case involved the question as to whether or not property belonging to the wife can be levied upon for taxes owed by the husband. Mrs. Ferguson owned a cow, upon which the tax collector of Clinton township levied. She recovered the value of the cow in a snit for damages. In the case of the Capital City Mutual Fire Insurance Co. vs. H. C. Boggs. Judge-Williard wrote the opinion.

In this case Boggs secured a judgment against the company in the lower court, the trial judge stating that the appellee never was a member of the company because he was induced to enter into the contract by the false and frandlent synvescutations of its agent

Tom Johnston liyes out on Twolick three miles southeast of Indiana, Pa It is a hilly spot where Tom lives an an ideal place for snakes. Sunda morning Mrs. Johnston noticed a cop perhead under the cook stove while sh was starting the fire. She killed it, an told Tom to look under the bed fo more. They usually kill about eigh snakes a day out there this time o year. While on his way to town recently, and not far from home. Ton killed an eight-foot blacksnake. He made a swing for the baby with it.

A singluar accident bappened to Henry Wismer a well known farmer residing near Schwenksville. While hauling wheat about a week ago, two small grains lodged in his shoe. They remained there till he retired in the eve-ing wheat he noticed two docts in the ing, when he noticed two dents in the Butler Fair—Sept. 7, 8, 9 and 10th.
