JOHN L. JONES. HARRISBURG.

The famous "Bird Book" case afforded much amusement for the grave Justices of the Supreme Court in Harrisburg, Monday. Both sides interjected Gibson, Prof. Irvine and the High much humor into the argument by their remarks on certain features of the on the work of their pupils document. Attorney General Elkin represented the Commonwealth and ex-Attorney General Hensel and ex-Speaker Walton appeared for ex-State Printer Busch. Mr Elkin told the court now the gook had been padded by ex-State Economic Zoologist Warren from a pamphlet of 128 pages, with two illustrations, at a cost to the State of $488.24. to a document of over 600 pages at a cost of $57-666.85. He showed that the Supering But our ties we now must sever, as we go our separate ways. 666.85. He showed that the Superintendent of Printing had never seen the copy furnished by Dr. Warren for the publication. and that he never furnished any order for the procuring of the numerous plates, which alone cost $55-

Mr. Hensel exposed the loose manne in which the State printing is conducted, and proved that a written order for the work had been given by ex-Superintendent of Public Printing Robinson. He said that the superintendent very seldom takes the time to examine the copy or documents furnished him by

If this contention does nothing else it may lead to a reform in the State printing. The work is supposed to be done under the direction of a superintendent at a salary of $2,000 a year, with a clerk who is paid $1,000. Captain Thomas G. Sample, of Allegheny, is the superintendent, and it is doubtful if he spends more than three days a month at his office. The work is left to his clerk and the State Printer, who does the printing and binding by contract and does practically as he pleases.

"The real friends of the President, and true civil service reform exponents give distinct expression of their disappointment over the yielding to the clamor of practical politicians and office-seekers, betrayed by the official signing of the new civil service order today. It will be several days before the Civil Service countries out from the complex modifications just how far the restoration to the collection of spoils has gone.

Governor and Mrs. Stone entertained the Judges of the Supreme Court at dinner Tuesday evening at the Executive Mansion. The large dining room was beautifully decorated with choice flowers and plants from the Capitol Park Conservatory. This was the Governor's first dinner to the court, and the last at the mansion at which Chief Justice Sterrett will attend in his official capacity. He will retire from the bench next January, and he is now holding his final court in the Middle district. The Court heard arguments that day in a number of cases in order that it might clear the calendar as quickly as possible and get away from Harrisburg.

On Wednesday informations were made before Alderman Maurer against certain persons charged with conspiracy, perjury and corrupt solicitation in connection with the contest for United States Senator and the consideration of the McCarrell jury bill in the recent Legislature. The informations were prepared by Charles H. Bergner, private counsel for the House Prosecuting committee, and are based on the testimony taken before the Legislative ittee and its reports to the House of Representatives.

Middletown.

A little child belonging to Dale Barn-hart, of Greece City, died on last Fri-day and was buried in Zion Cemetery on Sunday.

The usual annual memorial services were held at Concord on Tuesday a. m. and at Zion church in the afternoon. The veterans assembled at the Grange Hall in Middletown and marched in a body to Concord Cemetery and after a decorating the graves of the fallen heroes who slumber there; repaired to the church where a vast concourse had assembled to hear and to take part in the further ceremonies of the day. After the rendition of an appropriate patrotic song, Rev. Alter invoked the divine blessing. Pres. Lincoln's address at Gettysburg was read by Corporal Black, Prof. Harper sang "Somebody's darling" and the orator of the day, John W. Coulter, of Butler, was introduced to the audience who in an able manner spoke of the origin of memorial day and of the great principles involved in its proper observance, the lessons to be learned therefrom, the cost in blood and treasure, of the rebellion to our union, and concluded by a graphic comparison and illustration of the great and wonderful resources of our country and of the necessity of patriotic action on the part of all the people. A selection by the choir and a song from Prof Harper completed the exercises of the forenoon. The veterans then proceeded to Zion Cemetery where the graves of the soldiers buried there were visited and properly decorated. Prof. W. P. Day, of Peachville, made the memorial address to the crowd gathered at Zion church. Taken as a whole the exercises of the day culminated in the evening at Concord church where the members of the G. A. R. attended in a body to witness the entertainment given by the young people ia honor of

The District S. S. Convention met in Concord church last week with a good attendance and full force of workers present. A prominent feature of the occasion was the address of Rev. Worrell, of Butler, in the evening. The session was highly enjoyed by all present and no doubt many useful lessons were learned that will be reduced to practice in future work.

