THE CITIZEN.

STILL THE CHAMPION.

The Man From Kansas is Hard Run, but Was in the Street—
"I know what it is as well as you do," he answered. "I laid down on a back porch in Milwaukee wint' an' groaned an' set on they mind, but I knowed I was a fool in the house, 'stead o' givin' me a drink o' beer, I brought me out one o' them bottles o' fall o' hot water, an' told me to put it ag'in in my chest. I done it, an' the stopper come out, an' the thing bust, an' I shuddered visibly."—"Give me the fast bath I'd had for 19 years. Reckon I'd f'git wit' it looked like." You go on an' seek your old head!—Chicago Tribune.

Self Sacrifice.
You, perhaps, have traveled on so crooked a road that the rear car has been met by the engine, but probably no one else has. A Rangely guide lately experienced the same thing. He had the bottom of the boat for awhile and finally got up, and, grasping a big log, held on for life. The current was so swift that he carried his body under the log, and his feet stuck out of the water on the other side. Just as a faint, horse-like fall came over him, the shoulders he grasped, looked at his own feet plying and said to his rescuer: "Don't say that I'm a fool, but that I'm a fool in head first!"—Phillips (Me.) Photograph.

Their Fate.
"Have pity! Do not pity me!" implored the pining Nevada lordling.
The false whiskered villain steadily aimed his blank cartridge revolver at the wretched man.
"I can't help it. People expect to get their money's worth, even if this act is only a cruelly necessary one."
He pulled the trigger, but as the property man had forgotten to put in a ridge of fire, no shot was fired.
—New York Sunday World.

Which?
They were discussing the latest bit of gossip in connection with the old maid.
"It's all true," explained one.
The paper he held inserted an unauthorized notice of her marriage just for spite.
"For spite?" repeated the other.
"Certainly. What else could it be?"
"Why, under the circumstances I should think it might be regarded as charity."
—Chicago Post.

The Fatal Crash.
"Judge, I just couldn't help it," was the explanation of Joey the butcher, who had just been arrested for the murder of a mild and gentle citizen. "What did he go and have a suit of clothes made out of that stuff? If he hadn't, I wouldn't have wiped up the face of the earth with him!"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Too Much Draft.
"They have moved our chair to the other end of the church."
"What?"
"Our clergyman is a delicate, and he said he couldn't stand to have 12 girls fanning his bald spot all at once."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

To Be Further Considered.
Fenshaw—I hear you are to wed Colonel Swinger, Mrs. Grasso. He's a noble fellow, very rich a soldier, horn to command, and a fine fellow. We'll see about that, Mr. Fenshaw; we'll see about that.—Boston Transcript.

Judicial Knowledge.
"I understand that Judge Knowler granted Foodick a divorce without hearing testimony."
"Yes, he had once been the husband of Foodick's wife."—New York Sunday Journal.

Saves the Dish.
Mrs. Puce—Merry! You let such a girl off every afternoon!
Mrs. Mawson—Yes, and it is such a girl. The more she is away the fewer dishes she breaks.—Detroit Free Press.

A Radical Change.
He (meeting his last year's girl at the seaside)—You haven't changed much since we parted here last year.
She (the thing)—Only my name.—New York Sunday Journal.

The Mount Lebanon Shakers recently performed a great deed of charity, although it was not assigned as a charity, being nothing more or less than an advertising scheme. It however resulted in much good just the same. They gave away 1,000 bottles of their Digestive Cordial to those suffering from stomach derangement.

It was so effective in curing those who used the remedy that they were long in their praises of it and in consequence a large order for the Cordial was at once created.

The druggists of this town have little doubt of the all about it. Digestive Cordial creates an appetite, aids digestion and brings about a rapid increase in flesh and strength.

GETTING READY

Every expectant mother has a trying ordeal to face. If she does not get ready for it, she will find it very difficult to pass.

Before she gets engaged every girl thinks she will keep her husband at arm's length. When you know your husband, you feel going to get your nuptials cheerfully.

Life was originally made all bitter, but the angels dropped a little sweetness in it for the children.

An engagement is an agreement entered into by two people to discuss which of two people is going to get the best of it.

After the de- it had got Eve to eat the apple he gave her a clove to chew. Adam wouldn't notice it or he wouldn't have been so curious.—New York Free Press.

A Great Mental Effort.
"You own't dry your tears, don't you know," said Cholly, brightening visibly, "the tears come to him when they're dry, they are not tears, don't you know? You should say, 'don't you know'."—New York Sunday Journal.

And it so fatigued Cholly to think that out that he was unable to seek the knob of his cane for fully five minutes.—Chicago Tribune.

In Alaska.
An Atlanta man who is prospecting in the Alaskan goldfields writes to a friend here:
"I am in great need of a horse. We had two for dinner yesterday, but Lord knows where the next will come from! My five sets and two mules were broken on Sunday and brought $60 a pound."—Atlanta Constitution.

Awaiting Developments.
Fenshaw—I hear you are to wed Colonel Swinger, Mrs. Grasso. He's a noble fellow, very rich a soldier, horn to command! Widow Grasso—H'm! We'll see about that, Mr. Fenshaw; we'll see about that.—Boston Transcript.

The Hottest Flaming.
Mrs. Mary, have you got a young man in the kitchen?
Cook (under notice to leave)—I have. I consider a young man in the kitchen is a jolly sight better than an old man in the drain room. So there!—Pick Me Up.

Higher Aspirations.
"If you will be a good boy," said Mr. Update, "I will take you to the circus." "I will consider the proposition," said Johnny. "If you will make it the roof garden instead of the circus."—New York Sunday Journal.

The Tooth Man.
Mrs. Henshaw—Nine out of every ten people marry for money nowadays.
Henrick (ungratefully)—Well, if I were any other fellow, I'd hire me to marry any one!—Nuggets.

Its Strong Point.
"What is your idea of a good summer novel?"
"It is a book that is too heavy to be held up when you lie on your back in a hammock."—Chicago Record.

Laziness.
Hood's Sarasparilla is a peculiar medicine—peculiar because it permanently cures.
