All Torn Up.

Look at your old harness, they are all torn up, they will break one of these days, your horse may run away and kill you; and then your friends will blame providence for your own carelessness. Now is the time to look them over, take them to MARTINCOURT & CO'S. and have them repaired, or a new set of their good Oak Leather Harness and live till you are old. Don't say that you live too far away, others come farther and always consider they are at ways well paid for their trip. Probably you need a new buggy or wagon. Here is where you can be suited and save money. And one thing you do know (if not, your neighbor who has dealt here can tell you) and that is that you have a large selection to choose from. You are never overcharged, not deceived in what you are getting. Our business is constantly growing, and we intend to keep it growing if fair dealing, good goods and low prices will do it.

Respectfully yours,

A YOUNG GIRL'S WOE.

Her Parents and a Stranger Plot Against Her Peace of Mind.

"All right!" At the word the tall individual in the loose velvet coat jumped up perpendicularly in the air and emitted a cry that sounded like—
"Tootle, tootle, tootle!"

Ordinarily one would have supposed him of being nervous, or to indulge in such antics, as he was of a staid and slightly severe countenance, and a close shaver. He was, however, a young girl's father, and he was far from enjoying himself, but it is to be presumed that he knew his own best, and he was not to be trifled with.

A few yards from him sat some one in a chair—a young girl. She gazed at the jumping one with an expression of resentment, and a tear bedimmed her eye. She wept bitterly.

The individual in the loose velvet coat grunted his teeth, swore under his breath and moved hastily away. The young girl's parents, who were present, looked concerned.

After a few moments' hurried confab the velvet coated one handed each of the parents a large tin pan and a stick of wood. He himself held a horn in his hand.

"Come on, now!"

The horn was blown lustily, the tin pans were banged with fervor, and all three danced and down with Bacchanal vehemence and abandon.

And they shouted:
"Hiddyidy hiddyidy!"
"Hiddyidy hiddyidy!"
"Hiddyidy hiddyidy!"

The young girl fixed her eyes on the proceedings lack lustredly at first, but by degrees she was seized with interest.

Finally she smiled.

"Now!" shrieked the individual in the loose velvet coat with insane excitement. A snap was heard.

And the young girl—who was but 9 months old—was hurled into the air and landed at last—David H. Dodge in New York Evening Journal.

MANY THINK!

when the Creator said to woman, "In sorrow shalt thou bring forth children," that a curse was pronounced against the human race, but the joy felt by every Mother when she first presses to her heart her babe, proves the contrary.

OLD SHAKER'S SPECIALTY.

He Has a Trio of Attributes Which Make Him Unique.

Logan county boasts of one of the unique characters in Kentucky in the person of Lorenz Pearcefield, who has been a member of the Shaker community at South Union, says the Louisville Courier-Journal. Mr. Pearcefield is now close upon 70 years of age and weighs about 300 pounds.

There is not another man in Logan or any other county, so far as is known, who weighs so much. He is a member of the Shaker community at South Union, which is noted as the most successful horse breaker in his section. Yet this is true of the colossal old Shaker. The secret of his success in this direction seems to lie in his great courage and strength. He is absolutely fearless and almost as strong as an ordinary horse. He has a system all his own, which consists in first demonstrating to the perfect satisfaction of the horse that he is master of the situation. To do this it is sometimes necessary to throw the horse down and sit upon his head, which Mr. Pearcefield does in the most approved style. After a few pounds has sat upon his horse's head for a little while he is satisfied, Mr. Pearcefield then hitches him to his little cart and drives about and looks at the country. So great is his fame as a tamer of wild horses that the farmers for miles around bring him unmanageable horses to break, and none has baffled his skill and strength.

A neglected cold often terminates in consumption. Take Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in time, and forestall the dreadful disease.