Commencement Week.

Sunday evening Dr. W. H. Crawford f Alleghey College, Meadville, preached the baccalaureate sermon to the Class of '99. Butler High School. Twelve hundred people thronged into the Park Theatre to see the Class as they marched in, and hear the services The singing was lead by the High School chorus, prayer was offered by Rev. White of the M. E. church, follow-by Dr. Crawford's sermon. The Park Theatre was completely filled. Tuesday evening, when the program for Class Night, as published in last week's CITIZEN, was enacted. All the graduates did well in their performances. The feature of the evening was the Class Reunion of 1929.

The exercises of Commencemen evening were begun with an overture by Zeigler's orchestra, followed with prayer by Rev. J. S. McKee. The Class Hymn, "Evening Prayer," was sung after which the published program was carried out. All the performers did excellently. Hon. A. G. Williams awarded the diplomas. Mary Fleming and Clara Schneideman took first honors, over 97 per cent in recitations and examinations; Minnie Fleming second, over 95 per cent, and Verna P. Dickey received honorable mention. Supt.

School faculty are to be congratulated Mention should be made of the stage decorations, palms, and the class colors violet and white.

As we go our sep rate ways.

We have reached the goal we strove for Our weary race is run;
Yet our striving is not over,
For the battle's just begun.

When the storms of life o'ertake us,
And the thorns obscure the flowers.
When life's pleasures all forsake us
We'll recall those happy hours.
Though life's burden bears upon us
Weighing down the mind and heart,
Though obstructions lie before us
May our courage ne'r depart.
Standing firm amidst the conflict.
That, at last the battle o'er,
We shall all be laureled victors, We shall all be laureled victors, And rejoice forever-more.

A terrible storm passed over southwestern Pennsylvania, Monday afternoon—wrecking houses and killing people in Pittsburg and vicinity, and doing damage in Leechburg, Connellsulle, Uniontown and other places.

A sensation was created in the Tourist and of "Pretty Soon."

There are uncut jewels of possible fame Lying about in the dust, And many a noble and lofty aim Covered with mold and rust.

And chi this place, while it seems so near, Is farther away than the moon.

A sensation was created in the Presbyterian church of Grove City, last Sunday, by Joseph Gordon, a prominent member of the church and a teacher in the Sunday school, who jumped to his test in the sunday school of a sermon by the member of the church and a teacher in the Sunday school, who jumped to his feet in the middle of a sermon by the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. J. McConkey, and made a speech opposing the yiews presented by Dr. McConkey. The pastor in his sermon argued that it was an impossibility for the ordinary man to live without sinning. When the minister began preaching Gordon became restless, and finally, when the sermon was about half over, he jumped to his feet, saying: "Brother, just one moment, Any one who would preach like that has never been sanctified or redeemed, and should fall at the foot of the cross and call 'Unclean, unclean.'" Gordon then continued to upbraid the pastor for his utterances. Some of the church elders arose and started toward Gordon, who subsided, however, before they reached him. Dr. McConkey then said: "You people all know this brother. If I have not been preaching salvation and the gospel of Jesus Christ, I beg your pardon and hope you will all pray for me." He tene finished his sermon. In the afternoon Gordon attended a meeting of the Salvation army in the park, where he made an address, in which he attacked the local ministers, saying many of the doctrines they taught were the result of ignorance, and advising the people to pay no attention to their teachings, as they lacked sanctification. In his attacks both in the church and in the park Gordon was supported by two
